Storing Perishable Foods

Follow these guidelines for storing perishable foods in the refrigerator or freezer.

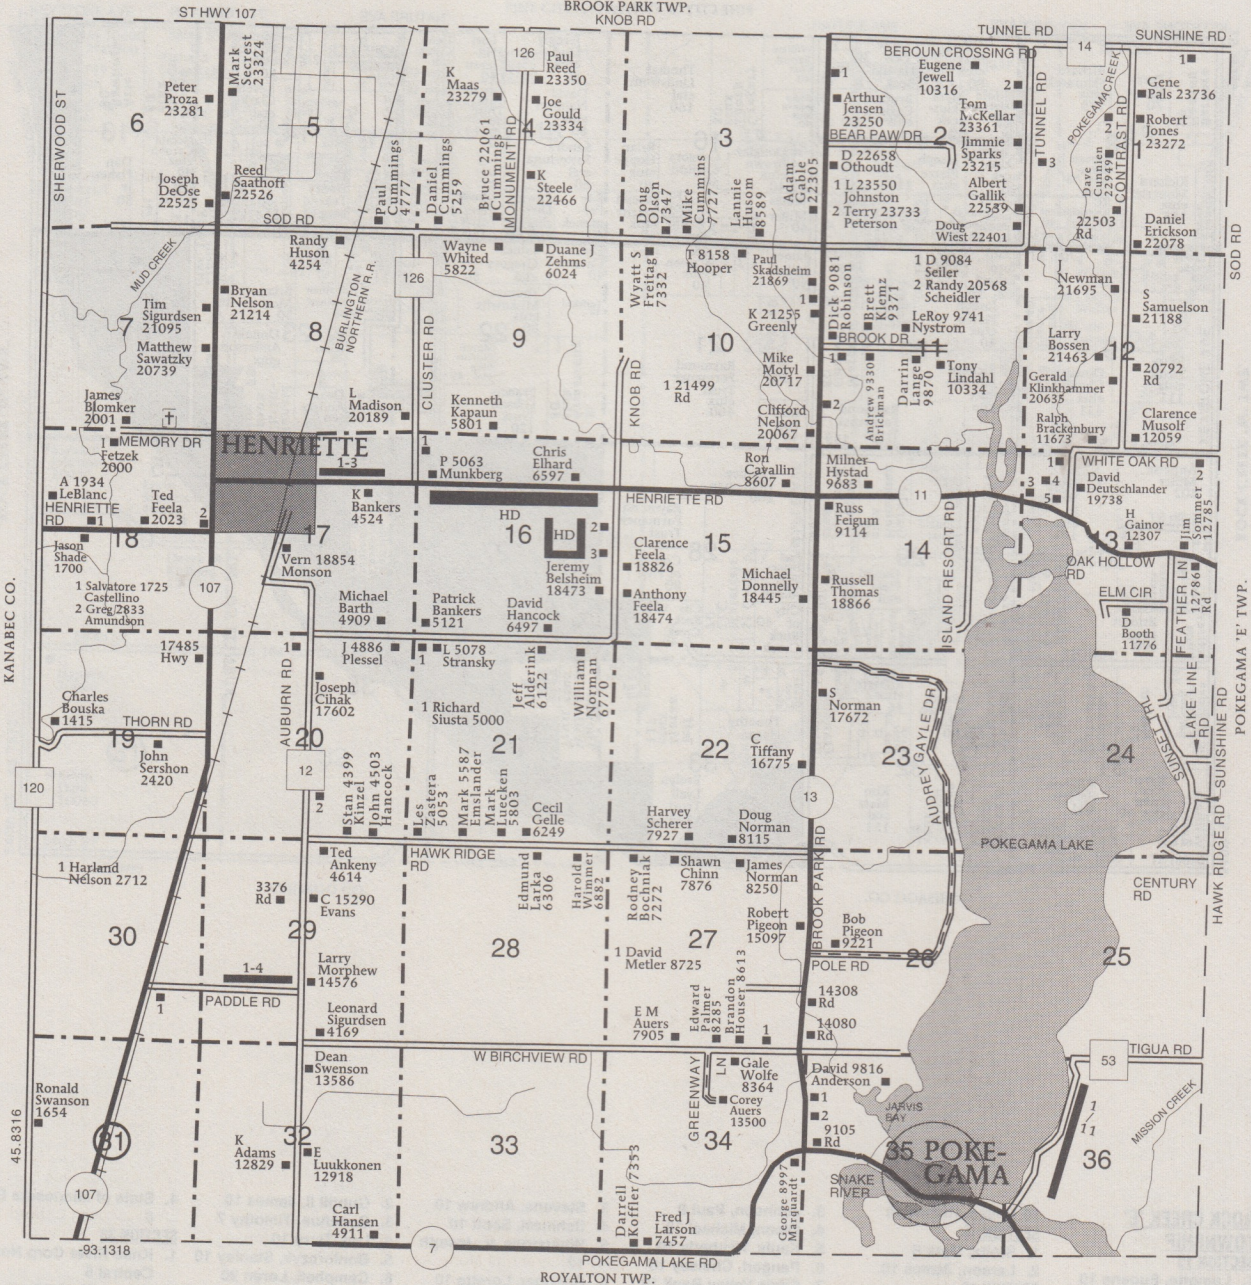

- Raw meat and poultry should be wrapped securely so juices do not leak and contaminate other foods or surfaces. It's best to leave meat and poultry in the store wrapping unless the wrap is torn. Use plastic bags over commercial packaging. Store on bottom shelf to prevent dripping.
- Eggs should be stored in their carton in the refrigerator, not in the door.
- Arrange items in the refrigerator or freezer to allow air to circulate freely.
