POKEGAMA LAKE.

FEB. 9th, 1898.

Several settlers in our town are pushing building this winter with all their might. Old settlers as well as new are determined that the town of Pokegama shall have more houses—and good houses. This town will have as good farm houses and residences as any in this part of the state.

Mr. O. Anderson, of Grass Lake, is about done getting out the pine on 40 21 for Tozier, McClure & Co. which is the last pine of any consequence in all this surrounding neck of the woods and the logs are better by far than the average out-patter of now-a-days, and thus goes the pine until the pine is about all gone. Why not also cut away fine from our county?

Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock a consultation meeting in relation to school matters at the head of Pokegama lake was held at the upper school house, as there was some talk that Mr. Butler, now teaching there, might get a school elsewhere at more pay. The sentiment expressed at the meeting was the same as contained in the contract now pending, so there will probably be no change.

On Monday last while the cattle and a horse were out on Mr. John Olson's place, to water and exercise during the fine weather, one of the cows hooked the horse severely in the flank, causing a large internal rupture. The poor animal lived until Tuesday morning when Mr. Olson with much difficulty got it out in the woods and shot it. Mr. Olson had bought her a few weeks ago from Mr. Chas. Heywood of Pine City and she gave the best of satisfaction, so the loss is felt the more.

The following items arrived last week too late for publication:

The plastering of the school house on the west side of the lake has been again delayed on account of the masons engaged failing to do it on the time agreed upon, during the mild weather. Now it is rather cold for such work. It's not likely at all, though, that the cold weather can prevent the kicks from coming.

On Thursday this week Fred Norstrom had a desperate encounter with a monster wild cat in the unfrequented wilds of the Pokegama forest, and after a life and death struggle between the gritty combatants Mr. Cat, forgetting to breathe, came out second best and was carried into the settlement, and as a professor once said, "he ate a beauty."

Through the efforts of a crew of some eight men from near the head of Pokegama lake who gathered at Mr. Worthing's on Mission creek last Wednesday morning with axes and saws—and the best of will to work put in the most of the day in sawing and hauling wood up to the house of the afflicted family—there was wood enough drawn up to last the family through the winter, but of course all was not saved and split. Now, there is the best of chance for any and all who lead disposed to lead a helping hand in a deserving case like this to go there and saw and split wood, some promised to come later—now, let all such be sure and show up—it's easier to come to the wood pile and saw wood than to scurry around in the woods gathering only good dry wood on a cold winter day. None will be the poorer for rendering a little assistance, not forgetting that in a case like this it is more blessed to give than to receive.

Fresh roasted peanuts, all kinds of fruits in their season, nuts and candies, at Jos. Vaverka's.

HUSTLETOWN.

The Netser Bros. are engaged in hauling pulp to town from here. Mrs. Julius Dose and son Ernest, were callers in our town on Sunday.

Frank Siekler attended the Lyceum at Chengwatana on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Chas. Glanville was in Pine City Thursday on business, returning the same evening.

The Misses Thompson and Griffith and Wm. Gottry drove down from Pine City Sunday evening.

Miss Ella Glanville has returned to her home here, after a few weeks' visit with friends in Pine City and Kerriek.

The Misses Anna Kick and Dora Stolten, accompanied by Will Engler, of Pine City, visited with relatives and friends Sunday.

Mrs. J. E. Netser attended the meeting of the Riverside Circle on Friday and spent a few days calling on her many friends in Pine City.

N. Kruse was up from his camp on Friday. On Monday he went to Rush City on business. They will land the piling at the Rush City bridge.

Mrs. John Griffith, of Pine City, drove down on Friday to visit friends. Her daughter, Miss Verdie, returned with her the same evening.

Miss Mary Glanville, who is spending a few weeks in Pine City, came down on Sunday. Mr. Allen, who accompanied her, was visibly impressed by our hustling town.

Robt. Liebau, of Pine City, was in Hustletown on Sunday. He thinks the place all right but confessed himself almost lost till he found College ave. in the labyrinth of streets and avenues.

Where do Cox's live? On the St. Croix road. Did they give a dance Monday night? They did. Did we go? Why of course we did. How? We missed the lightning express but took the local, slow but sure. Were there any accidents? Yes, in crossing the river to St. Croix depot, near the fishing grounds, Mr. Siedler, in endeavoring to assist his lady friends, made a misstep on the slick ice with the result that his clothing and spirits were decidedly dampened and he had to be hung up to dry at a neighboring camp fire. He was sadly missed at the party, from which after a bountiful repast, all departed for their homes well pleased with the event.

The following items were received too late for publication last week: Messrs. Kruse, Glanville and Duesebabek are in camp on Kettle River. Messrs. Mavis and Moore, of Royalton, were here on business, Wednesday. A number of the young folks gathered at the palatial mansion of Mr. Netser on Thursday evening for a candy pull. Altogether it was a very sweet and enjoyable affair.

When in Hustletown don't fail to stop at the Hotel de Hustler where mine host, Eugene Wilcox, extends most hospitable entertainment. What is lacking in room is made up in courteous treatment.

Ira Holler was here on Sunday while on his way home from Chengwatana. There is something very attractive about that place, but whether it is the locality or people (?) has not been learned.

Miss Veltora MacAdam, chief warden in the Meadow Lawn scholastic institute, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of J. E. Netser. She was escorted home on Sunday evening by a number of the young folks of Hustletown.

Those from here who attended the Lyceum at Chengwatana on Saturday were the Misses Griffith and Kruse, Messrs. Netser, Kruse, Glanville and Siekler. They reported it as an excellent meeting and all wish it the success its rightfully merits.

The Hustletown young folk, bent on a good time on Monday evening, drove over to the St. Croix, where they joined a larger crowd at the Cox home, when all repaired to the home of Mr. Hodak for a surprise party. At an early hour all departed for their homes well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

BROOK PARK.

Master Willie Kelsey did business in Mora Tuesday.

Dr. Kelsey made a flying trip to the Twin Cities Saturday.

School opened again Wednesday with a new man at the helm.

Mr. Miller had the misfortune to lose a cow and a calf last week.

Mrs. Pierce and her daughter, Mrs. Hill, did shopping in Pine City Tuesday.

A. Berg received his papers, Monday, from Washington, which makes him a full fledged postmaster.

Lost—in the wood yard, the idea that it will snow. Return it to Seymour Bros. and claim the reward.

The live stock market here did some business last week. Dr. Kelsey sold a fine horse, Elbert Grant sold his team, and Jos. Bousher a milch cow.

W. H. Daveport returned, Tuesday, from three weeks' evangelistic work in St. Paul. He leaves again Friday morning for Minto, N. Dak., to begin a series of meetings, Sunday, Feb. 13.

Mr. Hoagland is laid up with a lame arm. This arm has troubled him at certain seasons for years, but of late it has grown so that he says he would be better off if he was unarmed.

"A fair exchange is no robbery." J. F. Safely exchanged a horse, Monday, with Mr. Alderman, for a horse and a cow. This gives Mr. A. a better team and J. F. still has a team and the cow, which he needed very much.

N. F. Alderman's property had a narrow escape from fire one day last week. Mr. A. has a stove in his chicken house, and the little boy asked if he might warm up the hens. He did so, and burned the top off the building. The barn and house stood just in line with the wind and it was with difficulty, even with the aid of the section men, that the buildings were saved.

Last week the Pine Piker contained an item from Brook Park in reference to a certain man who is getting some comfort out of this world, and states that the "wagon-maker always has his glue pot ready to make splices." This might have been an item of interest (?) to some if the correspondent had not followed the worn-out kidney-cure plan of ending up with an advertisement. Since the postoffice was slow coming (his way) he now proposes to still keep his shop open for double business, and a matrimonial-wagon shop is the latest enterprise of Brook Park. The query now is: Is not the wagonmaker like his own glue pot? If he was warmed up a little would he not stick to the first thing that had any affinity?

HINCKLEY.

Don't forget the 21st of February. Thursday's rain put sad faces on wood dealers in the Hub.

Jan. Flynn, of Rush City, was in Hinckley the first of the week. He is on his way to Ashland.

The I. O. O. F. lodge No. 144 gave an entertainment to the Sandstone lodge last Saturday.

Quite a number from Hinckley went to Sandstone to attend the Woodman hall, and all report a good time.

W. H. Nowark has returned to work for the T. Koch Land Co. Mr. Nowark is too valuable a man for the company to lose.

It don't pay Lee Webster to go to Sandstone. When he returned from the M. W. A. hall at that place, he looked as though an 11 day's storm had struck him.
