WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, Apr. 10th, 1901.

Uncle Sam has no idea of turning showman, and as long as Aguinaldo is a prisoner, he will not be allowed to come to the United States. If he lives up to the oath of allegiance he has taken, and carries out the promises he has made to Gen. McArthur, he will eventually become free. Then, if he has the price, and wishes to visit the United States, he will be as free to do so as any other resident of the Philippines. But all that will take time, and there is no probability of his exhibiting himself in this country in the near future. Some of the thousands who are writing to the War Department as to what ought to be done with Aguinaldo, are inclined to be waggish. One of them, signing himself "The Poet of Winooski," heads his communication with this verse, expressing his idea of the embarrassment of the President and the Secretary of War.

"What shall we do with Aggie?
Pray what shall we do?
Elihu looked at William,
And William looked at Elihu."

The President easily succeeded in persuading Governor Allen, of Porto Rico to withhold his resignation, although he came to Washington for the purpose of presenting it. He will return to Porto Rico about the first of May, but it is not expected that he will remain more than a few months longer. He says the island is getting along all right, and that after the first of next March, when the tariff law, under which the revenues for the support of the island government are now raised will expire, there will probably be free trade with the United States.

Mr. M. E. Rittenhouse, a prominent Chicago lumber dealer, now visiting Washington, said in the course of an interesting conversation on the extensive ramifications of his business: "Chicago has for many years been drawing her lumber supply largely from Lake Michigan ports. But in recent years that has become well nigh exhausted, and the supply has been coming from Lake Superior ports, but even that is showing signs of exhaustion, and we have to purchase more and more from central Wisconsin and the South. The southern states in the immediate future will send increasing quantities to the northern states. I saw, the other day, a large consignment of Arkansas lumber for Maine, once famous for her lumber industry. It was to be used for the construction of towers for windmills. However, the mighty forest areas of the Pacific coast must eventually be drawn on to supply the eastern cities. I was approached not long ago by a gentleman who wanted to sell me 4,500,000 feet of lumber on Vancouver island. That is a pretty big quantity, but his timber preserves were represented on the map by what looked like little dots."

An incident is related of the college life of Hon. C. C. Knox, the new Attorney General, which shows what small things sometimes affect a man's future. Mr. Knox was a student at the West Virginia University, which had a rule that no student should attend a theatrical performance. One night Mr. Knox and 10 other students violated the rule, and the next day they were all expelled. All but Mr. Knox and one other student signed a promise not to again violate the rule, and were reinstated. Mr. Knox then went to Mt. Union (Ohio) college, where he first met Mr. McKinley, upon whose advice he afterwards became a lawyer, and upon whose invitation he has now become Attorney General of the United States. Had Mr. Knox not been expelled from the West Virginia University, he might never have met Mr. McKinley.

It is an open secret in Washington that the new Navy Department is not favorably inclined toward the Holland submarine boat company, although a number of naval officers think and have spoken very highly of the Holland type of boat, Admiral Dewey among them. It was his opposition that prevented legislation at the last session of congress authorizing the construction of additional Holland boats for the navy. That this opposition is to be continued is made plain by the announcement that, by direction of Secretary Long, the naval board of construction will prepare designs for a submarine boat, to be submitted to congress with an estimate of its cost.

Russia is having an inning in Washington just now. The United States government has officially stated its satisfaction at Russia's policy towards Manchuria, and now comes Capt. T. M. Rees, a Pittsburg ship outfit and maker of boilers and machinery, with large and increasing interests in Russia and China who sat in a published interview. "I know of no certainty that Russia will never take under her flag Manchuria or Mongolia. I can now give with propriety a state secret, showing how foolish has been the cry against Russia, regarding Manchuria. In 1893, a body of leading Manchurians, accompanied by the high priests and princes of Mongolia and Tibet, secretly went to St. Petersburg and called upon the Czar and offered a petition signed by thousands of the leading citizens, praying for Russia to take the three countries, they promising to furnish the soldiers necessary to become free of corrupt Chinese officials and the Chinese flag. The Emperor told them he could not accept the countries. Twice since, the same thing has been done with the same result. If Russia had wanted Manchuria, Mongolia and Tibet, she could have had them without the asking, each year for the past eight years."

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Senators' Doings.

The Time Having Passed for Introduction of Bills, Without Consent of the Governor, Both Houses Have Settled to Work.

St. Paul, April 2.—The senate spent an hour passing two bills and killing several others. The bills passed were to amend the general laws of 1897 relating to state and county tax levy, and to reimburse Noble county in the sum of $2,500 for expenses incurred in summing out infectious disease. One of the bills killed was for allowing teachers to be pensioned.

The senate then took up the primary election law and worked on it until 10 o'clock. There were a multitude of amendments offered, most of which were voted down. The bill was considered section by section, and the senate was working on the fourth section when it adjourned.

An evening session was held to hear railroad attorneys argue against the gross earnings bill raising the tax from 2 1/2 to 3 per cent. It is the popular impression that the bill will pass.

The house indulged in a general slaughter of bills, and in the aggregate 250 or 300 appropriations were killed. Among the bills killed was one fixing the salary of members of the legislature at $500 per year. Among the bills passed was one allowing the soldiers at the soldiers' home to retain 28 per cent out of their pension money, instead of 24 as at present.

St. Paul, April 4.—After devoting the greater part of yesterday to the passage of the house primary election bill by a vote of 45 to 12, the act goes into effect Sept. 1, 1901.

Jepson's county option bill was killed, too. Van Sant's bill for the introduction of a best sugar-bounty bill in the senate, this house having killed a measure of that sort on Tuesday. Sen. Wilson presented the bill, and Sen. Sweeting's new finance option bill has passed the senate. The committee on taxation recommends the passage of the gross earnings bill.

The bill authorizing boards of county commissioners to employ persons to discover property withheld from taxation, and known as the "secret law," was killed in the house. The bill to do away with the three days of grace met the same fate.

The Langland blind pig measure was reconsidered by the house and passed. St. Paul, April 4.—After two hours debate yesterday the senate passed the bill raising the gross earning tax 4 per cent by a vote of 33 to 3. The senate itself did not expect this result, but a motion to pass the bill under suspension of the rules prevailed.

The bill imposing a general tax on the senate amendments, so that the bill is as good as finally passed. The three great measures of the session, namely, establishing a board of control for the public institutions, the primary election law and the gross earnings bill have now passed both houses. The house could not quite agree with all the senate amendments to the primary election law and a conference committee was appointed which adjusted the differences in a short time. The school bill has passed both houses which allows a wife who has secured a divorce and alimony to levy upon the earnings of her former husband, where he has no real estate.

The attendance in the senate was very light in the afternoon, notwithstanding which a good many bills were passed which had no opposition, though it required two or three roll-calls to get the absentees out of the cloud rooms in order to secure the constitutional number of votes required.

The house had nothing exciting on hand and most of the time was spent in committee of the whole. There were a few bills between members, as usual, but a large number of bills were passed from committee of the whole for the remainder of the day. A lengthy insurance code bill was offered by the committee on insurance as a substitute for the bill which was introduced early in the session.

The attorney general has given an opinion that the new board of control law does not apply to the state university and Normal schools. An amendment was put in the bill making it directly apply to those institutions but it was then forgotten to amend the title and as the constitution requires the title of every bill to correctly represent what the bill itself contains, the attorney general's opinion is decisive.

St. Paul, April 4.—The senate passed a great many bills yesterday. One of them allows district judges their expenses when away from home attending court. Another requires railroad companies to keep agents at all stations where the business amounts to $5,000 or more per year. Other bills which passed were requiring suits against corporation merchants to be begun within a year after cause occurred, requiring corporations filing annual reports increasing capital stock to pay a fee on the capitalization. The real of the day was devoted to debating bills in committee of the whole.

While it was supposed that the primary election law was completed on Thursday by the conference committee, in order to give against any question being raised as to its legality, both houses passed it over again yesterday, and it now goes to the governor.

Each house is trying to introduce a little sharp practice on the other, and so whenever it is done in the house for instance, pertaining to how the house resolves to refuse to put any more senate bills through until the senate passes one of the bills which have been sent to it from the house. The senate is pursuing a similar policy, so that it will not be surprising if a good many bills, concerning which there is no contest, should pass one body and fail to pass the other. The house put in the larger portion of the day in committee of the whole, devoting itself entirely to house bills. The million-dollar school bill has been on the general order list for five days, but as it is a senate bill it has been put over every time it was reached.

St. Paul, April 8.—The cigarette bill forbidding the sale of cigarettes was amended in the senate to include chewing gum as well, and then indefinitely postponed.

The house bill appropriating $1,310 to pay Hajar and Mayhoad their expenses for the Sioux county case, after considerable discussion, was passed.

The Paris exposition awarded some medals to Minnesota battersmakers and then charged $400 below they will be over them. This seems a good deal like buying your own honors, but the senate passed a bill Saturday appropriating that sum in order to secure them for the winners.

The committee appointed to investigate the charges of corruption made by representatives Jacobson and Washburn, in relation to the railroad gross earnings bill, reported that while there was sufficient smoke to warrant an inquiry, there was no real fire. In other words, they found no actual fire.

The representative Laybourn of Duluth followed the report with a resolution censuring Messrs. Jacobson and Washburn for having made the charges, and also for having been constantly in the senate, but went over until today under notice of debate.

The bill designed to release the Younger brothers on parole was recalled from the governor by the house for the purpose of amendment. Chief Justice Start, of the pardoning board, is counted as permanent hostile to the parole and the attempted amendment was to substitute State Auditor Dunn for Chief Justice Start on the board. The amendment failed, and the whole bill was indefinitely postponed.

Now it is claimed by attorneys that the postponement was unconstitutionally and that the bill has become a law by having been constantly in the possession of the governor long enough to become a law without his signature. When the legislature is in session the governor has three days to approve or veto it, and if he does neither it becomes a law anyway. He had the Younger parole bill in his possession two and one-half days when the house recalled it, and the legal point is raised that one branch of the legislature had no right to recall a bill which had passed both bodies.

St. Paul, Minn., April 9.—The omnibus appropriation bill was introduced in both houses yesterday, ordered printed and made special order for 10 o'clock Wednesday. It carries appropriations amounting to $2,950,000, which is $600,000 more than two years ago. Very few get what they hoped for. The university asked for $6,000,000, but got $3,825,000. The state asked for $10,000,000 and got $37,000,000. The Pan-American commissioners asked an increase from $20,000 to $50,000 and got an increase of $10,000. The school legislature asked $150,000 and got $78,000. The St. Peter insane asylum gets $91,075, the Rochester $84,100, Bergstrom $83,000, and Duluth $20,000, Hastings $141,000, a total of $773,875. The normal schools gather in $222,500, Winona receiving $44,500, Mankato $20,000, Moorhead $70,500, Duluth $20,200, and St. Cloud $31,000. The school for the feeble minded at Fairbault must have made a great impression on the committee, which went down there on Sunday to investigate for it is given $74,000. The state reformatory gets $122,700 and Soldiers' home $28,000. Praying for two years costs $113,400.

The senate devoted nearly the entire day to the passage of bills. One bill passed on the committee, which would allow for the increased population of cities of towns and cities by permitting the annexation of adjacent property where the owners desire the same. The million-dollar school bill is now through both houses. The house put on an amendment declaring that no contract which makes the cost of the building exceed $10,000 shall be valid. The senate concurred in the amendment and the bill now goes to the governor. This bill was introduced early in the session, and though there has been no opposition to it from start to finish, it passes within four days of the last day of the session.

SMOKERS HAVE A HOT TIME. Devores of Tobacco in Corea Get Three Hundred Lashes for Indulging in the Weed.

The Anti-Tobacco league should extend the sphere of its operations to Corea, where it will meet the opposition of the official cigars to a degree scarcely to be hoped for in these western latitudes. Here, on the authority of the Seoul paper, it is reported that a proclamation which was issued in the middle of December by the local magistrate:

Several hogs belonging to Mr. Chapman, near Fairbault are suffering from hydrophobia. Samuel G. Maxwell proposes to locate a factory to manufacture cigars. Unable to extract herself from a wash tub into which she had fallen, little seven-year-old Anna Strabak, was pulled in the back yard of her father's house in Minneapolis, within a rod of the door, into which her mother had just gone.

Albert Jacobson, 11 year old, living in St. Paul and Henry Olson, 10 years old, were nearly suffocated by the gas from a gas stove on Beaumont street, near the St. Paul and Duluth railway tracks.

Winona becomes a hot flat potatoes having passed the $40,000 mark in receipts.

THE EGG-ROLLING FETE.

Celebration of the Children of Washington on White House Grounds.

Washington, April 9.—The picturesque egg-rolling fete of the children of Washington occurred in the white house grounds today. The gathering of the multitude of youngsters of all ages, sexes and colors in the large terraced grounds back of the white house each year for the first time in the city of Washington. Last Easter 25,000 persons witnessed the festival and Monday morning's gathering indicated that fully as many would be present this year.

The marine band, which usually furnishes music for the children, is away on a tour of the country, and in order not to deprive the children of this enjoyable feature of their day, the Fourth artillery band at Fort Monroe was ordered here and played throughout the day.

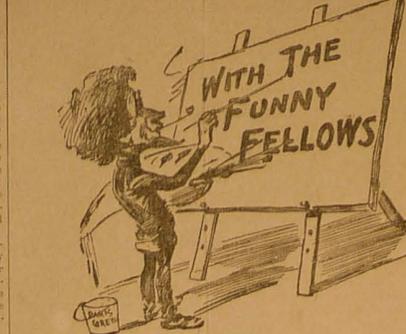

Mrs. McKinley, whose love for children is well known, enjoys these frolics intensely and Monday spent most of her time at her window or on the little house veranda watching the little folk's sport.

Drugs House Burns. The building on routes, 242, carriers, J. E. Squires and Nels Hartman. Mail messenger service No. 241 and No. 101 to be discontinued. Postoffice at Valley Creek to be discontinued. Mail to Afton, Minn., suspended.

Denmark's King Honored. Copenhagen, April 9.—The eighty-third birthday of King Christian was celebrated Monday everywhere in Denmark. The king is in quite good health and all the royal court dignitaries, of officials, diplomats and other dignitaries. The streets of the city were crowded and in the square fronting the Amalienborg palace several thousand people constantly cheered the king.

Wants Her Hatchets. Topeka, Kan., April 9.—Mrs. Carrie Nation says she will sue the city for some of her hatchets, which are now in the possession of the police department. The hatchets were taken from her on the occasions of her several arrests during school suspension days.

Collections Had. Mrs. Goodart—You seem to have some education, perhaps you were once a professional man? Howard Hatcher—Lady, I'm a numismatist by profession. Mrs. Goodart—A numismatist? "Yes," replied Charles, "I'm a collector of rare coins; any old coin is rare to me."—Philadelphia Press.

Smoke. Mrs. Greene—That was a fine article your husband wrote about "The Smoke nuisance." Mr. Greene says it is the best thing that has appeared on the subject. Mrs. Gray—Yes? I suppose it ought to be. My husband smoked no less than ten cigars while writing it.—Boston Transcript.

He Knew Them. Smartly—That's young Bluegown who just passed. Hartley—You seem to be familiar hereabouts. I guess you know more than half of the young swells in town, eh? Smartly—If I didn't know more than all of them put together I'd go to school again.—Philadelphia Press.

Prophecy Fulfilled. "The late editor's wife is something of a humbugist." "Indeed?" "Yes," replied Charles, "I'm a collector of rare coins; any old coin is rare to me."—Philadelphia Press.

End of a Romance. "I called to see your father this afternoon," remarked Charlie, as he took a seat in the parlor. Dora entered visibly. Recovering herself with an apparent effort, she said, simply "Did you?" "Yes," replied Charles, "He has been owing our firm a little account for a long time."—Tit-Bits.

A Correct Guess. "I guess it's time to go," he said. "You're guessed it," she replied. And so Detroit Free Press.

HE KNEW HIS HORSE. Mrs. Linguist—I want to get a divorce. My husband talks in his sleep. Lawyer—Scoundrel, my dear madam, that is no ground for divorce. There is no cruelty in it. Mrs. Linguist—But he talks in Latin and I don't understand that language at all.—Baltimore American.

Did They Mock Him? Three different waiters at a hotel asked a prim, precise little man at dinner if he would have soup. A little annoyed, he said to the last waiter who asked the question "Is it compulsory?" "No, sir," said the waiter; "I think it's mock turtle."—Tit-Bits.

A Jewel. "I am fortunate in one thing," said Mr. Meekton. "My wife is one of the most economical women in the world." "That is indeed fortunate," said the other. "Yes, I don't like to brag, but she is a marvel. She doesn't let me spend a cent of my money foolishly."—Washington Star.

New Village Officers Sworn In

Tuesday evening the old village council met and finished up the business of the year, and then adjourned. The old council has managed the affairs of the village during the past year in a very economical manner, reducing the indebtedness something over one thousand dollars.

The new council was called to order by President Allen and the officers were all sworn in by Justice Wilcox, excepting Assessor Heywood, Justice Veenhoven and Geo. Kick, Assessor Heywood being out of town, Justice Veenhoven was away and Geo. Kick made affidavit before Judge Veenhoven. The bonds of E. Veenhoven, with Geo. Kick and H. J. Rath as sureties, and Geo. Kick, with Theo. Buselmeyer and W. F. Glasow as sureties were approved. The salaries of the recorder and attorney were each placed at $75.00 per year.

Messrs. Roberts and Saunders were then nominated for attorney and a vote taken, each one receiving three votes. There being a tie it was decided that lots should be cast, whereupon the two names were put into a hat and the one drawn out was to be the attorney. Jos. Veerla did the drawing and read the name of the candidate, R. C. Saunders, who was declared the village attorney for the ensuing year. The wages for work on the streets was then fixed at $1.25 per day for man and $3.00 per day for man and team. The next thing in order was the appointing of an official paper. Each of the local papers put in a bid for the printing at legal rates and the council decided that they would not appoint either paper. The salary of the marshal was fixed at $35.00 per month, there were six applications for the position and on a ballot being taken Eugene Barnum received three votes, Laurence Pofert two votes and Frank Madden one vote. Eugene Barnum was declared marshal. The President said he was not hired for a year, but for as long as he gave satisfaction.

The President appointed the whole council as a street and park committee. The time of holding council meetings was fixed for the first Monday evening in each month. Councilmen Burger, Rybak and Madden were then appointed as a committee on fire department, to find out the needs of the department and see what could be done towards supplying them. A bill of S. G. L. Roberts for services as village attorney for the past year of $75.00 was read and allowed. On motion the council adjourned to meet on the first Monday in May.
