WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, May 19th, 1902.

The week past in Congress has been less accomplished than any previous week of the session. The only important bill passed by the Senate is that providing for the erection of a union railroad station which, according to Senator Martin, will eclipse the Capitol in architectural beauty, and which will, with the proposed improvements called for by the bill, cost about $40,000,000. The Philippines bill is still the "unfinished business" before the Senate but the prospects are that it will be disposed of some day this week.

The greatest interest is being taken in the program of the Senate steering committee for the time remaining after the passage of the Philippine bill. Some weeks ago Senator Allison, chairman of that committee, told me that the Nicaragua Canal bill would be considered next but he refused to confirm that statement on Saturday and said that the next committee had not yet settled upon the order of procedure. It is rumored that when the present bill is out of the way the Senate will rush through the remaining appropriation bills and that Congress will then adjourn. There is, however, a serious obstacle to that program in that the President has said that if Congress adjourned without acting upon the Cuban bill he would call it in extra session. Whether he has fully determined to do so is the question all are asking. The friends of the isthmian canal are anxious that their bill should be considered first as it is freely predicted that if the Cuban bill is first taken up it will be useless to try and secure consideration of the former at this session. The opponents of the Cuban bill have joined forces with the democrats and the friends of the canal and their attitude seriously complicates the situation.

The whole of last week in the House of Representatives was devoted to the Naval appropriation bill which passed on Saturday and which is the last of the regular appropriation bills, save the general deficiency bill which is not yet reported. It was hoped by the House leaders that the Senate would have sent over the Philippine bill before the Naval bill passed, and that would have followed immediately. No program for this week has yet been determined on but the Fowler banking and currency bill may be considered before taking up the Philippine bill or consideration of the Philippine bill reported by the House committee may be begun.

A number of society women called upon Representative Payne one day last week and urged upon him favorable consideration of the McCall amendment to the Dingley tariff law. This amendment increases the limit placed upon personal effects by the Dingley bill and would, it is believed, greatly minimize the annoyances of Americans returning from abroad. That the ladies made an impression on the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee was evidenced by the fact that he immediately held a conference with some of his associates. It is quite possible that favorable action may be taken on the amendment.

Kaiser Wilhelm does not propose in the enthusiasm aroused over the unveiling of the Rochambeau statue and the cordial relations which it is anticipated the unveiling and the ceremonies attendant thereon will promote between France and the United States, that Germany shall be forgotten and he has therefore written to the President saying that it will afford him pleasure to present to the United States a statue of his illustrious ancestor, Frederick the Great. The President has replied to the Kaiser's communication, accepting the gift and has announced that he has selected a site for the statue in the Arsenal grounds in Washington, in which grounds the proposed school of warfare will be located. Mr. Roosevelt in accepting the present and designating the site for it, has acted without the consent of Congress, apparently assuming that the matter was not of sufficient importance to bring to the attention of the national legislature and it is possible that certain members of that body may criticize him for so doing but Congress will doubtless find an opportunity of shouldering its share of the responsibility when it comes to making appropriations for erecting the pedestal on which the statue will stand and providing for the entertainment of the distinguished guests who will doubtless be present. The preparation for the unveiling of the Rochambeau statue, which will occur on Saturday, are practically completed, even the seats for the guests have been erected. A Senator who stands very close to the President said yesterday that Mr. Roosevelt welcomed every act of friendliness from a foreign government as he believed that they all tended to promote peace and to further the industrial relations which already exist between this country and its foreign friends.

Last Thursday the President reviewed the Washington High School cadets. Nor did he follow the custom of former Presidents and review them from a stand on one edge of the field. On the contrary, he walked the length of the regimental line, passing in front of them and then behind the line and making a careful inspection. As he came upon the young son of Minister Wu, who is a member of one of the companies, Mr. Roosevelt halted for a moment and then, turning to General Harries, remarked, "I don't know but possibly there is a suggestion for the solution of the Chinese question here."

The President received a unique invitation on Saturday from "Teddy's Terror" a political club of Los Angeles, California. The invitation, which was hand-painted on a whole calf skin which had been expressly tanned for the occasion, was to a "round-up" which the club desires to hold in Los Angeles. The invitation, which arrived by express, was enclosed in a beautiful box made from the redwood of California. No answer has yet been sent but as it is left optional with the President as to when the round-up shall be, it will probably be accepted as Mr. Roosevelt desires to visit the West after the next session of Congress. The President intimated to Senator Cullon recently that he would endeavor to be in Springfield at the Illinois State Fair this fall. It has been announced that Mrs. Roosevelt and the younger members of the family will leave Washington for Oyster Bay about the 9th of June. They will sail on the Dolphin, making the entire trip by water.

MEMORIAL DAY AT PINE CITY.

Decorations Day at Pine City, May 30th, 1902, will be observed with profound honors and respect due the most solemn occasion that all loyal and true American citizens annually observe.

It is the duty of all our people, old and young, regardless of station in life, nationality, color, race or rank, religious faith or political views and affiliations, to lay aside our usual and daily occupations in labor, in industries and business of all kinds, doing such work only as is necessary for the care and comfort of man and beast, by so doing and assembling at our most convenient places where the sleeping comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic rest. We will be better fitted in mind and body to remind ourselves and each other throughout our great country, and all mankind in all the nations of the earth, and Almighty God and the Heavenly Host, that the American people thus most solemnly and befittingly observe this day with that profound respect and honor in memorial of the hundreds of thousands who died, that nation our forefathers established might be preserved for ages to come.

Decorations Day is an object lesson in our country, especially to the coming men and women of America. When it is observed in thousands of places, as it is, which will insure everlastingly such loyalty, unity and national patriotism as no other nation can enjoy.

Fifteen organizations are expected to be in the parade. The Hon. Hiram F. Stevens, of St. Paul, will be here to deliver the oration of the day; he promised us last year and we know it will pay people from the surrounding country to come and hear Mr. Stevens.

- PROGRAM. Organizations taking part in parade will report at the Pioneer House at 1 o'clock p.m. in sharp. Order of Parade. Pine City Cornet Band. Order of Mutual Workmen. Degree of Honor. Dentonia Priem. Knights of Pythias. Modern Woodmen. Samaritans. Macabees. Pine City Lodge No. 9, C. S. D. P. G. & M. A. Village Council. Fire Department. Sons of Veterans. School Pupils and Teachers. Riverside Circle. H. F. Davis, Post G. A. B. Carriage and Speakers.

Immediately upon the arrival at Cemetery the Committee will proceed to decorate the Graves of the sleeping comrades, after which they will report to the speakers stand when the following program will be observed. Prayer, Ho. Chaplin. Vocal Music. Male Quartet. Address by Hon. Hiram F. Stevens. America Male Quartet and audience. Benediction. Mr. O. Gattlin is hereby appointed Marshall of the day assisted by Miss Douglas Brothers and Henry J. Bath.

Brown Sugar Girl.

Senator Penrose was passing through the corridors yesterday with a fellow senator, when the latter called his attention to a couple of young women, evidently visitors, and enquired them. Mr. Penrose was not so enthusiastic. "You don't seem to agree with me," remarked his colleague. "No," said Penrose, "over in Philadelphia we would call them brown sugar girls."

"Yes," said Penrose, "sweet, but unwholesome." -St. Paul Dispatch.

WE WILL CELEBRATE.

The Celebration to be given this Year will Efface all Former Efforts.

Pine City will celebrate the glorious 4th of July in a manner never attempted between the twin cities and Duluth, or in the northeastern part of the state. A general meeting of the citizens will be called next week and the arrangements completed. But we are at liberty to state that the celebration in this place this year will surpass anything ever attempted in this part of the state. Watch for the large posters and the notices in the papers. Pine City is so located that she is in a position to give a first class celebration and the citizens are determined to make the 4th of July of 1902 a day long to be remembered by those who come here to help celebrate our nation's birthday.

An Evening Well Spent.

The concert given by home talent at the M. E. church last Friday night was one of the most enjoyable affairs that has taken place in this village for some time. Each one on the program acquitted themselves in a manner that was a credit to themselves and furnished enjoyment for their audience. There was not as large an crowd as there should have been, but what was lacking in quantity was made up in quality. More of such entertainments should be held as there is nothing that is as beneficial to the society of a place as these home talent concerts. And we have certainly got the talent to get up an evening's entertainment that is hard to equal. Let us have more of such entertainments.

"Little strokes kill great oak." The constant hammering at the J. Bennett Smith mine has brought forth fruit. The miners struck into No. 4 vein today and the "find" is such that there is no longer doubt or suspense concerning its value. Success is the word, and no man in the realm deserves it more than does J. Bennett Smith. He has had faith. "Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen," and Mr. Smith has had both the evidence and the faith and it is now up against fruition. The value of the J. Bennett Smith mine is now and henceforth surely fixed. There will be music at Chengwatana in the near future.

GOOD FARM BUILDING.
How to Construct a Convenient Corn Crib and Granary at a Very Moderate Expense.

In the illustration, Figure 1, is shown the elevation of corn crib and granary which is very convenient on any farm where such wheat, corn, oats or barley is grown, and as every farmer soon finds out that it is not practicable to store grain in the barn along with hay and other roughage, owing to the destruction from mice and rats and danger from loss by fire, such an out-building is found almost indispensable on every farm of 40 or more acres.

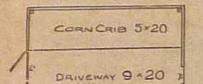

CORN CRIB AND GRANARY.

14x20 feet and is divided into a driveway 9 feet wide and a corn crib 5 feet wide.

The crib posts next to the driveway are spaced 1 1/2 feet from bottom to top and the crib will hold between 600 and 700 bushels of ear corn. The driveway when not in use for storing corn may be utilized for the storing of wagons or carriages, and an open hitch wagon box or hayrack may be drawn up out of the way.

The granary portion is 16x20, with alleyway three feet wide extending along between two rows of bins which cover a floor space, each of 61x14 feet and are 7 feet high. These bins will hold about 700 bushels of grain. They are made of hemlock, matched material; tight floor of the same material above the bins, and upon this floor may be stored four or five hundred bushels more corn, which may be unloaded from corn crib driveway, thus utilizing every foot of storage capacity in the building.

CORN CRIB 5x20

INTERIOR ARRANGEMENT.

Small doors which are kept tightly closed, are arranged along the tops of bins next to the driveway and by the aid of a portable chute attached by hooks and staples to side of bin, the grain can be unloaded right from the wagon to the bin very easily. This saves very much heavy lugging of grain at threshing time and facilitates the handling. The outside row of bins are arranged in same manner, only the wagon is driven up alongside outer end of granary building where the chute and port-holes are arranged.

At A, in the granary compartment, is left a space 6x16 feet where the fanning mill is kept ready for use, along with scales, bush-truck, truck, bags, measures, etc. Doors from driveway to this room will be found very convenient if at any time it is desirable to shell corn from the crib and store it in a granary bin for feeding. The cost of construction would be hard for me to estimate, owing to the difference in cost of various materials. It is best to put such a building in this upon stone or tile pillars, owing to the fact that all parts will then be accessible to cats and dogs, which lessen the chances of the enterprising rat or mouse. The building might be erected of hem or sawed square timber framed together, or a balloon frame. Any good carpenter can figure an estimate, after knowing the material that is available for its construction.

Protein for Dairy Cows.

For many years the German standard established by Dr. Wolff was accepted as final. A 1,000-pound cow was supposed to require 2.5 pounds of digestible protein. Recent investigations have partially discredited this theory. The best dairymen now prefer to feed protein according to the capacity of the individual cow. It is understood that some small cows will make good use of a ration that contains the full amount of protein while other cows, which weigh considerably more, will waste part of it, because of their inability to convert it into milk.—Agricultural Epitomist.

What the Dairy Cow Needs.

The relation of the comfort of the cow to the cash received by her owner for her products, is one that every dairymen should study with much interest. These conditions—rough good food and pure water, shelter from the heat of summer and storms of winter, and kind treatment, are just the conditions man demands for his own comfort, and just what would be due every animal for every owner, for humanity's sake, even were there no business relations between them.—Midland Farmer.

PREVENTING MILK FEVER.

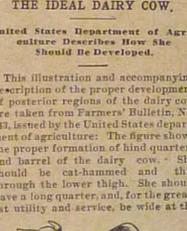

Iodide of Potash, Properly Administered, Has Proved a Specific for This Disease.

Some time ago we gave in this department of the paper a full account of the new Schmidt method of treating milk fever with a solution of iodide of potash infused into the udder. We are now in a position to give instructions for the prevention of the disease by use of the same drug prior to parturition. Where it is feared that a cow will suffer from an attack of milk fever she should be given a half drachm of iodide of potash twice a day for a week, two weeks ahead of the expected event and three times daily the last week, that is for one week prior to calving. This is for fat cows or such as have had a previous attack and recovered, for such cows are likely to suffer a second and fatal attack. The drug is very strong in its action, and where given for a long time prior to parturition will be apt to kill the calf and run the cow down in condition. It is necessary to get the cow under the control of the drug, but it should, if possible, be done in such a way that the life of the calf is not endangered. We believe that it is safe to give a half drachm of the iodide of potash night and morning for one week prior to calving, and the two drachms at one dose when it is seen that the cow is about to calve, and this treatment will prove effective in most cases, unless the cow is very fat or predisposed to an attack by reason of a previous attack. At the same time the pregnant cow should be well exercised daily and should have soft food rather than a lot of grain. Corn seems to be an especially dangerous food for such cows, and should be given in the little exercise prior to calving, but bran is found to have a good effect as a preventive in that it does not fatten but keeps the bowels freely open. The iodide should be given in a little water as a drench or may be mixed in the drinking water or put food, as it has no taste, and cattle will not object to its presence in food or water. It will lessen the first flow of milk, but the flow will come back in a short time after the cow gets over the effects of the drug, and less milk is better than risk of having a case of the fatal disease mentioned. Cows liable to have the trouble should be kept off green grass—Farmers' Review.

This illustration and accompanying description of the proper development of posterior regions of the dairy cow are taken from Farmers' Bulletin, No. 143, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The figure shows the proper formation of hind quarters and barrel of the dairy cow. She should be cat-hampered and thin through the loins, high in the stern, have a long quarter, and, for the greatest utility and service, be wide at the

INCANDESCENT LIGHTS.

They Will Easily Set Fire to Cloth and Paper and Sometimes Even to Dry Wood.

There is a common belief that electric incandescent lamps give out very little heat, and that, therefore, fire danger from them is practically nonexistent. Hence it is that such lamps are frequently found disposed with such unscientific carelessness in the neighborhood of combustible materials, in shop windows, for example, for decorative effect, and the wonder is that fire losses from such use of the lamps are not more widespread.

In one case where a lighted lamp rested against a vertically placed white pine board a spot, about an inch in diameter, and of a light brown color, appeared after about four hours.

In the case of a similarly disposed strip of well-seasoned, varnished oak, the varnish became blistered in three minutes and blackened in about 15 minutes. The wood had the appearance of being charred at and near the point of contact with the lamp, but was not ignited.

With a lamp incased in two thicknesses of russia, the latter became scorched in one minute, in three minutes gave off smoke, and at the end of six minutes, when the mullin cover was removed from the lamp and fresh air reached its interior, it burst into flames.

Where a lamp was laid on inflammable material, the effect seemed to be more rapid, due, probably to the pressure exerted by the weight of the wood. A newspaper was in this way carbonized in three minutes and ignited in 45. The lamps used were of 16 candlepower.

In one instance it was found that on immersing a 15 candlepower lamp in half a pint of water, the latter boiled within an hour. Again, with a lamp buried in cotton wool, the wool

DESIGNED AND WRITTEN ESPECIALLY FOR THIS PAPER

THIS is a very neat, cozy and inexpensive seven-room house and costs but $1,000, built upon a good foundation. Size upon the ground is 28 feet by 20 feet deep. On account of the attractive appearance of the house many would think it should cost more than $1,000, therefore the writer would explain that there are 11,200 square feet in it, and as eight cents is the estimated cost per square foot of a building of this construction

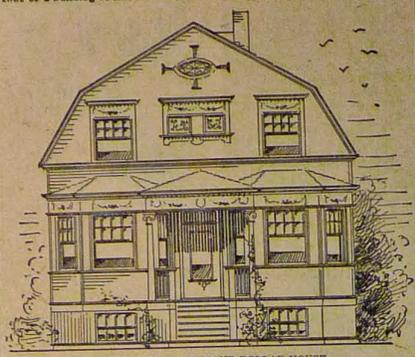

The entrance to basement is from pantry. Pantry is well supplied with shelving. The kitchen has a sink and small closets. All finish throughout is of pine for painting.

The floors are double, having felt paper between them.

All siding is of 4-inch O. G. laid three inches to the weather.

The outside walls are sheathed with veneer flooring.

IRON HANDS WITH MAGNETS.

It is now quite a common affair to use magnets to handle great weights of steel and iron. The magnets, composed of soft iron, are connected with electric power circuits, so that their attractive force can be instantly developed or destroyed by the turning on or off of the current. Attached to a crane, the magnets take the place of the hooks, or chain fastenings, ordinarily employed. Lifting magnets usually have a capacity of five tons each, although they are seldom called upon to exert their full strength. Experience has shown that magnets will lift and successfully handle material in cases where a chain would slip.

Greatest of Ocean Cables.

Before the end of the present year the work of laying the trans-Pacific cable to connect Canada with Australia and New Zealand will be begun by the British government. The manufacture of the cable is in progress, and a new cable-laying steamer, the largest vessel of the kind afloat, is under construction. The longest span of the new cable will be 3,650 miles, between Vancouver Island and Panning Island in mid-Pacific, just north of the equator. The total length will be about 4,000 miles. The cable will touch the Fiji Islands and Norfolk Island, will reach Australia near Brisbane, and will cross thence to New Zealand.

CORN FOR FODDER.

Perhaps the most marked change in farming methods during the last ten years has followed the introduction of corn grown solely for fodder. Attempts were frequently made to utilize the corn stalks after the ears were harvested and people were slow to realize that one cannot harvest a corn crop and have left fodder of any feeding value. Cattle feed on ripe corn stalks from which the ears have been removed cannot thrive, nor is the yield of such fodder per acre large enough to pay for its handling. The custom is now to sow the corn thick and cut it while the stalks are yet succulent. The ears will be either lacking altogether or very small and immature. In this way, five to seven tons of cured fodder are obtained per acre, which may be economically handled and makes a valuable feed.

The advantages of growing fodder corn apply with even greater force to this section than to more southern regions. The season while sometimes shorter for corn, is always long and hot enough for a full crop of corn fodder. The yields obtained—twice that of hay—make it valuable on farms with only a small area cleared and greatly increases the capacity of such farms for livestock. Cornfodder is equal in feeding value to timothy hay, and for milk cows it has the advantage of being succulent and maintaining the flow of milk. It may be fed to sheep as the chief portion of their diet, but they will do somewhat better if hay is also fed occasionally. Horses relish an occasional feed of it. Cornfodder may be sown at any time from the last week in May till nearly July. The seed should be obtained from southern dealers, either direct or through dealers. Any dent corn which ripens there will be suitable for fodder. Large Southern or Ensilage corn should be avoided as it grows too coarse and is late, and the smaller northern kinds do not give as much fodder per acre.

HERMAN H. CHAPMAN.

"Looping the Loop."

The accompanying illustration shows the latest equestrian sensation called "Looping the Loop," which is to be one of the features of the Elks' Fair at Minneapolis, June 2nd to 14th. A cyclist riding at a terrific speed from a lofty elevation performs the seemingly impossible feat of riding head down ward, much as if he would walk on the ceiling. The centrifugal force is the agent employed in this marvellous feat which created such a sensation at Madison Square Garden, New York.

Another novel spectacle is called the "Cycle Dazzle." Several women ride at a furious race at such an angle that they seem to be horizontal with the surface, like so many human pegs projecting from a perpendicular wall.

MINNEAPOLIS TO HAVE A BIG SHOW AND INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

Will Take Place the First Two Weeks in June, Wonderful Midway Shows, Street Pageants and Sensational Out-of-Doors Spectacles.

Minneapolis is to have a June Fair organized upon a scale of a great out-of-door exposition. There will be over 300 Industrial and Commercial exhibits, which, arranged side by side, will form a street a mile long and will be ablaze with light and brilliant with decorations.

Many of these exhibits will show manufacturing in actual operation. There will be, of course, a Midway and it is said that this particular one will be of a magnitude never before attempted in the northwest. There will be a dozen or more shows and seven open air exhibitions. The plan is to be tried of having one general admission fee of 50 cents to all these attractions, instead of the usual time admission fee to each one of them, which, in the aggregate, would amount to nearly $2.00.

They are to be shows, too, not cold, money makers. There will be a membership of 40 wild animals, including Daniel Boone's wonderful trained lions. Looping the Loop," as the aerial sensation of the year is called, will be given. There will be daily balloon ascensions and parachute leaps and a number of other sensational and novel feats, including diving into three feet of water from a height of 90 feet, a slide for life by a young woman suspended by hair, from a height of 75 feet from the ground.

There will be a vaudeville show of 20 members, a congress of all national, a Ferris wheel and several other marvellous performances. Some 200 people are to take part in the Midway shows. The Elks will, besides, conduct a number of notable parties, and days have been designated for the attendance of the Governor and his Staff, Fraternal Societies, Labor Organizations, the Commercial Organizations, etc. There are to be two Public Weddings, mammoth Baby Shows, Automobile Races and Flower Parades.

All this has been arranged by the Minneapolis Elks, but the whole city of Minneapolis is with the project, heart and soul, and an attendance of a half a million of people is counted upon for the two weeks beginning June 2nd and ending June 16th. There are to be excursion rates on all the railroads.

FARMERS ARE SWINDLED.

By Sharps Who Can Make Agricultural Department Bulletin a Source of Profit.

"While agricultural departments of the national government and of the various states are doing good work and their investigations and experiments have been of great value to farmers, gardeners, and stock raisers," said a retired farmer the other day, "bands of sharpers take advantage of every official announcement made by the authorities.

"For instance, a department announces the discovery of an insect that destroys the cabbage. Within 24 hours the sharpers are advertising a powder that will destroy these insects. A department announces the appearance of the elm pest. In every locality in the country appear smooth-talking gentlemen who claim to be able to prevent damage to elm trees by this insect. People believe them and pay them money, only to have their trees killed by the very methods which the sharpers claim to destroy these insects or of preventing their ravages."

"The national agricultural department at Washington has announced recently that the 17-year locust will appear this year, and following this there have suddenly sprung into existence several mimic methods of destroying these insects or of preventing their ravages."

The supreme court of California has decided in a contest between each of him on the one hand and citizens under a will on the other for the possession of a corpse, that a man cannot by will dispose of that which after his death will be his corpse, says the Chicago Chronicle. The custody of the corpse belongs to the next of kin in preference to the administrator. This view is based on the fact that the general British and American legal authorities establish the rule that, in the absence of statutory provisions, there is no property in a dead body.

If this rule is correct, the same statutory provisions are obtained, making a man who feels that a great benefit to humanity will accrue through increase of medical knowledge, by the continuance post mortem of an investigation into his case, or that new light may be shed upon other scientific problems, in authorizing by will such use of his corpse, the better.

Winston Churchill for Washington. Rear Admiral Bradford, chief of the bureau of equipment, will point out in his annual report, says a New York Herald dispatch from Washington, the necessity of equipping American men of war with a system of wireless telegraphy. As soon as the appropriation is obtained he will recommend the system to be adopted for the naval service.

Believing that Commander Richardson Glover, naval attaché in London, is deeply concerned with the current work of the rear admiral, has recommended to Secretary Long that a wireless telegraph expert be sent to England to represent the navy in the trials of the two new systems developed by Lloyd's agency.
