WASHINGTON LETTER.
(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20th, 1902.
The conclusion of the coal strike, representing as it does to most people, the triumph of reason over brute force, of common sense over obstinacy, of arbitration over strike, lock-out and boycott, oppression and violence, is the one subject which held public attention in Washington all last week. There is a unanimous sentiment that great thanks are due to the President for his timely, intelligent and dignified interference. The personnel of the commission is regarded with marked approval. Whether the individual believes that the operators, or the miners are the forlorn parties, all have confidence that the arbitration commission will ascertain the facts and that its findings will procure justice to all concerned for a period of not less than three years. Beyond the confident belief that the miners at their convention today will accept the settlement agreed upon by President Mitchell, and that all the arbitrators will accept the responsibility laid upon them by the President, no details are obtainable. It is presumed that the commission will hold sessions in Washington, New York and in some city in the coal regions. It is also known that it will require a two thirds vote on all questions at issue.

It is generally accepted that the miners will return to work not later than Wednesday of this week. Some apprehension is felt over the situation resulting from the employment of new men to take the place of the strikers. It is estimated that about 1,700 such men are now at work and, unless the operators make a special effort, they will be compelled to leave a similar number of the strikers without employment.

Prof. David T. Day, chief of the Division of Mineral Resources, of the Geological Survey, said yesterday, that he did not believe it would be possible for the coal output during the first two weeks to exceed 60,000 tons and the supply would not be normal before February.

As if to mitigate the relief, occasioned by the settlement of the coal strike, the news comes from New Jersey of the incorporation, under the laws of the state, of the beef trust, under the name of the United States packing company, with a capital of $1,000,000, which amount, it is anticipated, will be shortly increased to $500,000,000. The articles of incorporation provide for the formation of all the methods used with similar corporations, including the purchase and maintenance of retail butcheries. As usual, the stockholders are "dummies", clerk's in the office of the trust company which procures the charter.

The Secretary of the Treasury has finally resorted to the purchase of bonds with a view to relieving the money stringency. Only a week ago the secretary was deploring the scarcity of bonds on which the banks could have an rational issue of currency. Now he is buying them up and thus further diminishing the supply. His course is similar to that pursued by Secretary Gage and other of his predecessors and is doubtless rendered necessary by the exigencies of the situation, but it serves to again emphasize the deplorable characteristics of our financial system, inequities which, in a country of fewer natural resources, must have resulted in serious pain and loss, ere now.

President Roosevelt recently issued a timely warning to the members of his cabinet, in the form of a circular letter calling their attention to the habit of using money and printing ink in the preparation of government publications. He states therein that "there is much unnecessary and a large number of unnecessary and expensive illustrations included in many of the reports and documents published". While all that Mr. Roosevelt says is true, he fails to call attention to the root of the evil which is found in congressional orders for the printing of large editions of handsomely printed publications so that members of Congress may have abundant handsome mementos to send to their constituents. This whole practice has degenerated into a dishonest scheme for making the government pay a large share of the campaign expenses of aspirants for reelection.

As a result of the combined army and navy maneuvers, the Engineer's Bureau of the War Department will now turn its attention to the development of a more adequate system of coast defense. The maneuver demonstrated the fact that, while it would be impossible for an enemy to approach any important point along the northern Atlantic coast by daylight, without the knowledge of the military forces charged with the coast defense, at night the feat is possible of accomplishment. Every effort will now be made to establish a system of search lights, electric signals and batteries which will make such night attack impossible. Such a system is now installed, but the recent maneuvers demonstrated that it contained many defects which the engineers will seek to remedy.

Those school children who have to wrestle with the old rule, "the sum of the squares of the two sides of a right angled triangle will equal the square of the hypotenuse" and, as they struggle with the intricacies of square root are inclined to question the use of such apparently abstract propositions, may be interested to know that the whole system of the modern range-finder, by which the distance of vessels at sea is accurately ascertained is based on that single proposition. A small telescope on a mount provided with spirit levels, etc. is levelled at the water-line of the ship. The exact height of the small end of the telescope above the sea level is known and furnishes the perpendicular, the angle of the telescope furnishes the hypotenuse and tables carefully calculated before hand supply the base or the actual distance from the ship. Another table supplies the "trajectory" the circle which the shell will describe when shot up into the air, and with these figures the gun can be aimed with mechanical accuracy. The trajectory is necessary because in firing at long range big guns are never aimed directly at the target but are pointed upwards at an angle which will insure the projectile falling at a given point, just as a ball is thrown, a long distance.

BRECKENRIDGE'S PHARMACY.

We're not such much for learning,
As slow as some old cow.
We never had much yearning
For much learning, anyhow.
But in our trade we take the cake
In that we went through college.
If you will take the smokes we sell,
That fact you will acknowledge.

Isn't it just too provoking
When one's heart is writhed with pride,
And the weed that one is smoking
Burns
like this down one side.

Oh, what pleasure one does find,
What a source of perfect bliss,
When one smokes the "all right" kind,
And it
burns down

STRUCK MINERS.

Anthracite Miners, by a Unanimous Vote, Agree to Go Back to Work.

Struggle of Over Five Months Ends in Splendid Victory for Arbitration.

Proposition of Submitting Grievances to Commission, Agreed To by President, Approved.

President Mitchell Authorized to Represent Miners at All Hearings of Commission.

It is Expected That the Findings of the Arbitration Board Will Be Announced Within One Month.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 22.—The mine workers' convention Tuesday evening refused to discuss the arbitration proposal, declared the strike off and agreed to return to work on Thursday morning next. Great cheering followed the action of the convention.

Following are the resolutions adopted: "We, the committee on resolutions, beg to inform you that the following communication be adopted and forwarded to Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, at Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 21, 1902: Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: We, the representatives of the employees of the various coal companies engaged in operating mines in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania, in convention assembled, having under consideration your telegram of October 21, 1902, addressed to John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, which reads as follows:

"We have approved the communications of Brig. Gen. John H. Wilson, E. W. Parker, Judge George Gray, E. E. Clark, Thomas H. Watkins, Bishop J. L. Spang, and Carroll D. Wright, all recording their names are accepted by the operators, and I now earnestly ask and urge that the miners likewise accept this communication as a matter of vital concern to all our people, and especially to those in our great cities, who are least well off, that the mining coal should not be withheld about a moment's unnecessary delay."

"We have decided to accept the proposition therein embodied, and submit the same to the arbitration board of the commission which you have named for the investigation of the anthracite coal region for adjustment to the various working places occupied by us prior to the inauguration of the strike."

"We have authorized John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, with such assistants as he may select, to represent us in all arrangements before the committee."

(Signed) "John Mitchell, Chairman of Convention."
The delegates were promptly in morning attire to work Tuesday morning. As soon as President Mitchell arrived in the hall at 10:30 a. m. he called the delegates to order and the committee resolutions was called on for its report, but it was not ready to respond.

The debate on reinstatement of all men in their former positions was the question before the convention was a motion to accept the recommendations of the arbitration board, and the committee accepted the motion to vote so long as there was one delegate from the Packer Creek valley.

"Let us go back; we will all get work in the coal fields," was the cry. The vote was for the proposition, but President Mitchell stopped this by announcing that every man should be given his chance to get back his position, but he put the question how they knew they would not be taken back. He felt sure that no competent man would lose the result. He closed his remarks by saying that those who have helped the miners.

Commission to Meet at Once.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 22.—President Mitchell announced that he had received a telegram from President Roosevelt that he would call a meeting of the commission immediately after the favorable action of the committee. President Mitchell said he had reason to believe that the findings of the commission would be announced within one month after the close of the convention.

Peace of Miners Brightens.
Hundreds of miners who were not delegates filled the sidewalks and streets near the entrance to the New Britain theater, where the convention has met, and the news quickly spread among the men, and the faces of men who had suffered hardships since last May at once became brighter.

After the strike had been declared the men were soon routine business, including the usual vote of thanks, and then shortly before one o'clock the convention adjourned and the day means that the pummen will go to work Wednesday, and that the mining of coal will be started at seven a. m. Thursday.

Commission Meets Friday.
Washington, Oct. 22.—The commission to arbitrate the anthracite coal strike, organized by President Roosevelt, adopted by the Wilkesbarre convention Tuesday, reached the president in the afternoon by wire. It was identical in language with the resolution adopted by the convention, and the following dispatch was sent to Mr. Mitchell:

"White House, Oct. 21.—Mr. John Mitchell, Chairman of Convention, Wilkesbarre, Pa. Upon receipt of your telegram this date the president summoned the commission to meet here on Friday, the 24th inst., at ten a. m. (Signed) "George H. Cortelyou, Secretary."

Bishop Spalding Ready to Serve.
Poria, Ill., Oct. 22.—Bishop Spalding refused to discuss the arbitration proposal further than to say that he had accepted the invitation of the president to be a commissioner, and was ready to leave as soon as requested.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.
Two Men Are Instantly Killed at a Railroad Crossing in Chicago.
Chicago, Oct. 22.—Two men were struck and instantly killed at a railroad crossing Sunday at the Hawthorne avenue crossing of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company's tracks. Monday afternoon the men were Michael Gebby, 344 West Erie street, and Timothy Lynch, who lives at the home of the Little Sisters of the Poor on the West side. Charles A. Brown, engineer of the train, and William F. Wall, the fireman, were arrested by policemen of the East Chicago avenue police station. Investigation of the accident by a coroner's jury. The two men were driving across the tracks in a heavy truck. They were killed shortly after 2 o'clock, when the accident occurred.

President Mitchell Urges Acceptance of the Terms Proposed by President Roosevelt.

ARBITRATION PLAN MEETS APPROVAL.

Assurance Given That All Workmen Will Be Protected—Discrimination by Operators to Be Referred to the Commission—Delegates Will Vote Today.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 22.—In his address to the mine workers' convention today, after expressing admiration for the men for the heroic struggle they had made, gratefully to follow the workers in this and other lands for their hearty encouragement and material support given the strikers, declaring that no feeling of malice was entertained toward opponents, and were retained without delay, and need be no irreconcilable conflict between organized labor and organized capital, President Mitchell spoke as follows:

"I thank the president of the convention for the assurance which you have been called upon to consider demands and must receive your most careful thought. Personally I should have preferred an all-out war, but the difficulties existing in the anthracite field by conference with the anthracite mine owners and without the intervention of all agencies not only involved, but I recognize the fact that relations between ourselves and the operators have become so strained as to make any further negotiations at this time impossible. If the consequences of this strike affected only the interests of the operators and mine workers, there would be no reason for the intervention of a third party, but the fact that a coal famine was upon the people of the great cities, and that the national executive of our nation in his earnest effort to bring about an early resumption of the work of the nation are so anxious to see the work of the nation resumed, that we are called upon to consider demands and must receive your most careful thought. Personally I should have preferred an all-out war, but the difficulties existing in the anthracite field by conference with the anthracite mine owners and without the intervention of all agencies not only involved, but I recognize the fact that relations between ourselves and the operators have become so strained as to make any further negotiations at this time impossible. If the consequences of this strike affected only the interests of the operators and mine workers, there would be no reason for the intervention of a third party, but the fact that a coal famine was upon the people of the great cities, and that the national executive of our nation in his earnest effort to bring about an early resumption of the work of the nation are so anxious to see the work of the nation resumed, that we are called upon to consider demands and must receive your most careful thought. PINE CITY MILL & ELEVATOR CO.

The dances given on Monday evening by R. J. Hawley in honor of his wedding was well attended the hall being crowded by those who had met to do honor to our sheriff and his bride. The North Branch Orchestra furnished the music, and those attending report an excellent time. The dance broke up at about three o'clock, and all departed for home, wishing R. J. and his bride a happy and prosperous life.

On Monday evening Rath's Hall was filled with about five hundred ladies and gentlemen, who gathered to listen to the opening of the campaign from a Republican standpoint. Hon. Frank M. Eddy, Congressman from the Seventh district and J. Adam Bede the coming congressman from this district being the speakers. F. E. Smith as chairman of the meeting, introduced J. Adam Bede who held his audience spellbound for half an hour. Mr. Bede spoke briefly but to the point and proved to those who say that he is but a joker, that he can get down to good solid facts and can speak intelligently and logically on them as well.

Frank M. Eddy then spoke for about an hour and a half. He is a deep thinker and a good orator and held his audience in a manner differing widely from the spirit of unrest shown by audiences in listening to speakers for the opposite faith. Some regret was expressed that Mr. Bede had not spoken longer, but owing to the hall having been engaged by R. J. Hawley for his wedding dance and as he had generously allowed them to use the hall, it was impossible for the speakers to occupy more time. The thanks of the Republicans and people at large are due Mr. Hawley for allowing them the use of the hall.

Our Sheriff and His Bride.

On Wednesday of the week just passed a happy wedding occurred. The joy of which will ever last. Sweet as the wood note of a bird. Our Sheriff must long have tarried. In the Pine lands sunniest bower. For we saw the lady he married. He had picked it choicest bower.

Proud may be he as any king. For he has won a priceless treasure. Yet, well their climes may ring. For their joy gives us sweet pleasure.

Need we speak to wish them joy as old. It would be a waste of words. Our kind wishes they know. Hearts don't always speak in words. If there is one for miles around. Who does not wish with us rejoice. At the wedding bells' glad sound. Let him give his reason voice.

In these humble lines I've sought. To speak the universal thought. For our Sheriff and his bride. She, our pleasure, be our pride.

The Worst Form.

Multitudes are singing praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming the food into the kind of pure, rich, red, blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Gertrude of Troy, I. T. writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form.
Finally I was induced to use Kodol,
and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia." Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat.

Natural Anxiety

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. Its attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to the minute, always inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures coughs, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. F. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga.: "A bad cold resulted in croup,
less just before an oratorical contest.
I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in 10 time to win the medal."
John W. Breckenridge.
