Dairying and Stock Raising for Northeastern Minnesota.

That winter dairying pays is shown by the dairy herd at the Experiment Farm. During the month of January the herd consisting of eleven cows, produced 245 pounds of butter valued at 28c per pounds or $68.60.

The cows were fed a very simple ration: mixed timothy and clover hay and bran. The quantity fed was from 18 pounds of hay and 6 pounds of bran per day to 20 pounds of hay and 8 pounds of bran in proportion to the size of the cow and the quantity of milk she produced.

The cost of the feed for the month for the eleven cows was $58 valuing hay at $11 per ton and bran at $19 per ton.

It will be seen that the net profit for the 11 cows for the month was but $10.90. This is due to the length of time the cows have been in milk. Five of the eleven cows have been milking steadily for over a year, three were fresh last spring and the remaining three, two were fresh in October and one in December.

The cow fresh in Dec. produced during the month of Jan. 37 lbs. of butter with a net profit of $5 above cost of feed. Of the two fresh in Oct. one produced during Jan. 32 lbs of butter with a net profit of $3 and the other a heifer produced 25 lbs. with a net profit of $2. The other eight cows paid for their feed at the rate of $11 per ton for hay and $19 a ton for bran. The hay was grown on the farm so that these cows were milking as long as they have, have been a very good market for it.

Earlier in the winter while they were fed fodder corn and mangles a much cheaper feed than they gave considerable profit above the cost of feed. Our crop of cheap home grown feed was not sufficient to last thru the winter as we are feeding a number of steers that we did not expect to keep aside from the young stock for the future herd, but even now with the more expensive feed the cows are making a very good profit.

The cows are fed twice a day, at 5:30 in the morning and the same time in the evening. They are watered once a day, at noon, and turned out for a few hours in the afternoon if the day is pleasant. If not they are kept in the barn all day. They are watered in the barn. They are given a little salt every day. The feedings and milking is done with perfect regularity and by the same persons every day. The aim is to keep the cows comfortable and free from annoyance. This has as much to do with the quantity of milk a cow will give as the feed.

The milk is separated with a hand separator and the skim milk fed to the calves, pigs and chickens. The cream is churned every third day, the butter packed in 5 pound jars and sold at the grocery store, so we have no advantage but what any farmer might have either in feed, convenience, or sale of the butter.

Spices will not permit taking up the making of good butter in this article, but I will say that good butter can be made on every farm where there is a cow and a churn. Expensive equipment is not necessary, but to know how is necessary and care and cleanliness.

Every farm boy and girl should be able to milk a cow well, and every farmer should so have his cows and his stable that his children would find a pleasure instead of a drudgery in milking. While it is the most common work on the farm, it is likewise the most important and whatever a farm boy or girl may do in later life they will be all the more successful for learning to do well the common work into which they were born.

The natural conditions in northeastern Minnesota is perhaps more favorable for dairying than in any other section of the state. The creamery and cheese factory will come but first we want the cows and the skill to rightly care for them.

A Brain Easer.

A minister's wife, a doctor's wife and a traveling man's wife met one day recently and were talking about the forgetfulness of their husbands. The minister's wife thought her husband was the most forgetful man living because he would go to church and forget his notes and no one could make out what he was trying to preach about. The doctor's wife thought her husband had a poorer memory still, for he would often start out to see a patient and forget his medicine case, and travel nine miles for nothing. Well-said the traveling man's wife, my husband beats that. He came home the other day and patted me on the cheek and said "I believe I have seen you before—what is your name?"—Ex.

Resinoid Art Calendar.

The new Resinoid Art Calendar for 1905 is one of the most beautiful calendars ever issued. Six sheets of heavy enameled paper contain on one side six beautiful color designs of babies and children, while on the reverse sides are drawings depicting child life, with spaces for the notation of baby's "sayings and doings." It is a work of art that will delight a mother's heart. Sent postpaid by the Resinoid Chemical Company of Baltimore, Md., for two wrappers from Resinoid Soap, or one wrapper and 15 cents; or for 40 cents a calendar and a cake of Resinoid Soap will be sent.

Notes.

From this time until the season of 1905 opens, we will reduce the price of breeding with the Imported Percheron stallions of the Pine City Horse Co. one third. Parties wishing service can call at the farm of S. B. Wells.

Wickstrom—Perkins Nuptials.

A very quiet home wedding occurred Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Glanville when their daughter, Mrs. Ella Glanville—Perkins was wedded to Mr. Hugo Wickstrom. Miss Alma Wickstrom, sister of the groom, was the bride's maid while Mr. Henry Baigze was the groom's best man. Rev. J. J. Parish performed the holy rites of matrimony. The bride is one of Pine City's most popular and highly esteemed young ladies, and her many friends wish her naught but happiness and good fortune in her matrimonial venture. Mr. Wickstrom, the new benedict and divorcee from single blessedness into wedded bliss, is a Pine City resident of but two years duration, but during that time he has made warm friends out of all those with whom he has become acquainted. At present he holds the position of local manager for the Consolidated Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The happy couple left on the "limited" for Minneapolis where they visited until Friday, returning to take up their abode and to be "at home" to their many friends, in the Erdart residence in the southwest part of town.

The Pioneer congratulates and extends its best wishes for a long, happy and prosperous future.

News Notes.

J. J. Folsom, of Sandstone, was a county seat caller on Wednesday.

S. G. L. Roberts returned from Washington, D. C., Sunday p. m.

Attorney Sam Scott, of Sandstones transacted business at the county seat, Wednesday.

Dr. Lyons accompanied by Wm. Hurley departed on Tuesday noon for St. Paul, where they went to see an oculist in regard to Will's eye, which has been very sore for the past couple of weeks.

Mrs. Madames D. Greeley and S. G. L. Roberts went to Duluth yesterday to attend the State Federation of Women's clubs' annual Federation Breakfast which will be held at the Spaulding House, today.

Last week while Rufus A. Hoyt, Sec of the State Humane society was in town he told Marshall Griffith to have the farmers furnish blankets for their horses during the cold and stormy weather, and that the State Humane society would stand by him if he saw that the farmers kept their horses blanketed while standing on the streets.

Dr. D. C. VanAlstine, V. S., was called to Willow River by the Atwood Lumber Co., one day last week. He reports that twelve of the Co's horses were suffering from distemper and one had already succumbed to the disease before his arrival at that place. The disease seems quite prevalent in that section of the country as twenty-two cases are reported at Moose Lake.

Mrs. Carrie Johnson, of Windemere, was adjudged insane by Judge Witcox and jury Saturday and was taken to the Pergus Falls asylum Sunday morning. The case is a very pathetic one. It appears that the woman is well educated, as she can converse in four different languages, and is a sonneteer of no mean ability, which she demonstrated in Court, and she has evidently been much better days. Starvation caused by the hallucination that some of her neighbors were trying to poison her and the loss of her husband by accidental death last winter is the reason of her arrangement by Probate Court for mental derangement. Three children, an "overgrown" boy and two pretty little girls are left to the care of the county. They will probably be sent to the State School at Owatonna.

Records.

The members of the Women's Reading club were delightfully entertained at the Valentine party given by Mrs. I. H. Claggett at her home, Monday evening. The rooms were tastefully decorated with red and white bristle-board hearts and cupid, and the tables were covered with pretty white tissue paper in the center of which was a huge red heart. The guests were called upon to mend broken hearts which they did with the greatest skill by forming the pieces of card-board into perfect hearts. Valentines were also manufactured and appropriate poetry was inserted upon or within the same. Refreshments were served. Misses Nellie Madden and Bigler assisted Mrs. Claggett as hostess. These present report having spent a most enjoyable evening.

Charles Heininger Dead.

Chas. Heininger, a resident of the town of Royalton for the past thirty-five years, died at the home of his parents, in that town, Wednesday morning at 5:30 o'clock. He had been a sufferer from various stomach, throat and lung troubles during the past four years, and the direct cause of his death was tuberculosis. He was conscious, and suffered intensely up to the last.

Charles Heininger was born in Austria thirty-seven years ago. When about a year old his parents moved with him to this country and settled in this county, then nothing more than a woodland. His father was the first settler in the town now known as Royalton.

Charles was always industrious and of a quiet though sunny disposition, and was well liked by his acquaintances and esteemed by his closest friends. A father and a step-mother, four sisters and four brothers remain to mourn his loss, and they have the condoling sympathy of a host of neighbors and friends.

The funeral will be held this (Friday) morning from St. Mary's Catholic church, Rev. Fr. Buechler officiating and the remains will be laid to rest in Calvary cemetery.

Brookpark News.

John Sailey is on the sick list this week.

The thermometers around here show very little improvement. They are all quite low yet.

H. A. Parsons has concluded to drop out of the mutton trade, and is also getting short on pelts.

The farmers and others are improving the sleighing by hauling logs to the mill and wood to market. The veracity of that fellow who said the backbone of our winter is broken, is very much questioned in these parts.

The prospects are, that there will be music in the air some evening during the coming week. Better be prepared, Jim.

The teacher in the primary department of our school resigned last week, and another has been installed in her place.

"Dad" Scofield isn't Gunning as much of late as of yore. He couldn't shoulder it, and it went off rather "sudden like!"

George Trotter and wife have lost their youngest, a babe two months old, and brought it here for burial Monday of last week. The funeral services were held from the Baptist church.

Mr. Moore is not improving as much as could be wished. Some days he seems better, and others not so well. Perhaps the weather is responsible for the varying changes.

The passengers on the 6 o'clock train last night were shaken up a little, in consequence of one of the coaches being derailed about two miles east of town. They made about amble in that condition before the train men were aware of it. We were happily entertained last Sunday evening by a couple of our friends and treated to a nice dish of popcorn. Call again and we will endeavor to be better prepared, by having our den in a more hygienic state and have the holes in the car-

PLANS A HUSBAND BOUNTY.

Japanese Government Propose to Reward Girls Who Marry College Students.

Maidens of Japan who succeed in interesting young Japanese students married will be rewarded in the near future with matrimonial dowries by the mikado's government if the plans of leading Japanese statesmen prove as successful as expected, according to Secretary Yonima, of the Japanese consulate in Chicago, reports the Chronicle.

What led the secretary to make the announcement as to the prospective husband bounty bill was the published account of the lecture in which Prof. Starr, of the University of Chicago, made the sensational statement before his class in anthropology that the marvellous advances of the Japanese in the learning and civilization of the western countries had proved too rapid and was making the victims of an epidemic of brain fever that threatened their extinction as a nation.

"Statistics show that students in Japan are affected more by brain fever," said Secretary Yonima. "It is true that our young men are very studious, but our young women are not expected to be scholars. They are encouraged in the cultivation of feminine graces and charms, and it is becoming a fad with some of our statesmen to advocate a liberal marriage bounty for the maiden who forsoke herself sufficiently fascinating to cause a young man at college to forsake his books long enough to get married."

CAT COMPANION OF TRAMP

Friendless Deserter from Ship Asks Police to Let Him Share Cell with Felon.

Portland, Ore.—Drizzling rain was falling in the north end and poor little Fluff, a tiny kitten, had no place to go to keep warm. Hundreds of people, slightly attired, passed her by as she sat on the curbing at Third and Flanders streets, meowing piteously for some one to rescue her from the wet and cold.

Leonard Blaphem, friendless and a deserter from the ship Luswadia, of all the hurrying throngs, heard the wail of poor little Fluff. She was, like himself, cold, unhappy and homeless. So he took her in his arms, walked the streets, having no object in view, save keeping his charge dry and comfortable.

At last he found to the edge of the sidewalk at Fourth and Davis streets, where he sat down. There, with his kitten friend, he only friend he had in all Portland—he lingered until Policemen Baly and Bourke came along and sent him to the central station.

So with him to jail went Fluff, for the captain had not the heart to separate two such good friends.

HUNT BUGS FOR BOUNTY.

Paupers in Almshouse Get Busy When They Are Offered Three Cents for a Dozen "Scalps."

Greensburg, Pa.—For each and every dozen bugs captured and delivered, dead or alive, by the inmates of this home to the superintendent's office a bounty of three cents will be paid. Delivery must be made before nine a. m., on the day of capture.

This message was posted in the Westmoreland county almshouse, and is signed, by Superintendent Evans. The hundred inmates spent a very busy and profitable night, though they lost sleep. It was a bad night for the festive bedding, as several scores of "scalps" were laid on the table the next morning.

The county home has been overrun with bugs that bite early, late and often, and there were not a few complaints from the inmates. Superintendent Evans, instead of spending the county funds in buying powder, decided to offer a bounty on bug "scalps."

Success of his plan has exceeded expectation and the bounty will be continued.

CALLS LOVE DISEASE.

AFFECTION AS SIGN OF MENTAL DEFICIENCY.

Tests Are Made in Schools of New York City—Girls Segregated from Lads in Backward Classes.

New York.—The affections are being made a test of a child's sanity in the public schools by the board of education.

Edna Florsie, with her flaxen curls and laughing eyes, walks past the desks of Tom, Dick, and Harry without a single mother's son gazing after her, then those boys are O. K.'d. In their turn, if every girl bids her beating heart be still when Dick stands on his head behind the teacher's back or Harold reaches the top of the spelling class, then she need fear no more to be grouped into the backward class.

But if, on the other hand, Tom leans back to subdue his increasing fondness as day after day passes, and in a moment of forgetfulness puts his arm about Florsie's waist, and kisses her, his time has come, and to the "backward class" with him.

This has been the fate of scores of unfortunate pupils of the New York public schools. For four years the test has been tried, and classes are increasing rapidly.

It is each teacher's business to make a note of every display of this kind that she sees and to report it to Dr. Brann, of the board of education.

Dr. Brann's sole business is testing children's sanity and classifying them. "Affection," said Dr. Brann, "is a superabundant proportion, is a sure sign of feeble-mindedness. If a child rushes wildly into a room and throws his arms about the teacher, declaring his most violent love for her, then that child needs watching. It is an unnatural performance."

"For this reason we have had to segregate the boys and girls of the backward classes. Boys sometimes love the girls almost to distraction. In the middle of a recitation a boy will jump from his seat for some undefinable reason and embrace his pretty little neighbor girl. This is really one of our strangest proofs of feeble-mindedness."

Dr. Brann is not alone in his belief that overaffection and insanity go hand in hand. The same opinion was expressed only a few days ago by a Paris scientist, Dr. Maurice Henry, who surprised the medical world by his "discovery" that love was a disease and should be treated as such.

TO SAVE OLD HOUSE.

EFFORT TO PRESERVE HISTORIC WESTERN STRUCTURE.

Is Situated at Fort Gibson, Indian Territory—Once Used as a School Where Henry M. Stanley Taught.

Outhrie, O. T.—An effort is being made to preserve the "old church on the hill" at Fort Gibson, the oldest building in Indian Territory. It was the old parson church at Fort Gibson during his early days, and was afterward used as a schoolhouse, with Henry M. Stanley as the teacher. The Territorial Historical society will get possession of the building, if possible, and use it for a historical museum.

This building has been occupied continuously since 1832. Gen. Hazen while residing there was married and brought to the fort his bride, the Misses of Cincinnati, now the wife of Admiral George Dewey. She occupied the stone building still standing on Garrison hill. She was a great housewife and used to hunt with her husband over the prairies and hills along the Arkansas and Grand rivers.

Fort Gibson is rich in historic lore. Settled soon after the Louisiana purchase, a military post was established there in 1810. Many notable men have lived there—some now resting in the national cemetery, about a mile from the old fort, where 450 soldiers are buried, and where may be seen the names of soldiers, scouts and warriors who figured in border and Indian warfare. Among the number is the Seminole chief, Billy Bowlegs, who fought with Osceola at the battle of Wahoo swamp, where Gen. Dade was killed and the American troops were routed. After the war, Bowlegs, then captain of Osceola's bowlegs joined the American army and received the rank of captain.

Among the United States officers who commanded at the fort were Zachary Taylor and Jefferson Davis. Mrs. M. J. Ross, wife of ex-Chief W. J. Ross, of the Cherokee nation, was well acquainted with Miss Betty Taylor before she married Davis, who at that time was only a lieutenant.

Another noted character who lived at the fort was Gen. Sam Houston. History records that he resigned the governorship of Tennessee, left his newly married wife, went west and joined the Cherokees. He lived several years at Fort Gibson, assuming the Indian garb of last time. He resided for a time with Chief Johnnyyake, near the Arkansas river, below the old fort. He was both feared and honored by the Cherokees, who admired him for his learning and bravery.

Not long after his arrival at Fort Gibson he married Tallina Rogers, a beautiful Cherokee maiden, with whom he lived until his departure for the war in Texas in 1832.

General J. A. Scott made several visits to Fort Gibson and Gen. Robert E. Lee and George B. McClellan were also there on tours of inspection. Col. Coppinger commanded at the fort, where he was visited by James G. Blaine, his father-in-law, who was ill for about six weeks in the big stone house.

Stanley at one time taught a subscription school at the fort, occupying the old building.

In 1846 the poet Longfellow, on a tour of the Arkansas and Grand rivers, next year appeared the most loved of the poets, "The Gardeners," where scenery in the vicinity of Fort Gibson is graphically described.

COLLEGE BOYS PATRONS.

Four Young and Pretty Sisters Operate a Laundry and Make Profit from Students' Trade.

Philadelphia.—Combined chivalry and selfishness on the part of the male students of the University of Pennsylvania promise to spell success for the Meyer sisters' laundry.

Things are booming at the laundry, at Germantown. Maxette Meyer collects the laundry, makes out the bills, and delivers the finished product. She is 16, and the oldest of the sisters. Ruth keeps the books and oversees things. Doris helps Susan, Ruth helps Susie and Doris.

"They are 'making money.' What ever suggestion of incongruity may be inspired by the notion of four pretty young girls running a laundry probably is dispelled by the reflection that it is profitable.

The father of the girls has been in the laundry business for a long time. He suggested that if his daughters could obtain the patronage of the university students they might realize sufficient money to get out of it, keep themselves in pertumery and automobiles at least.

The notion became popular with the sisters. A circular was got out and sent to every student of the university. It was a "puller." "What gallant student could resist an appeal like that, especially when it was couched so diplomatically and fetchingly as the Meyer sisters did it?"

LEGISLATIVE GOINGS.

Railway Legislation Will Occupy a Considerable Part of the Time not Given to the Code.

St. Paul, Feb. 9.—There can be no longer any doubt that legislation relating to railway regulation will take up nearly all the time of the legislature not exhausted by consideration of the revised code. And while it is still early, it is safe to predict that the code, if acted upon at all this session, will practically spend its time on the railway legislation. There are few who believe that any one of the important bills of that character will be enacted into law. It is all agreed that the agitation now under way will be productive of results in the long run.

New Discoveries in Code.

New discoveries are constantly being made which cause some to feel that it would be the height of indiscretion for them to adopt the code as reported back to the committee without first amending it slightly.

An interesting point in this connection is the assertion made by the chairman of the house judiciary committee, Mr. W. B. Anderson, that the revised code, if adopted as it stands, would repeal several laws governing child labor, and that Mr. Anderson declares that it would allow his home city, Wisconsin, to tax its property in a manner which would cause much vexation in other ways. Nor would Wisconsin be the only state according to the views expressed by the same gentleman.

Other members of the judiciary committee of both houses, while admitting the correctness of Mr. Anderson's position, express the belief that the whole matter can be straightened out by a few judicious amendments.

Another interesting discovery is that the code is so worded that it would repeal the law compelling the railway companies to operate in the financial interest of the stockholders, while on the other hand it repeals the law which makes the directors of a corporation liable for the recovery of money alleged to have been wrongfully paid to them.

Railroad Discrimination.

The railroad committee, which is charged with the duty of investigating alleged discrimination in railway freight rates, has had a mass of testimony before it, but many of the instances referred to are so trivial that they are of little consequence. The committee is now hearing the report of the subcommittee on the subject of the proposed amendment to the constitution of the state, which would give the state a right to regulate the rates of the railroads. The committee is also hearing the report of the subcommittee on the subject of the proposed amendment to the constitution of the state, which would give the state a right to regulate the rates of the railroads.

Timber Trespass.

One result of the furious campaign waged in Minnesota against the timber trespass law is the passage by the senate of a bill which would amend the law. The bill is now in the hands of the house, and is expected to pass there also. The bill would amend the law so as to make it more effective in securing the rights of landowners.

The Drawback Question.

By overwhelming majorities both houses of the legislature have passed a bill which would amend the drawback law. The bill is now in the hands of the governor, and is expected to be signed into law. The bill would amend the law so as to make it more effective in securing the rights of landowners.

ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IN NEW YORK.

Guest of Honor at the Lincoln Dinner of the Republican Club.

New York, Feb. 14.—As the guest of honor at the Lincoln dinner of the Republican club in this city Monday night, President Roosevelt made a speech on the race problem. He appealed to the north to make its friendship to the south all the greater because of "the embarrassment of conditions for which she is not alone responsible," declared that the heartiest acknowledgments are due to the ministers, law officers, grand juries, judges and "great daily newspapers" of the south who have recently taken such effective work in leading the crusade against lynching, and said that the problem was to "so adjust the relations between two races of different types that the best of both may be preserved so that it may enter into the possession of true freedom while the forward race is enabled to preserve unharmed the high civilization wrought up by its forefathers."

The president received another ovation at the end of his speech, and many times during his address he was forced to pause and listen had made manifest their approval of his utterances.

Following the president, Senator Duffell, of Iowa, responded to the toast, "Abraham Lincoln." Mr. George A. Knapp, of California, spoke on "The Republican Party," and James M. Beck, former assistant attorney general of the United States, on "The Unity of the Republic."

The president left after the address of Senator Duffell, and was driven to the Hotel Astor, where he was the guest of the New York Press club.

President Roosevelt received an enthusiastic welcome at Jersey City on the arrival of his special train from Washington Monday afternoon. A crowd of about 10,000 people gathered to see the president as he stepped from the train at the Jersey City station.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Child Nearly Burned.

Fire which did $700 damage to a dwelling at 2029 Clinton avenue, Minneapolis, came near slaughtering an infant as a victim. Only the timely arrival of the fire department saved the child from certain death. John Huston and his wife, occupants of the house, were on the first floor when the fire broke out in the basement. They became alarmed and ran for the door being fogged by their child, which slept on the second floor.

Gathering what articles they could they hastily made their way to the street. Then they remembered the child. Several young men volunteered to go to the child's rescue.

Prize Cattle Coming. The Minnesota state fair board since its annual meeting has made several interesting announcements for the fair of 1914. The board has selected Mr. D. J. Dolfer an orator for opening day, and an arrangement with the American Hereford breeders' association, for a Hereford show and sale during fair week.

Second, E. W. Randall returned from a trip to Kansas City, where he met with the board of directors of the Hereford association and completed arrangements for the exhibition at this year's fair. This means a great display of one of the favorite breeds of stock, and a sale of prize animals.

Killed While Coasting. While coasting with a crowd of young people at Duluth, Miss. Ann Dunleavy, aged 22, daughter of Andrew Dunleavy, an engineer, was instantly killed, seated on a bobbed sled, when she fell from the sled. Miss Dunleavy was heading, and endeavoring to guide the sled a rope slipped beneath one of the runners, shutting it off. The sled had retained its momentum, and before it was possible to gain the center of the road the party collided with a telephone pole. Dunleavy sustained a crushed skull.

PINE COUNTY PIONEER.

ED. C. GOTTBY, Editor and Prop.

Published in the Post Office at Pine City as Second Class Matter.

PINE CITY, MINN., Feb. 17, 1905.

The Midway News is after the 'yellow journals' of the twin cities and other journals that do not conform to the rules of public decency. Parshly admits that he has pulled the daily buzzards of the perch and will do so again. We admire his bravery in the midst of those hungry vultures of present day authority, or rather bluffery. Take another kink out of their tails and get the lucky side of their wishbone - and then, may be, the twin city railway merger will have a sinking spell and repent and leave up its mint of hoarded gold for the public welfare. We'll see what we'll see, but if Parshly can bring the 'buzzards' to bay and bottle up the 'trust with his 'trust bustler' and assistants, then a signal victory will have been won over the twin city dailies and merceries. 'Move up the aisle - please!'

R. C. DUNN has less time for Van-Sant than he had for most traveling men during his recent strenuous campaign, and says in his Princeton Union:

Governor Johnson has wisely determined not to go on any junketing trips during the session of the legislature. Governor Johnson's predecessor never was known to decline an invitation to a feed, barn-raising, dog-fight or stogging match - provided no admission fee was charged. But then Governor Johnson is not a gas and abdomen - there is some gray matter located under his hatch.

The two weekly newspapers at Mora are both first class in most particulars, but they evidently bear no love toward one another, which we are led to suppose from the following editorial dash in the Times: 'The furnishing of the financial statement supplement to the Times by its contemporary was a business transaction pure and simple. No favors were asked nor were any extended.'

Tues (Friday) afternoon the governor will feel 'right at home' when he will be tendered a reception by the members of the Minnesota Editorial Association at the Windsor Hotel. Gov. Johnson was president of the association at one time and is still a member, being part owner and erstwhile editor of the St. Peter Herald, a prosperous southern Minnesota weekly.

If all of the Minnesota quill pushers or publishers or owners of newspapers had the 'fat-takes' that state printer, Brer. Dare, of the Elk River News, has, there would be much cause for rejoicing, automobiles, etc., and the prohibitive 'devil' might even receive a 'raise.' He has our corded sympathy. Flat!

Just imagine the coal barons and 'wooden' magnates wearing the smite that will not come off, or see them trembling for fear this crisp frigid weather will wear off. Oh! ye gods and little fishes; let there be a mixture of torrid atmosphere to increase their tremblings and wear off the hideous grin.

Provided the legislators abide by the wisdom of an overwhelming majority of their constituents the anti-pass bill will surely be enacted. The two-cent rate will also be most acceptable.

Random Selections from our Think Out and Other Think.

We have been very unreluctantly informed that a huge brick hotel will be erected in Pine City soon. Third space, Next!

We were neither homely nor pretty enough to receive a comic valuation, and our fans would not make none. That's what we call luck!

'Divorce' is a most interesting game that two or more can play together, and which generally results in a parting. Fakes and other hard games are not to be compared with it for excitement - sometimes.

Sandstone has lost two of its best high school seniors lately owing to better inducements from the Zenith City, the school of the large, high hills, a successful lasting, iron docks, bear slayers and rosy checked girls. The Courier in commenting, says: 'Now, if there is anyone else Duluth wants, let us know.' Will the chivalrous youths of Sandstone allow the Quarry City to continue being the stepping stone to the Zenith City? * * *

'The uncertainty of life makes up its greatest charm - if everything was certain life would be but a dull monotony.' Is a simple fact rarely thought of. * * *

We heard somewhere, somehow, that the church has drawn the line and wants young men instead of old ministers. Old men are bound to follow if the young ministers live long enough; and there you are.

It has been noted about during the past few days that an unskilled youth of more than tender age is in our peaceful community and, strange to relate, he has been residing here for a number of years. His identity is a mystery to us but we suggest that he attend the Convention at Huckleby Saturday. * * *

Authority has wised up to the fact that Pine City is the home of several fair ones who are either far behind the times or are very audacious, overstepping the bounds of etiquette at each opportunity. Their feet lies in breaking into the rules laid down for leap years only, and their continued leap year practices exceed those of 1904. Perhaps the custom has become a habit; or, perhaps the sterner sex is at fault. At least, this leap year custom should be abandoned for the ensuing four years. Now tumble!

That advertising pays is demonstrated by the following origination from the Le Sueur News:

A family in Florida had lost their little boy and advertised for him in a daily paper. That afternoon an alligator crawled out of the swamp and died on the doorstep. In his stomach was found a handful of red hair, some buttons, a pair of boot heels, a glass alley, a pair of check trousers and a paper collar. The advertisement did it. * * *

A. J. R. in the Minneapolis Journal says with his customary 'long bow':

'Out on his Hennepin avenue poultry farm, R. F. Jones has a fowl that makes a noise like a carpenter pulling rusty nails out of a walnut plank.'

That is nothing compared to an old Yankee our grandpa had in the early fifties. That old boss of the barn yard would cure Yankee Doodle without looking at the music and eat up Wagner with as much discord as an uncultivated opera troupe. So there!

A fifteen year old Otter Tail county boy was recently sentenced to five days in jail for smoking cigarettes. His school teacher made the charge and the judge did the rest, and they undoubtedly imagine that their course will work wonders in reforming the boy. Wouldn't it have been far better to have pointed out to the boy the demoralizing effects of the poisonous coffin nail? Confinement in jail will not break the cigarette habit as rapidly and surely as a lesson illustrating the possible strength absorbing, nerve paralyzing, and mental and physical stunting results of the weed that has sent many to the unvarying and unending to an early coffin-nail grave. Beware the Innocent looking paper that so neatly enfolds the dreamy weed.
