WOULD "CLOVER" COVER PINE'S GENERAL FERTILITY?

CONSIDERABLE surprise resulted from the information that a bill had been introduced by our senator, D. W. Cowan, in the state senate...

A knocker generally sows seeds of discontent that eventually crop out as boomcranks to satisfaction.

We still pay three cents the mile for riding on railroad cars within this state. Is that two-cent rate a true case?

"True love never runs smooth," neither does "true hatred" when launched upon the "true" waves of "true" turbulence.

It is reported from Paris that slender girls will be the perfect style this year. Eat pickles and get slender is your only salvation, girls.

Religious tracts that make tracks for the heart do not kill, on the contrary, they tend to uplift the mind and make way for better motives in life.

Medicine Hat, that seal of civilization, can now go "way" back and still dawn and make way for a nation of hot air, and the refreshing elixir of Pokenama lake with its Tuxedo club. Sit down!

The Iowa Colony correspondent for the Mora Enterprise reports that "E. W. Judkins had a tooth pulled Saturday, but four more demanded attention Monday." The "four more" must have become just dreadfully lonesome.

First allotment of garden seeds received direct from Washington, D. C., Monday, for which U. S. Senator Nelson has our profound "thanks." We have decided to be good and sit up nights so as to keep our neighborhood youths from loitering and getting into close touch with the mellons and other goodies that are guaranteed to result from the seeds.

Twenty years hence the boys of today will be men. They will be doctors, and drunkards, and ministers, and murderers, and democrats, and republicans, and so on along the line, says an exchange. It is impossible to tell just to a certainty in just what class your boy will be, but it is possible for your boy to be put under influences that will steer him in the right direction. Follow the boys of twelve, and in twenty years some of them will be in jail. Parents, do you know where your boy is tonight and for which class he is training?

Possible for Consumption. A preparation known as Syrup of Pine Apple is prepared, prepared by Hillier & Co., consisting of these medicinal qualities. It is sold by L. E. Brockbridge for 50 cents. to the people to turn the trick, but they are statesmen when compared with a large number of the 'fools' who 'rule' from other districts. If predictions and prospects carry afloat the popular demand for popular vote on this question will be a realization within a few short years.

The special boom edition of the Duluth News Tribune, Wednesday, was a cumbersome bunch of paper filled with all kinds of good things about Duluth. The Zenith City will likely reap many returns of the paper. It was a beauty—not for preservation, but for perusal.

ROCK CREEK citizens did not vote on the liquor license question as was intimated in an article contained in these columns last week, and above the local establishment will be neglected in that community for the present. We regret having created a wrong impression and "rejoice" in correcting the error. Amen!

POINTS ABOUT PEOPLE.

Many English newspapers, including the London Spectator speak of President Roosevelt as a "big 5."

U. S. Senator-elect George D. Nelson, of Nevada, now many times a millionaire, was a telephone operator 16 years ago.

A Chicago woman, Miss Nellie Carlin, attorney, is under the headline cards of any living woman. They total the immense sum of $4,400,000.

The French government has bestowed the decoration Palmes Academiques on Miss Frances Johnson, of Washington, D. C. But one other American woman has been honored in this way.

Mrs. Matilda A. Person, of Nahama, N. H., 85 years old, has 16 children, 60 grandchildren, and 68 great grandchildren. Thirty of her descendants voted for President Roosevelt on November 8 last.

James H. Wolf, a seaman, who has been elected commander of the Massachusetts Grand Army of the Republic, is the first colored man chosen to that high office. He is a graduate of Dartmouth college and the Harvard law school, and has practiced law in Boston for some years.

Mrs. Airbanks, one of the vice presidents, holds three collegiate degrees. She graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, O., in 1872. In the same class with her were two men, one of whom began the study of law, also with her husband as a classmate. She received the degree of bachelor of laws and afterward took a full course in international and parliamentary law. During the infancy of her children Mrs. Airbanks studied medicine.

MEANT FOR MERRIMENT. "What was the cause of death?" He bought two books on "How to Live 100 Years," and tried to work both systems at once.

Jangleh—"I'm going on a business errand this evening, my dear. But I'll come straight home." Mrs. J.—"Oh, never mind. But do come home straight."

"You don't mean to say that you're superstitious about oysters?" he remarked. "Well," she replied, "I think it's unlucky to neglect an opportunity of getting one."

"I'd like to interest you in an insurance scheme—" "Get out! I'm tired of talking to insurance men." "Ah! That's just it. Our scheme is an insurance plan against the impertinencies of insurance men."

"Don't you think the custom of throwing rice at the newly married couple is idiotic?" asked the duffy-haired maid. "Sure," answered the savage old bachelor. "Mark would be a great deal more appropriate."

"Is Mr. Rockefeller the richest man in the world?" asked young Mrs. Wealthywife. "He was until you became mine," replied the husband, with a tender glance. And Mrs. Wealthywife was so pleased that she let him have $40 to put through his latest infallible scheme for whipping the stock market.

The Kicker Caught. Customer—"That was queer tasting manage I got here yesterday. What was in it?" Butcher—"Not anything—for me. You forget to pay for it—Detroit Free Press."

THE SIMPLE LIFE. Ways That Are Pleasant and Paths That Are Peace. It is the simple life that gives length of days, serenity of mind and body and tranquility of soul.

Simple hopes and ambitions, bounded by the desire to do good to our neighbors, simple pleasures, habits, food and drink.

Men die long before their time because they try to cram too much into their experiences—they climb too high and fall too hard. A wise woman writes of the good that a simple diet has done her.

"I have been using Grape-Nuts for about six months. I began rather sparingly, until I acquired such a liking for it that for the last three months I have depended upon it almost entirely for my diet, eating nothing else whatever, but Grape-Nuts for breakfast and supper, and I believe I could eat it for dinner with fruit and be satisfied without other food, and feel much better and have more strength to do my housework."

"When I began the use of Grape-Nuts I was thin and weak, my muscles were so soft that I was not able to do any work. I weighed only 106 pounds. Nothing that I ate did me any good. I was going down hill rapidly, was nervous and miserable, with no ambition for anything. My condition improved rapidly after I began to eat Grape-Nuts food. It made me feel like a new woman; my muscles got solid, my figure rounded out, my weight increased to 126 pounds in a few weeks, my nerves grew steady and my mind better and clearer. My friends tell me they haven't seen me look so well for years."

"I consider Grape-Nuts the best food on the market, and shall never go back to meats and white bread again." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

That's a reason. Look in each pile for the little book, "The Road to Wellbeing."

THE BOYS OF YESTERDAY.

Where are the boys of yesterday—the ones I knew so well? Where are the jads of informed views, in whom my father felt?

the chances are about ten to one that the jury will find you guilty. "That means that you will have to serve some time in the penitentiary. I don't think that you will be very comfortable there, and if I were given my choice as between state prison and Canada, I'd prefer Canada. Of course, you will understand that this is merely a personal impression. I am not advising you boys. I thought to be in custody so that you may be produced in court in the morning. When the jury finds you guilty it will then be the duty of the marshal to take you to some penitentiary which will be designated by the judge. It will not be as pleasant as Canada, but I trust that it can't be helped."

"I think that we will be going," said the young men. "Oh, boys," said Linegar, as he walked to the door with his clients, "do not forget that the jury will return its verdict in the morning and your duty is to be in court. You ought to be in court in the morning."

"We will be in court, all right," they answered as they started down the street. When the jurors filed into court the next morning, with a verdict of guilty, Judge Blodgett looked over the room, and not seeing the defendants, called the marshal and asked him to produce them.

"I haven't the prisoners, your honor," he answered. "You haven't?" roared the judge. "Well, who has they? Where are they?" "I don't know, your honor. They were on bail and were never ordered into my custody."

"Mr. Linegar," shouted the judge, "where are your clients?" "Aren't they here?" inquired the lawyer innocently. "Why, of course, they are not here," said the judge. "You can see that for yourself. Where are they? What have you done with them? This court will not be trifled with. I wish an immediate explanation."

"May it please the court," said Linegar, soberly, but with twinkling eyes. "I do not know where the boys are. I saw them last night and they told me that they were not in custody. I informed them that they ought to be locked up. I was surprised to see them at liberty, but there was nothing for me to do in the matter. I would not presume to advise this court as to its duty. It is not a marshal nor a deputy marshal, but I am the young man in my custody. I may say, however, that as an officer of this court I did go so far as to advise them that it was their duty to be here this morning, and they told me that they would be here in time to hear the verdict of the jury. WILL "HIT THE TRAIL."

Victims of the Heat World's Fair Will Have a Change from "Hiway" and "Pike"

One "went down" the Pike in St. Louis and took to "the Hiway" at Chicago, and it will be "hit the trail" at Portland, says the Kansas City Star.

It is a matter of course that the character of the show, the methods and the great variety of the people. Many of the people will be of the same class as the people of the Hiway and Pike, and the crowd shows a moment and smiles at his nervous feats of digestion.

One cannot understand why women are so desperately anxious to get professional help, and obviously are suited only to men, while they allow men to suppose that they are not in need of help. It is a matter of course that the character of the show, the methods and the great variety of the people.

WOMEN NOT TRUTHFUL

This Statement Has Been Unjustly Made, Because Modest Women Evade Questions Asked By Male Physicians.

An eminent physician says that "Women are not truthful; they will lie to their physicians." This statement should be qualified; women do tell the truth, but not the whole truth, to a male physician, but this is only in regard to those painful and troublesome disorders peculiar to their sex.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions which those questions are asked, even by her family physician. This is especially the case with unmarried women.

It is any woman, then, that women cannot to suffer and that doctors fail to cure female diseases when they cannot get the proper information to work on.

It is the reason why thousands and thousands of women are now corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham. To her they and to give every symptom so that she really knows more about the true condition of her patients, than any other correspondent with them than the physician who personally questions them.

JUSTICE DEFEATED

TERN of countenance and brusque of demeanor, the late Henry W. Blodgett, one time judge of the United States district court for the sixth judicial district, was the terror of the unscrupulous and tricky lawyers who attempted to defeat justice through technicalities.

The judge was proud of his exactness, and who some veteran of the bar erred in matters of procedure he was prone to visit upon the head of the offender.

History records but one instance in which the judge was worsted in an attempt to discipline an advocate conducting a case before him; the man who turned the tables upon the court being the late David T. Linegar, of Cairo.

Linegar was one of the attorneys in Illinois, known as the "big three." His companions in the combination which practically controlled all things legislative in the general assembly (Linegar was a member of the house for years until 1885) were Senator Thomas C. Merritt and the young man in my custody.

I may say, however, that as an officer of this court I did go so far as to advise them that it was their duty to be here this morning, and they told me that they would be here in time to hear the verdict of the jury.

INDIANS DESERT THE ARMY. Court-Martial Sends Up Three Ex-Carlist Students for One Year Each.

New York.—For the first time in its history Castle Williams, the old military prison on the northwest end of Governors Island, has received a quartette of Soneca Indians. Three of them in their school days were famous athletes of the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa.

The redmen, who are to serve terms for desertion from the army, are Glen Pierce, a few years ago one of the tackles on a famous Carlisle football team; Walter Deedslander, one of the best shortstops the Indian school ever produced; Luke Ahean, a star baseball pitcher of four years ago; and Tom Lewis, a Soneca boy who was not fortunate enough to get a chance to attend the Indian school.

All were sentenced to serve one year and a day in a court-martial that recently sat at Fort Porter, near Buffalo. They deserted from company L, First Infantry, marionizing that post.

SCIATIC TORTURE

PAIN SUFFERED BY MR. MARSTON AS GREAT AS MORTAL CAN STAND.

For Six Months He Could Not Turn in Bed—He Tells of a Headache Which Has Given Perfect Relief.

The case of Mr. Marston shows that sciatic can be cured in a most afflicted by it should allow himself to be disheartened. He was first stricken about a year ago, and for six months he suffered pain which he thinks the most intense that any man could possibly stand.

Asked about the details of his remarkable recovery, Mr. Marston gave the following account: "I was attacked by a numbness or dull feeling just back of my right hip. I didn't know what the matter was, but thought it was simply a stiffness that would wear away in a short time. It didn't, however, and soon the pain became so very bad that every step was torture for me. When I finally succeeded in getting home, it was just as much as I could do to reach my room and get to bed.

"The doctor was sent for, and when he had examined me he said I had sciatica. He prescribed for me, and advised me to try to leave my bed. The advice was unnecessary for I couldn't get out of bed if I wanted to. It was impossible for me to turn from one side to the other. The moment I attempted to move any part of my body, the pain became so excruciating that I would have to be perfectly motionless.

"I suffered this torture for six months without getting any relief. Then I discharged the doctor, and on the advice of a friend I bought a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began to take them, three at a dose, three times a day. I was determined to give them a thorough trial.

"Two months after I began to use them I was able to leave my bed and walk about the house, and a month later I was entirely cured and able to go about my work as usual. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine I ever used, and I heartily recommend them to anyone who suffers from sciatica."

Mr. Marston is a prosperous farmer and may be reached by mail addressed to Charles E. Marston, Hampton P. O., New Hampshire. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured other painful nervous disorders, such as neuralgia, sciatica, and sciatic locomotor ataxia. They are sold by all druggists.

Last spring and summer I used Dr. Pashke's Kuro with marvelous results. I regard this remedy as the wonder of the age. For years I have suffered with Nervousness, and when I got up morning would be dizzy and my memory would have been blank. I have been under the care of four physicians, but no treatment did not do me a particle of good. I have used three packages of Pashke's Kuro and am now well and happy again. Pashke's Kuro has created new blood and flesh for me. I have gained 30 pounds. I lose no opportunity to recommend it to my many friends here. Very respectfully,

THE DAIRY

How the Product May Excel the Article Turned Out by the Average Creamery.

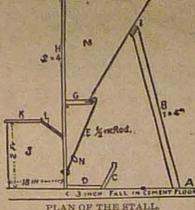

With a full knowledge of the science of farm buttermaking, and a reasonable experience, says one dairy writer, any painstaking dairyman can produce a better article than is now made for the average creamery. Dairy butter should bring a better price than creamery prints.

The dairyman can control the condition surrounding his cows, keeping them clean and healthy, adopting such methods as will insure perfect and pure milk and cream from the time it leaves the stable until packed in the tub. The creamery man can only control the milk after it reaches the factory. He knows little of the conditions of the stables and cows from which the milk is produced that comes to him. One or two filthy and careless dairymen will contaminate and taint the whole supply. The impure bacteria in such milk multiplies itself several times in an hour, increasing in geometrical progression.

The farm dairymen, says New York Farmer, who avoids these evils will, as soon as the improved qualities of his products become known, have no trouble in selling at a price corresponding with the quality. The writer has for years been receiving for his butter several cents per pound more than he paid for creamery products at the same markets. There are no conditions in his dairy except those added by himself, better than those found on the average farm.

With a product equal or superior to that produced by the creamery, there is more profit in making the butter on the farm than in having it done at the factory. A considerable ration of the farmers of the United States are finding out this fact and are conducting themselves accordingly. They utilize the skim milk, which can be done better when the milk is made on the farm than when the milk is drawn to a factory.

The future of farm dairying is in the hands of the farmer. In the aggregate the prospects are most flattering, and there is little doubt but that in the near future "Prime Dairy" will be the highest price quoted in the market. It will be the fault of the individual dairymen if his product does not come within the general quotation.

PLAN OF THE STALL.
The stall should be 12 ft. long, 6 ft. wide, and 6 ft. high. It should be built of wood or concrete. The floor should be made of concrete or brick. The walls should be made of wood or concrete. The roof should be made of wood or concrete. The stall should be built on a concrete foundation. The stall should be built on a concrete foundation.

DAILY MATTERS.

Put a knot under the chin so it will not draw too tightly around the nose. A gentle cow is a pleasure, and a manageable one a nuisance. A gentle and well-trained cow will give more milk.

In making a halter to lead the heifer place the headpiece back of the ears so that it will not draw across the eyes.

Now is the time to train all the calves to lead. A cow's value is increased many times if she will lead like a horse.

It doesn't pay to buy poor thwarte of any sort—pails, pans or cans. The tin soon wears off and away goes your money and the pails and pans, too.

Do not wait for the cream to begin to rise on the top of the pail before straining milk. Take it right into the house and strain.—Farm Journal.

Marking Cows.

The question of marking cattle in dairy herds is one that often bothers the owner. He wants some effective way to distinguish one from the other, especially the younger ones. The metallic mark in the ear is popular with many, though it has a disadvantage in being lost by pulling out the ear. Straps about the neck are adopted in some places where the expense of the method is not objected to; a brass tag being slipped over the strap. There is a revival of interest in the tattooing of the ear with figures or letters. This is said to be a permanent and sure means of identification, cheap and easily done, but like all other things, has its fallings—too hard to find in a hurry.—Jersey Bulletin.

A Workshop Study.

Participation of a little corner in the workshop, fit to be placed in a few weeks before the year closes, for your private benefit. Here you may bring a chair or two and an old table and all through the summer months you will find that the farm to bring your farm papers and books to study.

Special Care of the Cow.

It will pay you to take extra good care of your cows for a few weeks before they begin to give new milk, says Farm Journal. Feed no heavy grain, keep the bowels open, don't let them get chilled, give warm water at least two days after a cow's sickness. Get started right; the rest will come along just as it should.

One to Twelve.

Where the fowls are given a free range one hen is sufficient to raise each dozen hens, unless the variety is one which is very inactive, when a greater number should be kept. But where the fowls are close confined, an average of one male is sufficient to keep for each dozen hens.

Sure Sign of Lice.

When you see a chicken digging down among its feathers you may be sure there are lice on that chicken. Chickens will sit on the fence after a rain and smooth out their feathers with their bills; but it is done in a different way when the digging for lice.—Inland Poultry Journal.

Dehorn Cattle When Young.

Dehorning a cow after they have reached maturity is a pretty serious matter. Better attend to it when they are calves. A five-cent stick of potash rubbed on the horns then will do the job for five or six calves, and the pain will be comparatively nothing.—Farm Journal.

WEIGHING MILK.

Scales and Bull's Head Should Be Conveniently Placed in the Milk Room.

The necessary apparatus for keeping a record of the amount of milk produced are scales for weighing the milk and a suitable sheet of paper for the record. A number of kinds of scales are available, and are recommended, but a very useful and inexpensive form is a regular spring balance with the dial marked to the tenth pound. The hand on the dial can be adjusted so that the weight of the milk will point to zero. This is a direct-reading of the weight of the milk.

The balance should hang on a hook to allow the bucket to swing freely and handy for the milker, says Farm and Home. The record sheet may be tacked on the wall by the balance. When a customer to the work the milker can do the weighing in a few seconds. The weight of milk at each milking should be recorded, and new sheets made for each month's records.

Novel Smoke House.

My neighbor has a smokehouse that I must tell you about, writes a correspondent of the Farm Journal. He has an old stove standing in an outhouse. Over it a stove pipe is turned around so that it had hooks screwed in the wall on which to hang the hams and bacon. Then he simply put in a few shovels of hot coals and his smoking material, cobs, and that is about all there is to it. The fire is easily attended to from the front of the stove, and the meat is smoked with the least possible amount of trouble.

A Hint to Milk Contractors.

If contractors that buy milk from farmers would occasionally send out a circular of instruction, they might find it should be kept. It would do much good, as has been demonstrated by the few contractors who have tried it. The farmers know many of their milk contracts will contain, but it is well to refresh their memories from time to time.

Feeding the Horse.

There is a certain amount which may vary under different circumstances. This is just as intrinsic as anything that should be kept. It would do much good, as has been demonstrated by the few contractors who have tried it. The farmers know many of their milk contracts will contain, but it is well to refresh their memories from time to time.

Let Common Sense Decide

Do you honestly believe, that coffee sold loose (in bulk), exposed to dust, germs and insects, passing through many hands (some of them not over-clean), "blended," if you don't know how or by whom, is fit for your use? Of course you don't. But LION COFFEE is another story. The green berries, selected by keen judges at the plantation, are skillfully roasted at our factories, where precautions you would not dream of are taken to secure perfect cleanliness, flavor, strength and uniformity.

From the time the coffee leaves the factory no hand touches it till it is opened in your kitchen.

This has made LION COFFEE the LEADER of ALL PACKAGE COFFEES. Millions of American Homes welcome LION COFFEE daily. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity. "Quality survives all opposition." (Sold only in 1 lb. packages. Lion-head on every package.) (Save your Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)
