that still air will not conduct heat or cold? That is why a dead air space is a better protection against cold than a solid stone-wall. If your windows are fitted with good storm sash the cold cannot get in, any more than it does through the wall. A single window is almost no protection. It's the dead air space that does the business, and for a dead air space you need storm sash. We can give you the kind of storm sash you want. We have them to fit any window. And don't forget what

OLD TIMERS' CLUB AFFIRMATIVE WON

Tuesday Night Old Timers Met and Organized a Dancing Club

An old timers' dancing club was organized on Tuesday evening, J. Y. Breckenridge was elected president, W. J. Gottry, secretary, and Roy Carlson, treasurer.

A committee consisting of Dr. R. L. Wiseman as chairman, and George Sherwood and Frank Madden were appointed as a permanent committee to see about selling tickets and arranging for the hall and music.

The club is to be a strictly invited affair and only those holding tickets will be allowed to attend. The price of the tickets will be fixed by the committee as soon as they find out what the expenses will be.

For the first party which will be held at Stokl's hall a week from tonight the price of the tickets have been fixed at 75 cents. If the committee ask you married people and old timers to purchase one, be sure and do so, as these parties are gotten up to have a good time, and if you miss them you will be sorry.

A few years ago a club of this kind was organized, and those who attended at that time said they were the best parties they ever attended, and the management intend to make these as good, if not better, than the ones given at that time.

The management is put in good hands, as Dr. Wiseman is known to be a hustler, and the other two members of the committee are not one whit behind him, so look for some rattling good parties the coming winter.

These parties are gotten up for the benefit of the older people, and all the old dances that were in vogue when father and mother were young will be danced. So, if you liked the real, old-fashioned dance, don't fail to attend these parties. Buy a ticket yourself, and join the club and tell your married neighbors that Pine City has organized an old timers' and married people's dancing club, and that all the old time dances that they loved so well as boys and girls will be in order. Come out and be young once more. If you want to join, see one of the committee.

High School Scholars Hold Debate Monday Night at Assembly Room

Monday evening the Webster high school scholars held a debate to see which three of the six contestants would represent the school in the State High School Debating League. At about 8:15 the assembly room of Webster school was comfortably filled with those who had paid the ten cents admission fee, which money will be added to the library fund of the school.

The question was the one given out by the State High School Debating League, and was: Resolved, "That the Cities of Minnesota Should Adopt a Commission Form of Government."

The three students that supported the affirmative were: James Clark, Mary Roberts and Manly Sowers. The three on the negative were: Ray Hendricks, Lillian Polk and Eleanor Clark.

The judges were the Hon. F. A. Hodge, Hon. F. E. Smith and Prof. W. J. McAdam.

The debaters were allowed ten minutes each on the direct debate and five minutes each on rebuttal. Each one of the contestants did well, Eleanor Clark carrying off the honors in the direct debate and Manly Sowers in the rebuttal.

At the close of the debate one of the others collected the decision of the judges, which stood two to one in favor of the affirmation.

The judges were all united in their choice of the three to uphold the honor of the school, which were: James Clark, Ray Hendricks and Manly Sowers, with Eleanor Clark as substitute.

The three chosen will represent the school in good shape, and if defeated the team defeating them will certainly know that they have had a debate on their hands.

DEER VALLEY.

Geo. Stevens and son made a flying trip to the county seat a week ago Wednesday on business.

The expected rural free delivery to Deer Valley from Pine City will soon be an established fact, which will be quite a benefit to our citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stevens drove down to Rush City Friday on important business. They returned the same day by the way of Rock Creek.

Mr. Nessel and family, who have been visiting with Mrs. Nessel's parents, returned home Monday. They report having enjoyed their visit very much.

I. L. Stevens, son of Geo. L., who was in St. Paul on business, returned home Monday morning. He took in the twin cities and says he enjoyed himself very much.

Steve Gillig went to Rock Creek Monday and took the noon train for Rush City, where he attended to business. He returned to Rock Creek on the local the same afternoon.

John Franson and son, Henry, took two loads of potatoes to Rock Creek the fore part of the week. The potato buyer said they were the largest and best that had been brought to the warehouse this season. Not so bad for the Valley.

Mr. Bruce returned home a week ago Wednesday, after being with his, Joe, for a few days. We are pleased to report that he is very much improved and feeling very much better all around. We hope he will continue to get the particulars. You know the place, Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

TESTED AND PROVEN

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation

For months Pine City readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. Otto Becker, Sixth street, Pine City, Minn., says: "For several years my kidneys did not do their work properly, and as the result my back became weak and lame. I felt tired, lacked ambition and was miserable in every way. My joints were stiff and at times I had to have assistance in walking. Dizzy spells and headaches bothered me and my sight was affected. When I was suffering in that way, I began the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, procuring them from Breckenridge's pharmacy, and they acted like magic. I now enjoy good health." (Statement given August 31, 1907.)

RE-INDORSEMENT

When Mrs. Becker was interviewed on October 19, 1910; she added to the above: "I cheerfully endorse Doan's Kidney Pills again and suggest their use in all cases of kidney trouble. I have never had any serious recurrence of this complaint."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Beginning November 1st, 1910, we will discontinue giving trials. We are going to give away checks. On December 1st, 1910, a $50 Golden Photograph. Come in and get the particulars. You know the place, Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

AFTER SUGAR TRUST

GOVERNMENT PETITION DEMANDS DISSOLUTION OF AMERICAN REFINING COMPANY.

LONG EXPECTED SUIT FILED

Attacks Methods of H. O. Havemeyer, Deceased.—Prosecutor Charges He Got $10,000,000 as Gift.

Washington, D. C.—Attacking the American Sugar Refining company, familiarly known as the sugar trust, as a lawless combination, the federal government filed its long expected suit for the dissolution of the corporation.

The petition was filed by Henry A. Wise, district attorney in the United States circuit court for the Southern district.

One of the allegations is that the late H. O. Havemeyer, long head of the sugar combine, received $10,000,000 common stock of the National Sugar Refining company of New Jersey as a gift at the time the corporation was formed to take into the combine four independent concerns.

The National Sugar Refining company run by B. H. Howells, Son & Co.; the New York Sugar Refining company of Long Island City, N. Y., operated by Claus Doshner; the Mollenhauer Sugar Refining company of Brooklyn; and the W. J. McCahan Sugar Refining company of Philadelphia. These companies up to 1900 were independent.

It is alleged that the American company was determined to acquire them. Under a plan inaugurated by Mr. Havemeyer, John E. Parsons and Jas. H. Post, the National company was formed and took over the four plants.

Mr. Post obtaining options on them. When the new stock was delivered, the petition sets forth, Post delivered 100,000 shares of common stock, the entire issue, with a par value of $10,000,000, to Mr. Havemeyer.

The government also alleges that when the American company took over the four Philadelphia companies, the Franklin Sugar Refining company, the Spreckles Sugar Refining company, the Delaware Sugar House and the C. K. Smith company, Mr. Havemeyer and his brother, Theodore Havemeyer, bought 45 per cent of the stock of the Spreckles company and then sold it at large profit to the American company, of which both were directors.

In general the petition charges that the defendants "for some time past had been and now are engaged in an unlawful combination and conspiracy to restrain the trade and commerce among and between the several states and territories of the United States and with foreign nations, in raw sugar, sugar beets, refined sugar, molasses, syrups and other by-products of raw sugar and to monopolize and monopolize same. Such unlawful combination and conspiracy is the result and outgrowth of a series of wrongful acts of the defendants in the various states, respectively, in the manner and to the extent hereinafter more fully set forth.

In participating in the various acts, agreements and combinations hereinafter described all of the defendants have been actuated by wrongful intent to restrain trade and commerce in raw and refined sugar and related articles, and to monopolize parts thereof.

The government charges that the American has obtained unfair advantage over competitors by obtaining money on impost by custom frauds by receiving rebate from railroads and by working in harmony with wholesale grocers' associations throughout the country and keeping up the price of sugar.

A considerable portion of the petition is devoted to the acquisition by the combine of beet sugar plants, when that industry began to grow formidable. In 1901 all these companies, except the Spreckles company, which was a beet sugar concern, were independent.

At present, according to the petition, the American company and its subsidiaries control 72 per cent of the total output of refined sugar in the country, which is said to be enough to permit it absolutely to control prices.

It is estimated that certain amount of competition.

BETTER LOOK BEHIND THE FLAG

MORAN WHIPS DANE

BATTLE IN CHIHUAHUA, MEX., ROUTES REBELS

6th Hundred Federal Troops Attack 400 Insurrectionists and Kill 13, Wounding Many.

Mexico, City, Mex., Nov. 28.—An engagement took place between the 6th Hundred federal troops and 400 Maderistas, in which the rebels were routed with a loss of thirteen killed and many wounded.

A number of federals were wounded, including one officer.

The revolutionists were driven into the mountains.

The report of this battle comes as a direct contradiction to the statements which have been issued periodically for the past few days from the government offices that quiet has been restored throughout the republic and that the revolution is a thing of the past.

The sudden outbreak at Chihuahua, which has been especially reported as showing no evidences of a revolutionary spirit, is regarded by circles other than official here as an indication that the Madero followers have either not yet begun upon a concerted plan of action or are pursuing tactics which it was stated, shortly after the first outbreak, they would follow, those of guerrilla warfare.

Such an outbreak as that at Chihuahua serves to unsettle the confidence which has been gained in a state of apprehension, not knowing at what instant a revolt may occur even in the capital city itself.

The Madero followers are scattered throughout the vast republic in force, a well known fact. That 400 of them could be gathered together in one town, like Chihuahua, to precipitate a battle such as that which occurred, is looked upon as an indication that the rebels are still in the country.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Ambassador De La Barra of Mexico received a despatch from his government denouncing published reports of the alleged killing of 500 revolutionists at Puebla in a clash with federal forces.

The ambassador received another dispatch declaring that order has been restored in all states and that conditions now are normal.

St. Louis, Nov. 28.—The factions represented in the United States Senate and Governor Deneen of Illinois struggled for representation on the resolutions committee on the floor of the conference of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Waterway association.

Each side nominated its representative Congressman Henry T. Rainey was chosen to represent the Lorimer faction and Isham Randolph was selected by the Deneen followers.

When it came to deciding which of the two representatives should be on the committee the Illinois delegation was unable to agree. Yates was elected by raising the hand and shouting cries and noise. When it was seen that a selection could not be made the delegation moved to a distant part of the hall.

On their way there the delegates knocked over chairs and tore the benches by raising the standards. The state bar reported that it had agreed on a resolution to support the Lorimer faction and Congressman Rainey on the committee.

During the caucus Senator Lorimer and Governor Deneen led their factions in the waterways convention chose Chicago as the next meeting place.

FACTORY GIRLS TRAPPED IN BURNING BUILDING IN NEWARK, N. J.

MANY LEAP TO THEIR DEATH

Panic Follows Flash and Franko Women Jump From Overcrowded Fire Escapes to Basement—Blaze Caused by Explosion of Gasoline.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 28.—In ten minutes 25 girls were burned alive or crushed to death on the pavement in leaping from the windows and fire escapes of the four-story factory building at the corner of Orange and High streets.

Twenty of the twenty-five bodies recovered have been identified and five girls are still missing. They may be among the unidentified dead or they may be in the ruins.

Fifty were taken to hospitals, of whom two may die. Among the injured is Joseph E. Blawie, deputy fire chief, who was caught under the falling wall and buried in bricks and rubble. He is badly hurt, but may recover.

The fire spread quickly. The rush of the flames was so swift that three girls tumbled into the huddled working girls on the top story that the body of one was found still seated on a charred stool beside the machine at which she had been busy when the first cry of "fire" filled her with fright.

Horrible as must have been the scenes in the smoke of the crowded upper room, what befell outside the bright sunlight was more horrible.

The building was so riotously inflammable and the first gust of flames had cut off all possible escape by the stairways. The elevators made one trip, but took down no passengers, and never went back. The only exit was by two narrow fire escapes, the lower platforms of which were 25 feet from the street.

Only those overcrowded and steep lanes, made dancing hot by the jets from lower windows, pressed forward a mob of women, blind with panic.

Jump into Net.

A net had been spread beneath the windows and the girls began to jump. "Like rats out of a burning bin" was the way a fireman described that pell-mell descent. They poured out of the windows, upon the heads of those below, and cascaded off the fire escape to the pavement, 60 feet below.

Some of them stood in the windows, outlined against the flames, and jumped clear; others sprang from the landings, and still others leaped from the steps where they stood. The air was full of them and they fell everywhere—into the net, on the necks of firemen, and 15 of them on the hard street.

When the awful rain ceased there were eight dead in the streets and the gutters ran red. Seven more were so mortally injured that they died in hospital. Fifty are still under surgical care.

Loss Near $165,000.

The fire department places the loss at $165,000. The building was a four-story brick structure, occupied on the two lower floors by the Newark Paper Box company and the A. A. Drake Paper Box company, on the third floor where the fire started, by the Anchor Lamp company and the Aetna Electric company, and on the top floor, where the death toll can be seen, by the Wolf Manufacturing company, makers of underwear.

Sadie Benson, an employee of the Aetna Electric company, was cleaning an electric light fixture in a gasoline bath. The gasoline took fire—the doors can't make up your mind, but you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

A large number of the girls were from the returns to date from 18 states, it is shown that, including the Philippines, Mexico and Porto Rico, but not including Guam and part of the islands of the Samoan group, the American flag floats over a population of 103,948,757.

The official figures will not be announced for several weeks. Eighteen states and territories show a total gain in the last ten years of 5,161,425, or 213 per cent.

Three of the ten largest cities of the world are in the United States—namely, New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. New York is the second city, Chicago the fifth and Philadelphia the sixth.

Right American cities have a population exceeding 500,000, viz., New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, Cleveland, Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

Street Car Kills Manufacturer.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—George Dissel, 62-year-old, was struck and killed by a street car as he alighted from another car.

St. Louis, Nov. 28.—The factions represented in the United States Senate and Governor Deneen of Illinois struggled for representation on the resolutions committee on the floor of the conference of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Waterway association.

Each side nominated its representative Congressman Henry T. Rainey was chosen to represent the Lorimer faction and Isham Randolph was selected by the Deneen followers.

When it came to deciding which of the two representatives should be on the committee the Illinois delegation was unable to agree. Yates was elected by raising the hand and shouting cries and noise. When it was seen that a selection could not be made the delegation moved to a distant part of the hall.

On their way there the delegates knocked over chairs and tore the benches by raising the standards. The state bar reported that it had agreed on a resolution to support the Lorimer faction and Congressman Rainey on the committee.

THE PARCEL POST FAKE

It is strange how easily the people can be gulled. Just now the agitation for a parcel post is being worked to perfection in the papers, and the country papers that are agitating the movement are the representatives of the people who will suffer most. This is the best act that the mail order houses could have placed on the statute books. With rural delivery and parcel post the mail order house could drive the country merchant out of business in a short time. You are told that the express companies are the people who are fighting the proposition, and that it would be a great thing for "the people," but you can just sit down and figure the thing out for yourself and see how long it would take the cities to gobble up the business of the entire country if a parcel could be sent from New York City, Philadelphia or Chicago for a few cents to the farmer living on a rural route while the merchant would be obliged to pay the same rate if he wished to send a parcel out to a customer three miles from town. There is no use in denying the fact. The rural delivery system has been a positive detriment to the business of the rural village, is a heavy drain on the revenues of the country, and is one of the factors which goes to the building up of a large city, while the village and small town is growing smaller all the time. The addition of the parcels post would be the final blow to struggling industrial life in the communities removed from the large cities. It is the large magazine and the daily paper that is fighting the battle of the mail order house and is asking this measure of congress. The people are being taught that it is a blow to the express companies, and the howlers are denouncing the robber "express trust" at the instigation of the "mail order trust." Why do not the rural communities organize for self-protection? Is it because they are afraid? There is certainly need of getting together for mutual protection. Unless something is done to stem the tide, Minnesota will follow the footsteps of Missouri in a short time and become simply a feeder for the large city instead of being a state of prosperous cities and villages with an industrial life highly creditable and with prosperous cities scattered through the state. The cities are fattened at the expense of the rural community now. The real fight is between the rural community and the business trust of the cities. The best way to fight this trust is to get the people aroused to the real conditions, and it is the rural community that should do this. What good is a business man's organization unless it looks after these matters of practical importance?

POSTAL LAWS' INJUSTICE

Just now the question of postal rates is being agitated in the papers, and Postmaster-General Hitchcock is being criticised and the Taft administration is being roasted to a turn by some of the periodicals because of the fact that the administration has taken hold of the matter of second-class rates and proposes to dig into the question until the public understands what is the real issue. This fact accounts for part, at least, of the opposition of some of the "great national weeklies" and "great monthlies" opposition to the Taft administration. It has been discovered by the application of business methods that the annual postal deficit is credited to the excessive cost of transporting the magazines and large periodicals. Postmaster-General Hitchcock says that it is the large amount of advertising matter carried in these publications which causes the deficit, and he proposes to require the publishers to furnish the department with separate weights of the reading matter and the advertising pages. The reading matter, he proposes, shall go through the mail at the second-class rate, but the advertising matter shall pay a higher rate. If congress does its duty he will be sustained in this. The magazines are making a great howl and are asking their readers to urge their congressmen to work against the bill. It is said that it will cause a raise in the subscription price of the magazines, but even this would not be a calamity, as many of them are a positive menace to the well-being of society, but if any advance takes place it should be in their advertising rates. The public should not be taxed to furnish cheap rates for the distribution of mail order houses' printed matter, and that is about all the advertising department of the magazines amounts to. With this drain on the finances of the department checked, penny postage for letters would be possible.

You cannot make your children what you would have them to be, but you can show them what they should be.

THERE are forty ways to win success and Joe Cannon gave them all when he said: "Just keep on keeping on."

AVIATION, gravitation, termination, is the history of two or three bird-men every week. Still the public enjoys it.

LIFE is just what you put into it, and it pays a good deal better to spend more time in living and less in getting ready to die.

IT MAY be that a fellow cannot lift himself over the fence with his boot straps, but if he keeps busy he can pull the fence down.

WELL, well, it doesn't look as though the people of New York were so thoroughly in love with the Roosevelt policies after all, does it?

IT ISN'T always the "prize student" who wins out in the great battle of life but it is the fellow who never says can't and keeps eternally at it.

EMERSON said his books were his friends. If that is true in these modern times, some people ought to be ashamed of the company they keep.

If you lost your money on general results three weeks ago, you had better get a move on you to cover the loss while these republican times last.

THE modern times have taught our Sunday school children to spend less time singing. "I want to be an Angel," and more in singing. "Pull for the Shore."

THERE are two years now before another election, but unless the republicans can get a move on them to get together the time will be all too short to get in line for the presidential campaign.

INSUBGENY has been a rather expensive plaything for the country, though the "progressives" do not seem to realize that their tomfoolery has cost the party the control of the house and delayed real progress for two years at least.

WITH trolley cars whizzing over the crossings, automobile wagons luzzing around the corners, and air ships swooping down from above, the poor fellow who cannot afford to ride will have to try the subways, or life in this day of progress will be so short that a boy will just begin to live when he dies.

THOSE who think that Joe Cannon and Cannonism were such a terrible thing had better reserve their judgment until they have had a little taste of Champ Clark as speaker. The democrats will have a hard time to find among their members a man with the experience and ability of the much-abused Cannon!

JOE CANNON will not be the next speaker of the house, but he was re-elected by a good majority of five thousand, and, as he says, he "kept the faith and made no apologies for the action of congress." The people of Uncle Joe's district do not seem to have become tainted with the mania for wild-cat legislation.

In one district in New York City in which there are sixteen thousand people living there is one saloon to every one hundred and eleven of population and one church to each eight thousand population. The criminal records for the district show that is one of the most dangerous communities in America. How many people would care to raise a family in such a community?

THE battle-field isn't the only place that produces heroes. It takes just as high a type of courage to go on doing your duty in the face of public clamor, with jibes flying about, as it does to stand behind the guns with bullets in the air. We haven't buried all of our heroes under the ground, though some of them were buried under an avalanche of ballots this fall. We will be around building monuments on the political field for some of these "fallen braves" in a short time, and don't you forget it.

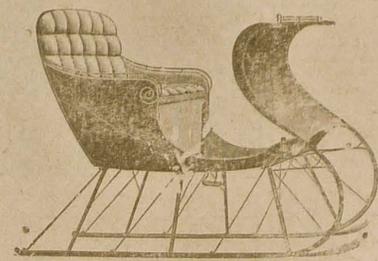

THERE may be a new alignment of parties in the near future and the result will probably be the opening up of some real live issues in politics. Until the people get sufficiently interested in the politics of the country to turn out and vote the conditions which now prevail will continue. Both of the old parties have been spending their time in racing each other for vote-catching populistic fads of late and have overlooked the real questions which are of vital public importance. The people have lost faith in the old parties, and it is not to be wondered at when it is impossible to distinguish the republican platform from the democratic without reading the heading of the instrument.

THE tendency toward "out-of-door" treatment for many of the diseases which have heretofore baffled the medical profession still keeps the public eye. The latest is the "open-air school," in which children, even in Chicago, have been benefited by attending school in the open air even during the most inclement weather of that climate. There is no question but that the matter of ventilation in our schools has been so badly neglected that many of the tombstones in our cemeteries are but monuments to the ignorance of our school boards. It is safe to say that there isn't a dozen men on the school boards of this country who have the slightest idea of how much air each individual should have during the time devoted to study, nor is there a school building in the country which meets the demand. It's time to wake up.

JUST a few years ago the country was terribly stirred by the eloquent outbursts of the political "spell-binder," who demanded that the United States government relinquish its hold on the Philippine Islands. Now the papers are filled with the reports published in England of the inestimable benefit the American occupation has been to the islanders. The health department of the islands shows beyond question the Americans have taken hold of the matter of insular sanitation and have made as much of a success of cleaning up Cuba and the Panama Canal zone. Thus, again, do we find the political agitator discredited and the ranting of the radical about "imperialism" disproved by the facts. It is usually better to judge of such things after experience has shown the purpose lying back of governmental policies.

SOMETHING practical in the way of agricultural education is being undertaken by some of the states. A train of cars is fitted up and sent through the state making stops at the small stations where demonstrations are given for the benefit of the farmers. Lectures are given in halls, and a practical demonstration is given at the car which teaches the farmer more by observation than he would learn in many months by reading. The farmers' institutes has been a great thing for the country, but the trouble with it has been that it was expensive and was not brought home to the farmer. There are but few places where these institutions can be held, while the demonstration train can stop a few hours at every station on a line of road and bring the benefits to the very door of the agricultural communities. The railroads are co-operating with the state authorities and the scheme is proving of vast benefit.

After supper the aprons that had not been sold were put up at auction and brought good prices, as did also the two bed quilts. Some of the boys to show their appreciation of the pastor, H. H. Pariah, purchased a baby's apron and made him a present of it. The ladies cleared upwards of $55, which will be added to their treasury.

The Glory of Venice

Restored

The task of restoring the old campanile or bell tower of St. Mark's at Venice is nearing completion, and it is confidently expected that the bells of San Marco will speak their nine years' silence and again ring out on St. Mark's day, April 25, 1911.

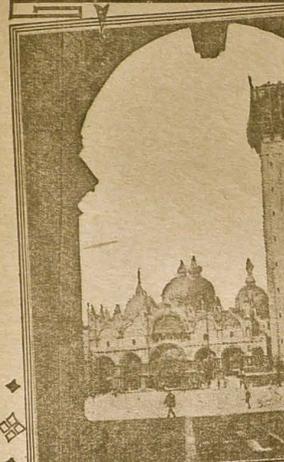

The restoration of this famous tower—which collapsed suddenly on July 14, 1903, after a partial existence of 1074 years—has proved a greater undertaking than anticipated, some of the details presenting technical difficulties. The intention was to reproduce the old tower as faithfully as possible, and with that object in view the bricks, of which there are over a million, were specially selected and laid. The bricks are each 12 inches long, 6 inches wide and 3 inches deep, and the clay is twice mixed to secure homogeneity. These bricks, however, contained salt, which threatened to ruin the tower while, as such, an outcry was raised among the Venetians that the work was suspended while an inquiry was held. It was found that by prolonged soaking in water the salt was removed.

The tower is quadrangular, nearly 40 feet square at the base and 350 feet high, including the pinnacle in the shape of a pyramid, the summit being crowned by the figure of an angel with spread wings. The foundations of the ancient buildings were found to be good, but none too wide, so that considerable strengthening had to be effected. No scaffolding has been used, a sitting platform being contrived to give with the progress of the building.

The shaft, which was completed last December, is composed of an inner and an outer shaft, between which mounts the inclined plane which leads to the bell chamber. The walls of the outer shaft are six feet thick and the inclined plane is lit by 36 windows. In the new tower the shafts are bound together by iron rods and the piers at the angles of the inner shaft are similarly united. This will cause any future fall of the tower to be as one mass instead of a gentle subsiding.

Careful searching of the ruins of the old campanile resulted in the finding of nearly all the fragments of the beautiful bronze doors, statues and bas-reliefs of Sansovino's famous loggia, which has been restored with its wonderful care and devotion. The estimated cost of the present tower is over 2,000,000 francs, this sum having been raised by public subscription and a large grant from the state.

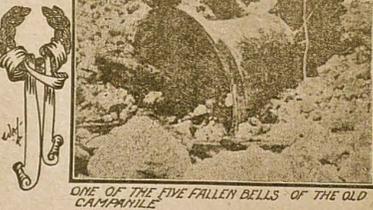

When the tower fell, of the five bells only the largest was not broken; the other four have been replaced and were presented to his beloved Venice by Pope Pius X. The lions of St. Mark, which originally occupied the centers of the north and south sides of the attic and were defaced during the French occupation, are to be replaced.

The tower has a strangely hard and new appearance against the soft, time-mellowed facade of the church of St. Mark with its wild horses and curious Oriental-looking domes, and seems almost as incongruous as the large steamboats and motor launches which have now challenged the supremacy of the graceful gondolas on Venetian waterways. The Venetians were, however, wise to rebuild the campanile, for the long, low lines of the surrounding palaces need this sky-piercing shaft to complete the effect of their grandeur.

"By kind permission of Professor Giuseppe del Piccolo, chief superintendent of the reconstruction of the loggia, it was permitted," writes a correspondent, "to witness the remarkable work which has been completed in the form of the arcades of the doge's palace. Here, within the shadow of the beautiful staircase which mounts to the upper story, and within sight of the window from which Silvio Pellico looked out during his many years of confinement, there has been placed together with infinite pains the wonderful Renaissance facade of Sansovino."

To give an example of the method which has been pursued one may take the case of three columns of breccia corallina which form part of the facade facing St. Mark's. One has been put together in 13 pieces, another in 32 pieces, while a third was so much damaged that it had to be replaced by a block of Asiatic marble known as sette basi dorato, so called from a block of this marble having been found in a villa near Rome belonging to Bettino Passo, a Roman consul.

"By kind permission of Signor Edoardo Dotti.

Piacentali, chief superintendent of the reconstruction of the campanile, I was permitted," writes a correspondent, "to thoroughly inspect the new tower which is rising above the fairy city of Venice." Passing through the palisading which keeps out the ordinary public from the base of the campanile one first observes the piers of each brick, after being brought down from Treviso to the Giudecca has been carefully

THE WELSH EISTEDDFOD

The National Eisteddfod of Wales, celebrated every autumn, is one of the most picturesque festivals remaining in this commercial age. The Gentlewoman remarks especially on the growing part taken by women.

Last year when the Gorsedd, or meeting to proclaim the bards, was held in Kensington Gardens in the early morning no one looked better than Lady St. David in her stately robes of emerald green, or more graceful than the countess from Matfield, whose grace and charm one long to see added to the Grecian folds of an Ovale's robes.

And now a word on the Gorsedd itself. On the Logan Stone the Arch-Druid, Dyfed was attended by all his bards, some in white robes and others in blue, and the Ovates in green. The Gorsedd and short Enghydym (alliterative stanzas) were recited in Welsh by the bards, who in turn stood on the Logan Stone and received the applause as well as the laughter of appreciation, for many of the Enghydym are exceedingly witty as well as good poetry.

tion, which in their monotonous but varied chanting on a very few notes remind one of the east and its primitive music.

Symbolic offerings of the fruits and flowers of the earth—the oak, leek, mistletoe, corn, heather and vervain—form the bouquet which every year is presented by some prominent woman; and again one hears "Ira Iawn" (Very good), or sometimes "No good," as the case may be, for the time being all is forgotten but the music.

The culminating interest of the Eisteddfod is centered in the chanting of the bard on "Thurs day—the award for the greatest alliterative poem of the year. The adjudicators read their decision criticizing the different poems sent in, and an evening at the close the nom de plume of a successful competitor. The whole business is galvanized with intense excitement. The winning author stands, and two bards are sent to censure him and strains of music to his chair of bards in the bardic circle.

UNKIND JOLT FROM ADAM

As if Eve Hadn't Borrowed Enough, Her Partner Had to Add to the Mixture.

Adam had just received his notice of dismissal. He stared at it a long time in silence, while Eve, crouched in a dusky corner, softly whimpered. Presently the father of mankind looked around.

As Eve caught his angry eye her whimper changed to a pining sob. "Well," he sternly said, "you've certainly put us in a fine mess with your silly curiosity! And yet when I refused to have anything to do with your apple scheme you called me a poor fool. Do you remember that you called me a poor fool?"

"Yes," sobbed Eve.

"Well, there's but one question I want to ask you," said Adam.

"What is it?" gasped the first mother.

"Who's looney now?" he harshly demanded.

Then he turned away abruptly and started to pick up the fairy gowns and the tent poles.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than in other diseases put together. For a great many years it has been known that a great many people suffer from it, and by constantly taking Catarrh Remedy, a medicinal preparation, some have proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, therefore requiring constitutional treatment.

Dr. J. C. Catarrh, manufactured by F. J. Casey & Co., of the city of Cleveland, Ohio, is the best medicine for the cure of Catarrh. It is taken internally in some form or other, and it acts directly on the blood, the mucous surface of the prostate, and the bladder, and it is the only medicine that will cure. "Beer" in Kansas. A certain Kansas editor always puts the word "beer" when printed in his paper in quotation marks.
