KILL AUTO BANDITS

POLICE OF PARIS SHOOT BONNOT, THE "DEMON CHAUFFEUR," AND DUBOIS AFTER BATTLE.

TEN THOUSAND WATCH FIGHT

Murderous Criminals Are Cornered in Garage Which Officers, Under Cover of Artillery, Destroy With Dynamite.

Paris, April 29.—After their lair had been wrecked by two terrific charges of dynamite, the bullets of police, detectives and gendarmes advancing under cover of artillery having failed to dislodge them, Dubois, the world-famous chauffeur, and Bonnot, the "demon driver" of the automobile bandits, who have terrorized Paris for two years, were shot dead yesterday in a hand to hand encounter in a small garage at Choley Le Roi, on the outskirts of Paris.

The battle, which was the most sensational ever fought in Paris between police and hunted criminals, was witnessed by a crowd of more than 10,000 persons. The entire city has been thrown into an uproar of excitement by the conflict.

Both Die Fighting.

Dubois was instantly killed by the advancing police after he had raised himself from the automobile consequent to which he was hiding, and fired his last shot, and Bonnot was mortally wounded as he raised himself to fire from between two mattresses in which he had sought safety from the dynamite blasts.

Two of the detectives participating in the fight were seriously wounded. Bonnot within the past few months had become one of the most daring murderers in the criminal history of France. A score of robberies, in the execution of which several persons were killed, were planned by Bonnot. The bandits always escaped in a taxicab, and it was Bonnot who piloted the machine from the clutches of the law.

Cornered in a Garage.

At dawn yesterday six automobiles, laden with detectives, led by M. Lepine, prefect of police, and detectives under Chief of Detectives Guichard, rushed to the suburb and surrounded a small garage which the two bandits had been seen to enter early in the morning. The garage was little more than a small shed.

Local gendarmes were called out and all the neighboring dwellings were ordered evacuated. At one o'clock when the police were still busy with their preliminary operations, a crowd of 10,000 persons had gathered. Fire lines were drawn to keep the throng outside the scene of danger.

More than a hundred inhabitants of Choley, armed with shotguns, volunteered their services and were accepted by M. Lepine.

The bandits drove back the police twice and recourse was had to dynamite. Two charges were exploded, one demolishing the garage. Then the police then rushed in and shot the bandits.

St. Louis, April 27.—Gov. Herbert S. Hadley and his friends among the Missouri state Republican convention for Colonel Roosevelt as a Taft foe, in a deadlock, in which the Taft leaders were driven to complete rout. Eight delegates-at-large to the national Republican convention, all Roosevelt men and all instructed for him, were elected after two Taft leaders had been elected and then resigned their places on the Missouri delegation, when the convention read instructions for Roosevelt.

An national committee from Missouri to succeed Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, the state convention elected Thomas H. Niedringhaus of St. Louis.

ICE ROCKED HELP

CAPTAIN OF MOUNT TEMPLE SAYS HIS VESSEL COULD NOT REACH TITANIC.

ERROR MADE IN LOCATION

Wireless Message From the Sinking Life Boat Her Position Eight Miles From Right Place—Astor's Body Identified.

Washington, April 29.—Failure to give the ship's exact position, a great deal of floating ice that offered a barrier to ships hurrying to the rescue, and the mistake of its own captain in rushing at top speed through an ice covered sea all these combined to send the Titanic and its 1,600 victims to their grave in the north Atlantic.

This was strongly intimated in testimony before the senate committee investigating the disaster.

Capt. James H. Moore of the steamer Mount Temple, which was hurried to the Titanic in response to wireless calls for help, told of the great stretch of ice which held him off. With- in his view from the bridge he discerned, he said, another strange steamer, probably a tramp, and a schooner, both making for its way out of the ice. The lights of this schooner he thought probably were those seen by the anxious survivors of the Titanic.

Calla Titanic Spent Unwieldy.

Captain Moore denounced as "most unwieldy" the action of the Titanic's commander in rushing at 21 knots toward the night when he had been given the proximity of ice. The Mount Temple's commander testified that he had spent 27 years in the navy. "Whenever I was around, he said, he doubled his watch and reduced speed, and if he happened to get caught in an ice pack he would have his engine and driver until he was clear.

The witness also was emphatic in his declaration that the position sent out by the Titanic was wrong. He said the ship was eight miles further seaward than its operators reported.

With what virtually was a fleet of steamers within a radius of 10 miles of the Titanic, the officer said that this mistake in fixing accurately the position of the doomed ship was a fatal one. "When the ice came down covering the northern sea, a ship of even the size of the Titanic might well be overlooked through such a varying ice field."

Astor and Straus Found.

New York, April 27.—The bodies of Col. John Jacob Astor, Isidor Straus and Miss Margaret Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, who lost their lives in the Titanic disaster, have been recovered and are on the steamer cable ship Maunabo. News of the recovery of the bodies was contained in a dispatch to the White Star line company.

The wireless message, which came to the company from the cable ship Maunabo, gives the additional location of the bodies. The bodies of the bodies of Colonel Astor and Mr. Straus have been embalmed.

GRANT BURIED WITH HONORS

Interment at West Point After Services at Governor Island—Ceremony Was Very Simple.

West Point, N. Y., April 26.—With full military honors and a salute of 21 guns the remains of Gen. Frederick Grant were lowered into the tomb here today. The simple services at the cemetery were presided over by the chaplain at Governor's island after which the casket on an artillery caisson was taken to South Ferry and the escort under command of Gen. Taylor H. Bliss, included one regiment of infantry, two regiments of regular army, troops from the New York National guard, the Vermont Artillery corps and U. S. Grant post, G. A. R.

Perry boats draped in black transported the body and its escort across the river to Westview, where a special train was waiting to take the members of the Grant family and government officials to West Point. There the train was met by a regiment of cadets, which escorted the body to its final resting place.

LAUNCH BIG GERMAN SHIP

Saxon King and High Officials See the Vessel Take Water—Cost $12,000,000.

Danzig, Germany, April 29.—The battleship Goeben, named for a former king of Saxony, was launched at the arsenal here today. The ship was named in honor of the Saxon king, Friedrich August II, who died in 1873. The ship is 24,600 tons and is armed with ten twelve-inch and fourteen six-inch guns. The cost was nearly $12,000,000.

STATE TAKES HAND IN FIGHT

New Jersey Leads in Advanced Legislation Designed to Check Spread of Tuberculosis.

That is designed by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis as the most advanced legislation in the campaign against tuberculosis that has been enacted by any state in the United States, if not by any country in the world, is found in a bill recently passed by the New Jersey legislature and signed by Governor Wilson. The new law provides that tuberculosis patients who refuse to obey the regulations of the state board of health concerning the prevention of their disease, and thus become a menace to the health of those with whom they associate, shall be compulsorily segregated by order of the courts, in institutions provided for this purpose.

If such a patient refuses to obey the rules and regulations of the institution in which he is placed, he may be isolated or separated from other persons and restrained from leaving the institution." The law further provides that an committee in the state of New Jersey shall within six months from April 1st make provision in special institutions for the care of all persons having tuberculosis in these counties. The state treasury will subsidize each county to the extent of $3 a week for each person maintained in these institutions, except those who are able to pay for the cost of maintenance.

"I was a lover of coffee and used it for many years, and did not realize the bad effects it was suffering from its use. One day I got an injurious as coffee because it, too, contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee."

"At first I was troubled with indigestion. I did not attribute the trouble to the use of coffee, but thought it arose from other causes. With these attacks I had a frequent, anxious and vomiting. Finally my stomach was in such a condition I could scarcely retain any food."

"I consulted a physician, was told all my troubles came from indigestion, but was not informed what caused the indigestion. I kept on with the coffee, and kept on with the troubles, too, and my case continued to grow worse from year to year until it developed into chronic diarrhea, nausea and severe attacks of vomiting. I could keep nothing on my stomach and became a mere shadow, reduced from 150 to 125 pounds."

"A specialist informed me I had a very severe case of catarrh of the stomach, which had got so bad he could not hold me for six days, and I became convinced my days were numbered."

"Then I chanced to see an article setting forth the good qualities of Postum and explaining how coffee injured people so I concluded to give Postum a trial. I soon saw the good effects—my condition was better, frequent, anxious and vomiting only came on at long intervals and I was soon a changed man, feeling much better."

"Then I thought I could stand coffee again, but as soon as I tried it my troubles returned and I again turned to Postum. When you believe it, I did this three times before I had sense enough to quit coffee for good and keep on with the Postum. I am now a well man with no more chronic catarrh of stomach or vomiting, and have already gained back to 147 pounds."

I could keep nothing on my stomach and became a mere shadow, reduced from 150 to 125 pounds."

"A specialist informed me I had a very severe case of catarrh of the stomach, which had got so bad he could not hold me for six days, and I became convinced my days were numbered."

"Then I chanced to see an article setting forth the good qualities of Postum and explaining how coffee injured people so I concluded to give Postum a trial. I soon saw the good effects—my condition was better, frequent, anxious and vomiting only came on at long intervals and I was soon a changed man, feeling much better."

"Then I thought I could stand coffee again, but as soon as I tried it my troubles returned and I again turned to Postum. When you believe it, I did this three times before I had sense enough to quit coffee for good and keep on with the Postum. I am now a well man with no more chronic catarrh of stomach or vomiting, and have already gained back to 147 pounds."

LOOK FOR THE CAUSE

Follow the Advice of Other Women Who Have Had Experiences Similar to Yours.

Have you ever stopped to consider that it is the most common of the various symptoms from which you are suffering? Certainly the paleness, pain in the back, headache, loss of appetite, nervousness, shortness of breath, you may have some one cause. They are not diseases in themselves but are complaints and warnings from the different organs of the body that these organs are not being supplied with pure blood and cannot do their daily work well.

To be in good health a person must always have good rich blood. Every tissue of the body depends upon it for nourishment and strength. Knowledge of this fact makes possible a direct treatment for the various disorders from which women suffer. They can cure their troubles by making the blood pure with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Mrs. P. N. Kouling, of No. 411 Fifth Avenue, North, Minneapolis, Minn., who was completely cured by this remedy, says:

"For over a year I was in very poor health. I was very weak, and thin and had terrible pains through my back. I would be in bed for a week at a time. I was subject to a neuralgia. My limbs would seem to give out and I would have no control of them during these spells. I was reduced in weight to 80 pounds and could not do my work."

"The doctor did not seem to help me and I quit his treatment. It was then a cousin recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People to me and I gave them a trial. I soon felt much better and I now weigh 115 pounds. For years I had terrible headaches but since taking the pills these have disappeared. My health is better than it has been in years and I give the credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I would advise all suffering women to take the pills for I know they will relieve them of much misery."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People should be used in anemia, chlorosis or green sickness, sick headache, and for nervousness and a general run-down condition of the health.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale at all druggists, or will be mailed to any address postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per bottle. A box of $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Our new booklet, "Talks to Women," will be sent free on request.

BABY'S TERRIBLE SUFFERING

"When my baby was six months old, his body was completely covered with large sores that seemed to itch and burn, and cause terrible suffering. The eruption began in pimples which would open and run, making large sores. His hair came out and his nails fell off, and the sores were over the entire body, causing little or no sleep for baby or myself. Great scabs would come off when I removed his shirt."

"We tried a great many remedies, but nothing would help him, till a friend induced me to try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment but a short time before I could see that he was improving, and in six weeks' time he was entirely cured. He had suffered about six weeks before we tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, although we had tried several other things, and doctors, too. I think the Cuticura Remedies will do all that is claimed for them, and a great deal more."

(Signed) Mrs. Noble Tubman, Dodson, Miss., Jan. 29, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 22-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.

SYNOPSIS.

Garrett Coast, a young man of New York City, visits Douglas Blackstock, who lives in a castle on a remote island, although he dislikes Blackstock, the reason being that he once tried to seduce Katherine Thaxter, Coast's girl friend. At the party Coast meets two boys, a quarrel and Blackstock shoots Van Dey, a friend of Coast's, who is wounded. Coast is convicted, but as he begins his sentence, Douglas Blackstock, who is an expert marksman, kills himself. Coast escapes, and Katherine Thaxter, who is a girl of means, finds him and she and him sail to a remote island. Coast starts out to explore the place and comes upon some deserted buildings. He discovers a man dead in a room, and a woman who is named Katherine Thaxter. He finds a note which tells him that Black and his gang make a habit of kidnapping people and selling them as slaves. Coast penetrates to the island, suspecting they are criminals. ### CHAPTER XVIII.—(Continued)

Almost beside himself, Coast remained sufficient presence of mind to recognize the golden bullet which he saw flying through the air. He was in Blackstock's side and with swift, sure hands rifled his pockets, possessing himself of the pistol which had been taken from him, or its counterpart, Dolly, while thus employed. He was aware of a shout and a scream, and he saw the fear of the other men in his consciousness. He jumped to his feet, armed and alert, and whirled about.

But everything had taken place so swiftly and with so little warning that the Chinaman, quick though he was to take the alarm and start at top speed for the scene of the struggle, was still many yards distant when Coast arose, without a scruple leaving Blackstock at the mercy of the dog.

He saw Chang coming and saw him stop and level a revolver. Simultaneously he heard a shot—but from another quarter and another weapon than his own. The fear of the gleaming in the half light, suddenly flew out of his hand and to one side, falling in shallow water, while Chang grabbed his rifle and with his hand doubled like a jackkniffe over it, screaming with agony. In mute amazement, Coast seeking the source of this timely rescue, discovered Katherine standing with her revolver still uplifted, half-way between the Cold Lair, and the beached catboat. He marvelled at her. In this moment of trial and terror, she retained her wit and courage in a manner calculated to command the homage of a veteran of many wars. The instant after Coast caught sight of her, she fired again, placing a bullet squarely at the Chinaman's feet.

"Get back!" she called clearly. "Bang—or I'll shoot to kill!"

"Thank you very much, but in all this noise and confusion, I am not sure I stand without a breath's delay he turned his back and, nursing his injured hand, trotted swiftly off, to eastward down the beach.

Coast woke the echoes with a shout. "Well done, Katherine! Look to him now, or I'll be pitted against him. He turned back to Blackstock and the dog, just then a confused and struggling mass in the shadow of the boat. Already Coast was closing in upon Blackstock, for all his tremendous strength and activity for all that he was pitted against nothing more powerful than a blind and aged if infuriated dog, was only just succeeding in fighting to his knees. Already Coast was closing in upon Blackstock, for all his tremendous strength and activity for all that he was pitted against nothing more powerful than a blind and aged if infuriated dog, was only just succeeding in fighting to his knees.

Painting and shaken, both hands to his lacerated and bleeding throat, the man staggered a pace or two away, and fell suddenly against the bows of the boat, grasping its sturp for support.

Stunned with the surprise of it, Coast turned away, aware that Katherine was calling him.

"Garrett! Garrett!" he heard her cry. "Come—quickly! . . . Don't you see—"

She flung an arm seaward and to the west. Following this sign, he saw, perhaps a quarter of a mile off shore and averaging swiftly in under the urge of a dozen oars, a mackerel fisher's seine-boat, crowded to the thwart with men.

There was no sign of a vessel in the offing. Whether this longboat could have dropped from defied his most far-fetched guess. He stared agape and chundered until the woman, gaining his side, caught his arm with an imperative hand.

"Garrett!" Her voice was quavering now with concentration and the reaction from the excitement that had buoyed her up through the last few minutes. "Take me away, take me quickly! There's not a minute . . . The catboat . . ."

"Come, he answered stupidly, "sunk by Chang—Blackstock's orders. We've no chance now—only Appleyard."

"Then, hurry! Don't you see that boat—?"

"Yes, but—"

"They're the men—the crew of that schooner—at least, I think so, I'm sure of it. Against them, what chance have we? Let's get away, hide some place until your boat—"

"Right!" He whipped in his wool-gathering faculties. "But—we'll take him with us." He made as if to move

The rotatable frame has a series of the wires running across it parallel to each other. The butter is placed on the platform, and this upper frame is pressed down through the wires separating it into some square slabs, about an inch thick. The cake is then forced out through the other frame and divided into four times as many smaller squares.

Experiment in Cow Feeding. Result of Number of Tests Made by the North Carolina Station on Rations for Milk.

The North Carolina agricultural experiment station recently concluded a number of experiments to determine the relative efficiency of narrow and medium wide rations, for milk production, a report of which has reached the department of agriculture.

Eight cows from three to six weeks in lactation were fed three periods of ration, a report of which has reached the department of agriculture.

The first and third periods the feed consisted five parts of cottonseed meal, four parts wheat bran, three parts of corn and fifty pounds of corn silage. The nutritive ratio of this ration was about 1.4.

During the second period the ration was the same as the above, except that 25 pounds of cottonseed meal was replaced by 25 pounds of corn meal, giving this ration a nutritive ratio of about 1.57. The result of this test indicates that the narrow ration produced 75 per cent. more milk fat and increased the fat test 0.24 per cent and the live weight 30 pounds. The milk yield was practically the same.

cord the oars were lifted and laid in, slowly decreasing speed the longboat slipped through the floating waters and nosed the sands. Four oars, leaped overboard and grasping the thwarts halted the bows high up on the beach. Others followed, some lingering to help drag the longboat out of the tide's limits, some trotting to Blackstock's aid.

With difficulty, because of the momentary fading light, Coast counted the company of the newcomers; they numbered, as nearly as he could estimate, ten. With Blackstock and Chang, that meant twelve to twenty-fourteen to two, if he were to include the two coolies in the farm-house.

He withheld a groan of dismay, and tightened his arm round the woman's waist, unconsciously consecrating his life to her defense. Blackstock should recapture her only when he, Coast, had fallen fighting.

Dully through the gloaming he saw Blackstock lifted to his feet before the throng closed round him, a vague dark blur about the boat. From the coast the tall, gaunt figure of Chang strode back to join them.

As yet there was no indication of pursuit.

None the less, Coast stirred uneasily and glanced in silhouette down at the pale oval of the face resting wearily against his shoulder.

"Feeling better?" he inquired gently. "Do you think you can walk, dear?"

She drew in a deep breath and nodded assent. "I'm all right, now," she said, though still her respiration sounded harsh and uneven; "at least, I will be presently. Are they coming?" she added with a start.

"No," he answered. "They're not worrying about us. We can't get far—not off the island. When we're

CUTS BUTTER INTO SLABS

Steel Wires Press Through Cake Two Ways, Making Nest Division Into Square Pieces

For the speedy and neat division of a cake of butter into a number of small square pieces for individual use, the butter cutter designed by an Ohio man seems to fill the bill admirably. A standard has a cutter frame rotatable around its axis. The butter is placed on the platform, and this upper frame is pressed down through the wires separating it into some square slabs, about an inch thick. The cake is then forced out through the other frame and divided into four times as many smaller squares.

PINE COUNTY PIONEER

ED. C. GÖTTRY, Editor and Prop'r

Entered in the Postoffice at Pine City as Second-Class Matter

Pine City, Minnesota, May 3, '12

Don't get discouraged, there are more good people in the world than you know anything about.

It isn't the man who makes and sells the whiskey who is responsible for all the evils it brings, but the man who drinks it.

AND Iowa went for Taft even with a favorite son in the race. The Hawk-eyes get some crazy political notions in their heads sometimes but they get back to a good common sense view of things if you give them time.

CLARA BARTON who recently died at a ripe age removes from the stage of action another woman whose name will stand on the pages of history as long as time endures. Thank God for such women as Florence Nightingale and Clara Barton.

THE world is full of manly heroic men. You are meeting them on the street every day but you do not recognize them. It takes a supreme emergency to bring out the fact. You meet every day men who would die for their friends and who would give up their life for those about them. Don't forget it.

HAVE the days of chivalry passed forever? Turn back two weeks and look at the spectacle of hundreds of Americans bravely meeting death that helpless women and children might live! This is far more knightly than to meet in combat in the lists for a smile of some fair damsel. To uphold the right and to protect the weak is true chivalry.

It is said that Ismay, the managing director of the Titanic who was on board at the time of the disaster, has been having fits of despondency in which he repeatedly asks himself why he did not stay on the boat and go down with her. There have been thousands of people who have asked the same question with less sympathy for him than he has for himself.

"My father's character is my religion." This is a statement that the late Gen. Frederick Dent Grant is said to have frequently made. Gen. Grant may have made mistakes—he was human—but to have won and held the admiration of his son throughout his long life is a tribute to the man superior to any that has been paid the great conqueror. Fathers, how would you like to have your boys take your character as their "religion"?

A true man's a man for a' that. In the hour of supreme test millionaire and artisan, business man and tradesman, employer and employee if they be men, will show their manhood. In the Titanic wreck Chinese coolies hid away under the seats in the lifeboats while American millionaires stood beside the soldierly Maj. Butts and calmly awaited death. It is certainly an honor to their class that out of the many millionaires on the Titanic at the time she went down not one who was an American saved himself. "The rank is but the guinea's stamp; a man's a man for a' that."

Never in the history of the American people has the world witnessed such a shocking exhibition as the past few weeks has presented. Here we have an ex-president, a man in whom the people have heretofore had unbounded confidence, chasing around the country seeking a recommitment for a third term, haranguing the people and heaping falsehood, abuse and insinuation upon the man, whom he had but a few short months before recommended to the American people as the best fitted man for the Presidency in America. We took him at his word; have tried the man he recommended and found that he was even better than he was cracked up to be. The only fault that has been found with him lies in the fact that he has been President and has not allowed his predecessor to control him and his actions completely.

He has had manhood enough to stand up for what he believed to be the best interests of the American people and has been fearless enough to stand by his convictions. Now he has on his back a pack of political shysters led by a man who has proven himself unworthy of the trust that has been reposed in him. And again recurs the question—what will we do with our Presidents? There is one thing sure, the American people will teach one of them that he is no Czar.

COVERING HIS TRACKS.

Roosevelt Attacks Penrose, but Takes Up Notorious Boss Flinn.

In Pennsylvania, in an attempt to divert attention from his socialistic lunatics (O) speech and from William Flinn of Pittsburgh, his Pennsylvania manager, Theodore Roosevelt attacked President Taft and Senator Boies Penrose. The fact is that there is not a character in public life today who has the notorious record of "Old Bill" Flinn, and Roosevelt did not dare mention his name in Pittsburgh.

Until 1903 Flinn was the "boss" of Pittsburgh. He was run out of power by the decent people of that community. In the few years he "bossed" Pittsburgh Flinn received from men he put in public office contracts aggregating more than $21,000,000, as is shown by the public records.

In 1895 Flinn attempted to make a contract with Mattie Stanley Quay, United States senator, which he wrote out in his own hand, a copy of which is still in existence. In this document Flinn bound himself to deliver to Quay the votes of all Pittsburgh and Allegheny county legislators and congressmen and all delegates to state and national conventions, in return for which Quay was to protect Flinn in his private and political business in the legislature of the state.

The proposition was so rotten that even Quay turned it down. This is the man Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States, has resurrected into political life under the plea of "Let the people rule."

PATRONAGE LIE NAILED.

Roosevelt the Most Notorious Patronage User in History.

The hypocrisy of Theodore Roosevelt has not been better illustrated in this campaign than by his charge that President Taft has used federal patronage to secure his re-nomination.

No president of this country ever used patronage as did Theodore Roosevelt to secure his nomination in 1904.

He used it without stint to defeat his enemies in the campaign of 1908. In this campaign his own appointees, retained by President Taft, have, in answer to his call, worked against President Taft.

In Montana his campaign manager, Senator Joseph M. Dixon, has compelled every federal officeholder he can control to violate all civil service rules and the executive orders issued by President Roosevelt himself.

In Texas Cecil Lyon, the personal friend of Roosevelt, has coerced the federal officeholders to support Roosevelt and has demanded of them a "slush fund" to defeat Taft. Lyon recommended on his own admission, all but five of 5,000 officeholders in Texas. The state machines, under the control of the "Roosevelt governors," have been solidly aligned against Taft in seven states.

Senator Dixon, in a letter which the Taft managers now hold, has threatened to oppose in the senate the confirmation of federal officeholders who have expressed their preference for Taft. If this is not intimidation and indirect bribery, what is it?

"POPULAR DEMAND" OR MONEY—WHICH?

Cost of Roosevelt Boom Exceeds That of Last National Campaign.

The financial backers of Theodore Roosevelt have expended to date nearly $1,000,000 in an endeavor to reimburse the former president for a third term. How this money is used and where it comes from are of interest to all citizens.

In Oklahoma the charge has been made that the Roosevelt managers paid $75 a vote to delegates to conventions. This is the state where Mr. Roosevelt said there was a "genuine primary."

The same "crew" has since "worked" Kansas and Nebraska and is now in Arkansas, as witness the following telegram:

Roosevelt managers are using money under the guise of paying wages to workers, another name for bribery.

In Pennsylvania, instead of standing at the polls and handing each Roosevelt voter a five dollar bill, "due bills" were issued calling for this amount which were collected at headquarters when countersigned by the district leaders. It is estimated that $100,000 was expended in this manner. This would "reach" 20,000 voters.

In New York county the Roosevelt managers expended a quarter of a million dollars. One district leader paid $10,000 out of his own pocket in his own district on promise of reimbursement besides what headquarters sent him.

In Chicago two men contributed $7,000 for use in one district on primary day, and $200 was offered eight precinct captains to desert Taft.

Where is the money coming from?

George W. Perkins, director of the International Harvester company and of the United States Steel corporation, neither of which Theodore Roosevelt ever harmed, but on the contrary, defended as president and defends now is the "head of the barrel." Frank A. Munsey, a large holder of steel common stock, is a close second. In addition Clifford Pinchot, John H. Bass of New Hampshire, who ran the Roosevelt campaign in North Dakota; Governor Chase Osborne and Truman H. Newberry of Michigan; Clarence Dewey and Alexander H. Revell of Chicago; Thomas Niedringhaus and Walter Dickey of Missouri and a host of others in the Roosevelt fold are multimillionaires or multimillionaires.

Incidentally Theodore Roosevelt himself has made a million dollars since his return from Africa. He once said "no man could make a million dollars honestly in a lifetime."

That Theodore Roosevelt bantled down the tariff revision flag from the White House at the request of Senator Nelson W. Aldrich and Speaker Joseph G. Cannon.

That Theodore Roosevelt once said in a letter, "Can we antagonize the Morgan interests, which have always been so friendly to us?"

That the International Harvester company and the United States Steel corporation are "Morgan interests," that they are represented in the Roosevelt headquarters by George W. Perkins, the chief contributor to the Roosevelt campaign fund, and that Theodore Roosevelt has not mentioned any Morgan interest or friend of Morgan in this campaign except to defend it or him.

That Theodore Roosevelt refused, after he had ordered the suit filed, to permit the prosecution of the International Harvester company and that he reached this decision after a visit from George W. Perkins.

That Theodore Roosevelt refused, after he had ordered the suit filed, to permit the prosecution of the International Harvester company and that he reached this decision after a visit from George W. Perkins.

Good Oil Makes Good Paint.

THE most important part of any paint is the linseed oil. Without pure linseed oil, paint will, in a short time, dry up, scale off, and leave the lumber exposed to the action of the weather. The only way for the manufacturer to be sure of the quality and age of the linseed oil is to make it himself. Minnesota Paints are made from our own Minnesota Linseed Oil. This is what makes it better, as the linseed oil is never out of our control until it is sealed up in the can and shipped as Minnesota Paints. In Minnesota Linseed Oil we grade pure White Lead and XX New Jersey Zinc, the two best paint pigments known. The grinding and mixing is done with the latest improved heavy machinery by expert workmen, supervised by practical paint men whose experience has extended over forty years. Do you wonder that

In BALUCHISTAN

By M.L.C.C.

MODE OF TRAVELING IN THE DESERT

THE province of Baluchistan is divided for administrative purposes into what is termed Political Agencies. Of these there are five, named, respectively, Kalat, Quetta-Pishin, Zhob, Loralai Sibi and Chagal. The Chagal Agency has an area of some twenty thousand square miles, and is bounded on the north by Afghanistan and on the west by Persia. For the most part the country is wild and barren in the extreme; it possesses little cultivation and is inhabited by nomads who support life by pasturing their flocks of sheep, goats and camels. In which consist their only wealth. Chagal is subdivided into three districts, which are named Nushki, Chagal and the Western Sijistani country. The population of Nushki is mixed one of Brahmui and the Baluchi. The indigenous inhabitants of Nushki are Baluch; but some three or four generations ago a branch of the Mongol tribe migrated from near Kalat and settled in Nushki, which they made their headquarters. From thence they spread northward, eventually covering the larger portion of that stupendous sand waste which is known as the Registan of the country of Persia, where they sunk wells, some of which are close on three hundred feet deep. No white man has ever penetrated into the true Registan, and so little is known about it, but we do know that here are to be found sandhills larger than any others in the world. The word sandhill does not convey a proper meaning, as these are not hills, but mountains, and the belief which now obtains is that below the Registan lies a range of leaty hills, the tops of which are buried beneath hundreds of feet of sand. One of the photographs shows the southern edge of this sandy waste, and was taken from a point which lies about ten miles from the Afghan frontier. In summer the Registan is deserted, as the grass, which springs up in profusion in winter after the first shower of rain, withers away, and the heat is so intense that even the Brahmui, with his indifference to heat, cannot bear the fiery temperature which there reigns there supreme. As the summer makes itself felt, the pastoralists slowly withdraw, part moving north to the Helmand, where they await the time when the season will allow them to return to their haunts, and part moving south and crossing the frontier, pitching their goat-hair tents, or gerdas, as they are called, on the edge of the sands which are depicted, and wait until the hot weather passes. Terrible stories are told of the fate which has overtaken those who have been so rash as to attempt to cross the Registan in summer; and that these stories are true is shown by the fact that a party of Brahmuis, escaping from Kandahar in 1900, took the same route in the hope of avoiding pursuit, and out of some fifty people, all except two or three perished. The remains of these unfortunate were found, when the return of the cold weather permitted a search to be made, on the spot where they had fallen months before, some covered with sand which had drifted over them, and the rest in a circle huddled together just as they had waited for the death which they knew was coming, and which no doubt, was a happy release when it arrived. Weird sounds are heard in these sandy wastes. Perhaps the commonest is what is called by the inhabitants "Sittans drums." What appears to be the drumming of a muffled drum is heard in the distance. It may be approaching or it may be slowly going away. A search reveals nothing which can account for the sounds. Or it may be a man in picking his way cautiously along a ridge of sand when he is suddenly startled out of his senses by what was apparently the bang of a drum struck by someone only a few yards away. Let him search never so carefully, he will find nothing there. No satisfactory explanation of these sounds is forthcoming, but there is little doubt that they have their origin in the dryness of the atmosphere and the intense heat that prevails.

BALUCHI TRADERS TRAVELING ACROSS THE DESERT

In religion the inhabitants are Manomedans, but their predilection for shrines and for sacrificing sheep and goats at these latter on every occasion which arises, tends to show that their Manomedanism is of comparatively recent introduction. In many of their shrines will be found carefully-rouned stones, very similar to those so common in down-country Hindu temples, and which point to a religious connection that has not long been severed. They are wild, but, as might be expected, not fanatical. The affections are rarely their slaves; they pay sums which are very great physical exercise, yet prefer to spend their time half asleep watching their camels and sheep graze. For their wives they pay sums which plunge them into debt for years, and, indeed, sometimes until they have daughters of their own to dispose of in the matrimonial market. In accordance with Manomedan usage, plurality of wives is permissible, but few have the necessary amount of means to first purchase and afterwards maintain more than one wife. They are brave, and before Great Britain took over the country, which was only in 1846, they were much addicted to raiding. Each tribe has its own funds, and these have been in existence for generations. They pride themselves on the possession of especially the sword-blades, which are the fruits of successful forays into Persia. The blades are very curved, and the hilts of their swords are so small that a European cannot grasp them. In stature they are, as a rule, short, with small frames, but very wiry. To the English eye, perhaps the most striking characteristic is their custom of wearing their hair long. In the old days, when a man filled his field it was necessary to do so under a guard, but with English rule this has passed away.

BALUCH LEVIES CARRYING WATER

The further west one goes, and the further one gets from the center of Baluchistan and from its capital, Quetta, the less land is cultivated and the more marked become the nomadic propensities, until on the frontier itself tribes are met with who spend their time almost entirely in attacking their neighbors or defending themselves in turn from attack. In fact, their state is exactly what the state of the whole of Baluchistan was.

Success Under Difficulties

Cornelius Vanderbilt, From Boatman to Railway King.

May 1, 1810, Cornelius Vanderbilt, having imbibed a strong liking for the sea, asked his mother to lend him $100 to buy a boat. The mother said: "My son, on the 25th of this month you will be sixteen years old. If by that time you will plow, harrow and plant with corn the eight-acre lot which will advance the money." The little patch of ground on Staten Island where the Vanderbilt family lived was not large enough to support a family and Cornelius found work among the boatmen in New York harbor. But he wanted to have his own boat and to get the necessary money to start on his own hook he plowed and harrowed that rough and stony field, and that $100 laid the foundation of his famous fortune.

There were other boatmen in that harbor who wanted to be rich, but they were not willing to pay the price. While the other boatmen wasted their money in drink and their time in silly pleasures, Cornelius stayed on the job, and with one eye open, looking out for the main chance. He gave the first $300 he earned to his poor parents. While other boatmen were treating their customers to blows and getting trade, Cornelius built up a reputation for integrity among that crowd of poor people.

In 1815, now twenty-four years old, he owned three of the finest coasting ships in New York harbor and had a capital of $9,000. In his wife's his power for work was fully doubled. She determined to help him and the poorly accommodated travelers, so they opened a hotel in Elizabeth, N. J., where his wife did her full share in running the hotel. Think of it! The great-grandmother of one of the wealthiest families in the United States kept a transient boarding house in Elizabeth! But she needed to save only for a few years before she wore diamonds and other precious gems worth $100,000.

A boat was needed to accommodate the people of Albany, and soon his boats floated on the Hudson, the Delaware and Long Island Sound—then he established steamboats and other connections between New York and California, and by 1864 he was the owner or controller of nearly the whole water transportation in and about New York.

But the people wanted to travel faster. He saw his opportunity and acted on it. In 1864 he withdrew his capital from shipping and invested it in railroads—first the Harlem road, then the New Haven, then the Hudson River, then the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern—he helped them all until in 1877 he controlled stocks representing an aggregate capital of $150,000,000, of which he owned one-half. Everybody who benefited—farmers sent their produce to market cheaper, merchants secured lower rates, employees made larger wages and stockholders got larger dividends. In 1881 he presented the $800,000 steamship "Vanderbilt" to the government to be used for the capture of Confederate privateers. He founded and endowed Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn. He gave a church to Dr. Deems. He died January, 1877, eighty-three years old, the richest man of his day in America, his fortune being estimated at upwards of $100,000,000.—Madison C. Peters.

French Martial Enthusiasm.

Scenes of enthusiasm were witnessed in Paris one night recently, when, after twenty years, the military tattoos were revived by order of the minister of war. A few to consolidate the new patriotism in France. At 8:30 p. m. the band of the 102nd infantry regiment left the barracks and followed by cheering men and women, who cried "Long live the army." Henceforth there will be two tattoos in Paris every Saturday night.

The Ruling Passion.

Little Willie was an embryo electrician. Anything relating to his favorite study possessed absorbing interest for him. One day his mother appeared in a new gray gown, the jacket of which was trimmed in dark black buttons showing an outer circle of the light dress material. Willie studied the gown critically for a moment, then the light of strong approval dawned in his eyes. "What a pretty new dress! It's all trimmed in push buttons!"—Judge.

Easily Overcome by Counsel.

"The trouble is," said Wilkins as he talked the matter over with his counsel, "that in the excitement of the moment I admitted that I had been going too fast, and wasn't paying any attention to the road just before the collision. I'm afraid that admission is going to prove costly."

"Don't worry about that," said his lawyer. "I'll bring seven witnesses to testify that they wouldn't believe you under oath."—Harper's Weekly.

THE SECRET OF LONG LIFE.

Do not say the springs of life by neglect of the human mechanism, by allowing the accumulation of poisons in the system. An imitation of Nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous strength is to take an alternative glyceric extract (without alcohol) of Golden Seal and Oregon grape root, Bloodroot, Stone and Mandrake root with Cherrybark. Over 40 years ago Dr. Pierce gave to the public this remedy, which he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. He found it would help the blood in taking up the proper elements from food, help the liver to actively, thereby throwing out the poisons from the blood and vitalizing the whole system as well as astringent and soothing a cough.

No one ever takes cold unless constipated, or exhausted, or having what we call malnutrition, which is attended with impoverished blood and exhaustion of nerve force. The "Discovery" is an all-round tonic which restores tone to the blood, nerves and heart by inducing Nature's method of restoring waste of tissue, and feeding the nerves, heart and lungs on rich red blood.

"I suffered from pain under my right shoulder blade and a very severe cough," writes Mrs. V. Jones, of New Rochelle, N. Y., to Dr. E. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. "I had four different doctors and none did me any good. Some said I had consumption, others said I would have to have an operation. I was bedridden, unable to sit up for six months and was nothing but a live skeleton. You advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Laxative. When I had taken one bottle of the Discovery, I could sit up for an hour at a time, and when I had taken three bottles I could do my house and garden work. I took four bottles in all and my weight in good health. 32½ weight is now 167 pounds."
