Annual Election Held Tuesday

The local village election, Tuesday, was one of the most quiet held here in years. Very little interest was taken before hand, and it looked as if the caucus ticket would have no opposition.

Another ticket was put in the field, just before the polls opened, headed by Father Leo. It took everyone by complete surprise. Father Leo was out of town and the natural result was a small vote for his ticket, as it would be very doubtful if he would qualify, should he have been elected.

He was very surprised, upon his return to find that his name had been proposed as he has never had any inclination to enter politics.

The caucus ticket was elected, consisting of Paul Perkins, President; Henry Daley, Trustee for 3 years; Clark Pennington, Recorder; J. D. Boyle, Treasurer; Chas. Stephen, Justice of Peace; Chas. Beshel, Constable.

Delegates elected to the Republican county convention at Hinckley are: F. H. Lang, Otto Sobotta, W. S. McEachern, A. W. Gunn, Frank Pater, Roy Carlson, Chas. Stephen, Clint Boo and J. H. Woodrie.

Rock Creek town elected Victor Pater, supervisor for three years; John Lindgren, Clerk; John Erikson, Justice of Peace; W. V. Frider, Treasurer; Harry Mills, Constable; C. Smith, Ben Codd, Everett Akins, R. J. Van Dyke and Harry Mills were elected delegates to the Republican county convention.

Early Pioneer Called by Death

Patrick Buckley passed away at his farm home southwest of town Wednesday morning of this week. Mr. Buckley was born in Ireland and in 1847, coming to this country in 1866. He moved onto his farm west of town in 1880, being one of the oldest settlers in this region.

Funeral services will be held from the Catholic church tomorrow—Friday—morning at 10 o'clock.

A complete obituary will be published in next week's Pine Poker.

Many Receive Pensions

Minnesota has never questioned the debt to the man who answered its call in time of trouble. Even now the Gopher state is paying a debt of gratitude to those who aided it in the Indian Wars of 1862 and at the same time completing the payment of nearly $30,000,000 to those who answered the call in connection with the late World War.

It may not be generally known that Minnesota at the present time is paying a monthly pension to 215 residents of the state who participated in the Indian wars of 1862.

The law granting this pension was passed in 1905. It provides for a pension, of $12 a month, and only those suffering disabilities as a result of participating are eligible. Because of death due to the infirmities of old age the number of participants has been greatly reduced still each year registers eligibles.

This year two survivors with back pay of $1,448.00 and $1,574.00 respectively were added to the list. The high mark was in 1912 when nearly 450 survivors or their widows were aided.

Since the law went into effect the following annual Indian War pension payments have been made:

1905	$5,681.50
1906	40,700.83
1907	51,788.60
1908	56,438.66
1909	47,664.89
1910	60,910.49
1911	55,813.24
1912	66,267.66
1913	45,540.49
1914	50,202.14
1915	50,225.12
1916	48,948.85
1917	41,210.46
1918	37,488.40
1919	32,095.69
1920	31,327.60
Total	$705,800.94

County Receives School Money

The county's share of the March school apportionment, made public this week by the state department of education, is $14,250.30. The distribution is on the basis of $2.70 per pupil, with a total credit of $289 pupils for the county.

The apportionment of state school funds, warrants for which are now being prepared by R. P. Chase, state auditor, is the largest March apportionment in the history of the state. In all 401,532 pupils will participate and a total of $1,246,247.20 will soon be distributed by the various county treasurers among the school districts designated by the state department of education.

The present March apportionment exceeds by over $133,000 that of last year, at which time $1,112,600.00 was distributed. The allotment was on the basis of $2.50 per pupil with 456,542 pupils participating.

Distribution of state school funds is made in March and October of each year. This money is obtained by the imposition of a one mill tax and the income from the permanent school fund.

Rush City Mill Sold

The news that the Rush City Milling Co. had been sold to a Mr. Diefenbach of St. Paul for $35,000 was confirmed at Rush City where it was stated that Mr. Diefenbach's original offer of $25,000 was not accepted by the creditors of the Milling Co., which is now undergoing proceedings in bankruptcy, but that $35,000 which was agreed upon it was thought would be acceptable, although the deal had not been actually concluded. This includes the entire plant which is estimated to be worth between $185,000 and $210,000.

J. C. Carlson states that Mr. Diefenbach who has been manager for the St. Paul Milling Co. is a practical mill and handling in all at Red Wing. It is understood that Mr. Diefenbach will operate this mill independently and will make some valuable changes, increasing the capacity to 500 barrels. The machinery will be converted into its original method of grinding hard wheat, which is the most general for business. The Commercial Milling Co. with P. Hollis as local representative has had the mill under operation for several months past, on a lease—Rush City Post.

Community Prosperity

Among the primary forces that go to make the community; that hold it together and cause it to grow and prosper are its conveniences—its stores, shops, banks, etc.

The larger these institutions are the more they are made to contribute to the well-being of those who make up the community. Their growth demands patronage.

To those who want to live in a bigger, better and more prosperous community the answer is clear: Buy, bank and invest at home.

My Dog can Lick You're

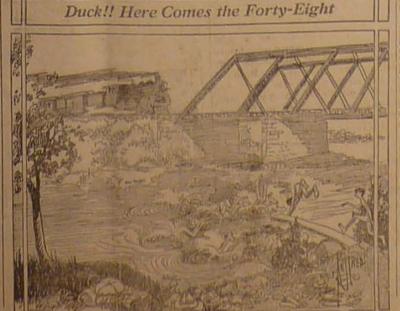

What kind of a dog has the most intelligence—a thoroughbred or a mixture? In "The Big Adventure" the Universal photo drama at the Family Theatre, Sunday matinee and night, Little "Breezy" Esson, the featured player, is supported by Mickey, his own dog, a cross between a bull-dog and a weasel.

The weasel part is not very definite, on his pedigree but he is a faithful old fellow and adds to the appeal of the picture by his obvious love for his little master.

Seven New Plant Wonders From Burbank

Seven wonders of the plant world are Luther Burbank's 1922 contributions to horticultural science. Topping the list as an agricultural innovation of importance is the "Opaline," an art that hails out like wheat when threshed and instead of weighing 40 pounds to the bushel, weighs 90. This result, Burbank explains, has been accomplished through the practical elimination of husk with incidental benefit to the grain itself. Some other "wonders" he lists as follows:

Peruvian winter grass, which can withstand frosts and produce an enormous amount of feed during the cold winter months, thus insuring green feed for cattle.

A mammoth flowering artichoke, with flowers as large as roses and several times as large.

A "prickly poppy" known as the Mariposa, which grows spines as does the cactus.

A Brazilian tomato-like fruit, with yellow, but bearing an orange-colored pulp which has much of the taste of the tomato.

A "super-sweet" corn of twelve-row variety, which Burbank declares to be the sweetest corn ever perfected.

Political Ten Commandments for Women

Mrs. John Hays Hammond, wife of the famous mining engineer and one of the leaders in the National Woman's Party, is out with a political decalogue for women. Her cardinal principle as expressed in her second commandment is that women should affiliate themselves with some party. Some of her commandments are:

1. Women must not remain in old ruts, but must press forward.
2. Party government is necessary to awaken responsibility and get things done. A free lance gets nowhere.
3. We must make organization a means to an end, and never an end in itself.
4. We should unite with all forces of good government to get rid of the evil in the world and not waste our energy scrapping over nonessentials.
5. Let us try to make our party right, then support it wholeheartedly.
6. We should give more time to the study of political questions and gain a little better historical background.
7. We must be good in our political and personal life if we would do good.

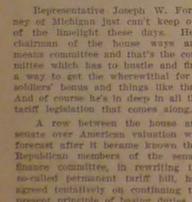

Woes of Bottomley of John Bull Fame

Americans presumably are not so nervous to any great extent over the troubles of Horatio Bottomley, independent member of parliament and former editor of a rabid anti-American weekly called John Bull. The way he used to abuse Uncle Sam and all things American was really quite nasty, 's' know.

Extraordinary allegations were made by Barbara Bigland against Bottomley. Bigland swore that in order to pay him $500 which he owed him, Bottomley arranged that the Shropshire Assize, Biglands was acquitted after the jury had been out a very few minutes. Bottomley has been tangled in a series of financial complications, including the "war stock combination" organized by John Bull, have got, and Bigland, a printer, circulated a pamphlet attacking the financial integrity of Bottomley.

American Valuation in the Tariff Bill

Representative Joseph W. Forney of Michigan just can't keep out of the lime light these days. He's chairman of the house ways and means committee and he's the committee which has to hustle and find a way to get the wherewithal for a soldiers' bonus and things like that. And of course he's in deep in all the tariff legislation that comes along.

A row between the house and senate over American valuation was forecast after it became known that Republican members of the senate finance committee, in rewriting the so-called permanent tariff bill, had agreed tentatively on continuing the present principle of basing duties on foreign market value.

Chairman Forney of the house ways and means committee, declared that if this kind of a tariff measure was passed by the senate, the house would vote a new bill with an American valuation clause and "let the senate try again." If this should happen, it was said there would be little prospect of a tariff bill at this session.

St. Paul—According to the report of the United States Geological Survey, Minnesota Co-operative Reporting Service, United States Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates and the Minnesota State Department of Agriculture, there were on Minnesota farms March 1, 1922, 60,582,000 bushels of corn, 6,322,000 bushels of wheat, 25,012,000 bushels of oats and 5,493,000 bushels of barley. The report shows that 34% of the 1921 corn crop was planted on farms. The two factors influencing this large reserve were the comparatively low price and the bumper crop of 1921, which was the largest ever produced. The corn reserves on farms March 1st last year were only 28% of the total crop, or 34,234,000 bushels. The per cent of the 1921 crop which was merchantable is very high this year, 93% compared with 89% one year ago. The reason given in the report is because practically all of the 1921 crop matured, and, therefore, could be classed as merchantable corn.

Stories of GREAT INDIANS

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

PHILIP OF POKANAGANT, CHIEF OF THE "RED MAN"

Should the apologist for the Indians try to justify the red man's cruelty by citing cases of white barbarity, he need only refer to the case of King Philip of Pokanagant, chief of the Wampanoags. When he was killed the colonists treated his body as though it were the carcass of a wild beast. They beheaded and quartered him. They exhibited the head on a gibbet at Plymouth for 20 years and kept it in the quarters on board. One of his limbs, mutilated by a burning pistol, was given to Alderman, his slayer.

King Philip (Matawomb) was the second son of friendly old Massasoit but had no love for the white men. He saw that unless their expansion was stopped the red man's doom was sealed. He was the first to lead the colonists against them. The colonists expected that he was preparing for war but he succeeded in deceiving them until June, 1675, when his warriors, contrary to his orders, attacked Swansea, Mass. Concomitant being no longer possible, Philip plunged into the conflict with savage fury. The next three months his warriors and their allies the Narragansets destroyed 12 of the 90 towns in New England.

The "Terror of New England" reached the peak of his career at the Battle of Bloody Brook near Deerfield where he killed 90 colonists. After that the star of the young hero faded. Wetamoo, his sister-in-law, the "Savage Saviour of Pocasset" who had led 300 warriors to the aid of King Philip, was killed by the colonists who cut off her head and set it up on a pole at Taunton, Mass. Then the white men said the young chief was sold into slavery in the West Indies. "My heart breaks now. I am glad to see you in the great chief's place like a hunted wild animal. One of his warriors, a young surgeon and Philip instantly killed him with one blow of his tomahawk. Alderman, Philip's brother, in mercy desisted to the field and offered to lead Captain Church to Philip's hiding place.

Make Every Meal A Perfect Feast

Tanlac Makes Each Bite a New Delight

WHEN your digestive system is working efficiently and smoothly, extracting from your food abundant stores of vital energy and filling up a reserve force of vigor to meet any emergency, every bite is eaten with keen zest and appreciation. If your meals are not a real event, if you do not approach the table with the most lively anticipation of its delights, then you are only half-living, because you are only half getting the value of your food.

Lack of appetite, or distress from indigestion, or stress from both due to the same cause—failure of the digestive system—to properly do its important work. The undigested food remains in the alimentary canal may merely cause a distaste for more food or it may take care of what it has, or it may undergo chemical and purification changes that cause acute disease.

Besides, these chemical changes produce poisonous substances that are carried to every cell and organ of the body and that cause all sorts of distressing symptoms.

Tanlac, the famous digestive tonic and body builder, has achieved its wide success because it is able to invigorate the entire digestive tract. It gets the stomach going for tomorrow preparation of the food, both through the muscular churning action of that organ and thorough ample secretion of digestive fluids. It then promotes energetic action of all the bowed muscles and glands and enables the food to pass through the digestive canal in the normal time. Each of the thousands of little glands whose duty it is to pick up nourishment from the food and send this to all parts of the body are stimulated to their utmost. The whole result is that food is taken care of without distress of any sort in such manner as to derive the utmost benefit from it.

If your appetite is not keen, if your food seems to disagree with you, if you are underweight, nervous, irritable and lack energy, give Tanlac the chance to show you that it can work a miracle

It's easy to chase any man you can get on the run.

Where Harems Were Cheap.

She—You refuse to buy me a single hat, and then you tell me that while you were in the Congo you had a harem of half a dozen wives. Oh! in a! How could you afford to pay for that?

He—The Returned Soldier—Oh, that was easy. When they wished to dress their simple suits in rags in their pocket—La Regiment.

Not Diplomatic.
"Why did you discharge her better?" "He boasted around that he had grown gray in her service."

CANONCHET, THE SACHEM OF THE NARRAGANSETTS

THEY had told Canonchet that he had died.

"I like it well" replied the old sache of the Narragansets, "I shall die before my heart is soft or I have said anything unworthy of myself."

Canonchet had good reason to hate the English. They had taken his father's life and turned him over to his enemies, the Mohegans, who had tortured Miantinno to death. When King Philip formed his confederates for the English, Canonchet was sympathetic to the Wampanoags' cause, but he did not join them. The colonists suspected him, however, and demanded that he sign a treaty agreeing to give up his arms.

"Deliver the Indians of Philip's power," was the chief's indignant reply. "No Wampanoag will I ever give up—no, not the paring of a Wampanoag's nail!"

So the colonists sent an army against Canonchet and on December 19, 1675, it struck the Narragansets at the battle of Muddy Brook. The English were second only to that of King Philip as a word of terror in New England.

Finally in April 1676, he was captured. The English offered him his life if he would help them against the hostile Indians, a proposal which was met with haughty silence and an indignation flash in his eyes. Next they demanded that he sign a treaty and orders to his people to make peace.

"It is an sache's" declared Canonchet proudly. "You have no right to demand that I should sign a treaty, so I will not sign it."

If you do not accept the terms offered, he would not be put to death," he was told. "I would rather die than remain a prisoner," replied Canonchet, broke on Ureca's back.

His father killed my father. Let him kill me.

His request was denied. They took him in triumph to Stonington, Conn. As a reward to the friendly Indians, Canonchet was to be put to death; but the Mohegans to behold him and the Narragansets to burn him. As a result the Mohegans presented his head to the English court at Hartford.

At the court of the Great Heart came to the end of the trail.

First Version of English Bible.
The first complete version of the English Bible was that of Miles Coverdale, in 1535. It was based on the Swiss-German version published at Zurich in 1524-26. In it the Jews have a very prominent part, attributed to Mytilus, but the apostles also can be identified as the work of the Jews. The translation of the Old Testament and the Apocrypha is the work of Nicholas de Lesclapart, who translated the New Testament by William Tyndale, appeared at Witten in 1525.

As a special inducement to buy a range during the demonstration of the Great Majestic Range at the store of W. A. Sauser next week, every purchaser of one of these famous ranges gets his choice of two fine cooking sets free. We have a presentiment that there are going to be many fine new Majestic Ranges in the kitchens of our neighbors and friends before the week is over. The temptation to own a Majestic is irresistible when one learns the facts about Great Majestic in its relations to economy in the home; many will find themselves saying it's no use to put up with an old range any longer.

Theatre Notes

Friday and Saturday, Harry Carey in "If Only Jim." The Spitty Snarl of an Automatic drilled a blasting hole in the darkness and the forces of evil went into action against one good man and a kid. On the same bill a two reel comedy "A Dallas Worth." Extra Saturday night solo "Out Where the West Begins."

Sunday, That wonderful Boy Breezy Eason in "The Big Adventure." He was a war hero, little of the wretched slums; raged and hungry for both food and love. Along the railroad tracks he tramped, picking up a coat that fell from the car and jumping for his life as the screeching monsters of steel rumbled down upon him in the yards. Also a comedy, "Rabbing It In" and Fox News.

Tuesday, Earl Williams in "A Master Stroke" and he solves them in the most natural manner. He does the thing you would have done if you had the nerve and he gets away with it. Joe Ryan in "The Purple Riders."

Methodist Church Notes
James A. Orrock, pastor

From now until Easter Sunday will have special evangelistic services every evening except Saturday. All week night services will begin at 8:00.

Twenty minute song service, using the new books at the opening of each service.

Is there any good reason that you can give your own heart why you are not a Christian?

Is there any good thing that you would lose by being a Christian? Is there anything you wish that you will gain by not being one? Think it over and spend some of your evenings with us.

Presbyterian Church Notes
T. J. Buckton, pastor

I want to sell this church. I have not talked with our trustees about this, or the members of session. I haven't consulted with any of our officers, while the cooperation must be had in any project, but I want to sell this church. I want to do that more than anything else. I know, in fact as I understand my calling that is my chief business. I am not thinking in terms of buildings and grounds but in terms of spiritual service. I am not anxious to sell the property, but to sell the ministry. I am not selling the heritage of the real estate man when I want to sell this church. I am using the language of the representative of a great industrial concern. I want to sell what this church has. Now if I were the head of a great business concern, before going into detailed discussion of sales, I should want to take stock. I should like to get to my subordinate, the task of estimating and selling at the best condition of supplies, when being storage, transportation, warehousing, insurance and depreciation. As a church, are we reaching the needs? Are we losing converts? What are we doing to get them back? Are we delivering the goods? Are we really living up to what we have pledged ourselves to do in this community?

Gasoline for an Empire

THE eleven states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an empire in area, wealth, population, and industrial activities. It constitutes the largest and most important market for petroleum products on the American continent.

To win such a market, to gain the confidence, and enjoy the respect of this buying public is a task worth while.

To achieve this objective, to merit the confidence of its patrons, and to be prepared at all times to serve them, has been for many years the dominating idea of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). To make its service more comprehensive it manufactures special grades of its products to meet special requirements.

For example, take gasoline. Under this general head come fifteen different products, each made with scientific precision to meet a specific, well-defined need.

For the motorist the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) makes Red Crown Gasoline. This product is made for the sole purpose of generating power in the modern internal combustion engine. It has a chain of boiling point fractions carefully adjusted and graduated with scientific exactness to enable you to get from your engine all the power it is capable of. In attacking the problem of supplying motor gasoline for 30 million people these main points were considered—

First—Quality: The gasoline must function perfectly; to do this nothing short of scientific precision is sufficient.

Second—Quantity: To meet the ever-growing demands for motor fuel, the yield of gasoline must be great if the cost is to be kept down.

Third—Distribution: To make it easy for the consumer, wherever he may live, to secure 1 gallon or 1000 gallons of gasoline, whenever he may need it.

In Red Crown Gasoline is symbolized the ideals summing the Board of Directors of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Red Crown is highly efficient—it is produced in large quantities, and sold at a price that is fair to all.

Red Crown has achieved leadership by rendering a maximum of satisfaction to the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has become a leader in the industry by rendering a definite, positive, essential service.

It is by such standards that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) measures its usefulness, and by maintaining such standards it intends to continue this leadership by meriting the confidence and respect of the public it serves.

To our esteemed brethren of the Press, county district and state, we desire to express our sincere appreciation for the very generous and commendatory editorial mention of our candidacy for Clerk of the Supreme Court. Said candidacy is running on high a veritable brand new Ford, full of pep, gas and oil and well chauffered. If the convention exercises the same degree of political acumen, perspicacity and regard for personal beauty as evinced and reflected in the press, the choice will be unanimous. —Willow River Farmer.

School Notes

Leslie Tate started school this week. He had been attending school in the country up until now. Miss Mildred Carlson has been absent from school the last few days on account of sickness.

A St. Patrick's Day program is being worked up. Mr. Roberts has charge of the arrangements.

Bill Johnson has been out of school this week. His injured knee is not healing very fast and he is having lots of trouble with it.

The high water this spring seems to be a second heaven for the kids at the grade building. Morning, noon and night the gang is on hand to keep dishes open and the sewer lead running. Needless to say everybody has wet feet.

A Senior class meeting was held Tuesday after school. The matter of class motto, colors, flowers, etc. was decided upon. The date of the Senior Class Play has not as yet been definitely set, but the middle of April seems to be the favored time.
