

The BILLS

Pertinent Pointers for Practical Farmers

Prepared by the Agricultural Department, University of Minnesota

TUBERCULOSIS BULLETIN HAS BEEN ISSUED

Poultry is Subject to the White Plague—How to Control.

An 18-page, finely illustrated bulletin on tuberculosis of poultry has just been issued by the agricultural extension division of the university. Dr. W. A. Billings, who has made a special study for years of poultry diseases, is the author. The bulletin explains the causes and symptoms of tuberculosis, how the disease spreads, how it may be distinguished from other diseases, and what should be done to control and eradicate it. Dr. Billings emphasizes the importance of prevention and says it is useless to treat tuberculous birds with any medicine or tonic. Once a bird has become infected, there is no cure, and all efforts should be directed towards preventing healthy ones from contracting the disease.

If the presence of the disease in the flock is advised that a sick or dead bird should be sent to the veterinary division, University Farm, St. Paul for examination.

There are three ways in which the disease may be eradicated, he finds. If the flock is small and of no great value, and if several birds have died or are infected, it would probably be best to destroy the entire flock and start over again. If the flock is large or valuable, eradication may be attempted by means of physical examination without destroying the entire flock. This method requires the utmost care and attention to the smallest details for its success. The tuberculin test forms the third method and may be applied to a flock that is valuable from a breeding standpoint. The first method has been found the most successful.

If it is found advisable to destroy the whole flock, the birds should be carefully examined and those free from extensive lesions may be used for food. Before beginning anew, see that the house is well scrubbed out with soap and hot water and then thoroughly disinfected with a five per cent solution of a caustic disinfectant. If the floor is dirty, remove about six inches and bury it. Resurface with fresh clean soil. If the floor is well made of either concrete, tile or wood, clean and soak with disinfectant. If the floor is made of mud material and hard to clean, lay a new one over the old. Turn over the soil in the runs. Boil all the drinking cups and clean the other utensils. When this is well done and a few weeks have passed procure new birds being careful to get them a block free from disease.

If the second method is used the birds must be carefully examined by hand. Examine for patches of comb and wattles. Examine breasts with the hand for lumps and lack of muscularity, the liver for enlargement, and the joints for enlargement or lameness. At the same time clean up the house and disinfect. Do not allow the young birds to run with the older ones for they are easily infected. After the first general washing out wash the other birds and remove suspects as soon as they appear, and keep them isolated. If they develop further symptoms kill them at once and burn the carcasses.

The third method given by Dr. Billings is the application of the tuberculin test to the whole flock and the removal and destruction of those which react.

None of your neighbors can tell you how to sell out the low producers from your flock. About one in four is a loser, and this is the time of year when anyone tried to pick them out can do so easily.

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

wonderful for the whole family

Nature rebels against heavy foods in warm weather. Much illness in summer is caused by overtaxing the stomach. Change your diet—and keep snappy in mind and muscle!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes with cold milk and fresh fruit are wonderful for the hot days—for breakfast, for lunch, for supper or for "snacks." They digest without taxing the stomach and supply the nourishment the body needs.

For children, for the workers and for the aged there is no more delicious, sustaining summer food than Kellogg's Corn Flakes.

The responsible exuberance of the boys has in many families created almost startling relations. Mothers feel that their girls have broken away from customary restraints, and are dressed and adorned in the free ways they regard as the latest fashion. They regard these tendencies as sharply, and the girls feel personally hurt and are provoked by the mother's point of view.

Many people that these girls are almost entirely ignorant of the freedom of the streets, that they are permitted to roam around at night in questionable company when they should be strictly guarded.

It is an especially difficult thing to make any headway against the customs prevailing in the community at a given time. If all the girls are doing a thing, a conscientious parent has great difficulty in attempting to restrain her daughter to abstain from it. The young crowd often seems to ignore to obtain certain pleasures and they continue to attend their parties.

Miss A. tells her mother that Miss B. is allowed to do a certain thing and Miss C. tells her mother that Miss A. does the same thing. Miss A. may be opposed to this practice, yet each asserts that the other family allows it. The girls are frequently too clever for their parents.

In some past many women have met these extremes by frequent communications over the telephone which should prevail in their families.

A certain group, intimately associated in social life would agree that their young people ought to do this and so, and they would enforce that standard, and the young crowd would acquiesce with entire content, because the others were doing it.

Many of the flapper eccentricities of these days could be handled all right if the mothers acted more in concert, and laid down principles of conduct for their daughters to follow.

How Petroleum Helps Fill the Nation's Bread-basket

FEW of those who consume farm products realize the extent to which the price of such commodities is affected by automotive machinery.

The fact that the cost of field work is reduced by the use of tractors is well known. The fact that the farmer's time is conserved by the use of automobiles is a matter of common knowledge.

Now comes the National Automobile Association in its Year Book of 1922 with the statement that the cost of hauling products in horse-driven wagons from the farm to shipping points averages 30c per ton mile for wheat and 35c for corn, while over the same roads the cost of hauling by motor truck is only 15c per ton mile.

That the intelligent farmer in the 10 states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) realizes the efficiency of power transportation is shown by the fact that he owns and operates 1,112,203 automobiles and 46,582 motor trucks. These are distributed as follows:

	Motor Cars	Motor Trucks
On Farms	102,122	3,671
Indiana	129,090	6,154
Michigan	82,437	4,886
Wisconsin	98,825	4,064
Minnesota	107,824	3,803
Iowa	177,558	9,910
Missouri	86,229	5,059
North Dakota	47,711	774
South Dakota	58,352	4,353
Kansas	111,052	3,928

These cars and trucks can be operated on the same basis as similar equipment in towns and cities because the Standard Oil Company, (Indiana) through its vast distribution system delivers its products into the farmer's storage tank under the same conditions as to the city dweller having similar equipment.

In thus rendering a service to the farmer this Company renders a service to every individual who consumes farm products.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Powers of Stillwater visited over the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Karsky at Harris and family of Cloverton spent Sunday at the Karsky home also.

Joe Bouhking and family of east of town, visited with his sister, Mrs. Frank Karsky, John Karsky and wife, and meta Chas. Karsky of Caineville, Mo., who is here visiting, accompanied them to Da uth and Superior Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pofel and children, James, Loraine and Raymond, and Miss Josephine Shannon returned home last Friday night after a weeks visit with friends and relatives at St. Paul, New Prague and other points.

Mrs. White left for St. Paul, last Sunday, after a few days visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Tate. Mrs. Tate and son Leslie, accompanied her to the city and returned today with her mother, Mrs. Wescott, who came up for a visit at the Tate home.

Frank Bukachek and Pete Holmes are busy this week, putting in a cement sidewalk adjoining the Grandma Piper property, which will join the walk in front of the Borg home. Mr. Bukachek also plans on putting in a walk on the east side of his property.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kinney, who have been visiting at the W. P. Gottry home, left yesterday on their return trip to their home in Seattle, Washington. Clarence Gottry and Dea Greenley will accompany them to Seattle where they plan on spending the winter. The boys will make the trip in Clarence's car. Lieutenant Commander Robert Wilcox left for Duluth last Saturday on the early morning train and expected to leave on the naval cruise the following day, but the ship was tied up on account of boiler trouble and they leave on their cruise today. He will be gone two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boyle left for their home in Canada on Wednesday of last week after a few days visit at the home of his brother, J. D. Boyle. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyle of Clark, S. D., and Mr. and Mrs. George Boyle and daughter of Mitchell, S. D., drove up last Thursday for a short visit at the home of their brother, J. D. Boyle.

Lester Wilcox and Bill Johnson returned home Sunday from the usual cruise on the Great Lakes, Ed Sommers and John Corrigan, who were also on the cruise, remained in Duluth. The boys had an opportunity to take in the "pageant of Progress" in Chicago. Three other battalions and their commanders, and the Paducah, which the local boys were on, took part in the maneuvers near Chicago. Ed Challenor, who has been in Chicago the past two while they were there.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Perkins of Verdala, visited at the Wm. Albrecht home last week, and with other friends here. Mr. Perkins is cashier of a bank at Verdala and has been very successful in the banking business, since leaving Pine City. He was formerly assistant cashier in the Farmers and Merchants State Bank, before it changed hands.

Rev. Orrock went to Cass Lake last week to have some dental work done by a friend there. Shortly after his arrival there, he was taken seriously ill by poison from his teeth through his system, and it was feared that it might prove fatal. Latest reports state he is much better and on the road to recovery. There was a rumor here Monday that he had succumbed to the illness, but it was false.

Jesse Foot, city Comptroller of St. Paul, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting at the Wm. Albrecht summer home on Cross Lake. Mr. Foot was very much taken with Pine City, and the fine opportunity for boating, bathing and fishing on the lake. He was down town Saturday evening to hear the band concert, and couldn't hardly believe that the crowd in town that evening was but the usual Saturday night crowd in to hear the band. He was liberal in his praise of the band, and was of the opinion that Pine City was quite a little metropolitan. Mr. and Mrs. F. Zanley and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Morton of St. Paul, were also in the week end home party at Cross Lake. Miss Helen Palalay who spent last week visiting Miss Alma, returned to St. Paul with her parents the first of the week.

The reorganized Pine City ball team played the Brook Park team on the local grounds last Sunday, and defeated the Parkers by the score of 12 to 13. There was something doing throughout the game with one team ahead and then the other. In the ninth inning the visitors obtained a one run lead and was leading by a score of 11 to 12 when Pine City came in for their turn at bat. The first three men up were able to get on base and with the bases loaded, Bieferman, who swings a wicked club, advanced toward the home plate. We don't know what Manager Stuehl whispered in his ear before Art stepped to the plate to catch the ball, but nevertheless when the first ball pitched to him came floating up to him he laid one out into left field which gave him a two to one lead around the bases. Officially the hit went for only two bases as when the second man scored the game was won and Art was left standing on second base, otherwise it was the prettiest homer seen on the local grounds in many seasons.

George and John Sogue were driving home, last Thursday noon, when a car ran into them and turned their car upside down. They had just turned east off the state road at the school house, when they heard a "Zam" and the next thing they saw, their fliwer was looping the loop in the air. When they landed the car was bottom side up and the boys were underneath. John was quite badly hurt and was in bed until yesterday. The cord on one of his legs was cut, and he was badly bruised and skinned. George escaped minus a few bruises and skin. The Bogue car was completely off the state road, and the approaching car took the left hand side of the road, and was about six inches off the gravel. The car was occupied by B. Christopher and family. He is a Minneapolis policeman. His son, about 15 years old, was driving. He admitted they were going about 35 miles an hour, and George says they were going about 50. They just caught the rear end of the Bogue car, tore off the two wheels, gouged the back, bent his tire carrier, upset the car, smashed the top to smithereens, busied the windshield broke the steering wheel, and in fact it wasn't a Ford, the car would be a total wreck. The only excuse the Minneapolis "Cop" had was that George didn't hold out his hand when he turned. As George was completely off the road, he was keeping his hands on the wheel. The speeding car was evidently chugging over on the left hand side of the road, looking for waving hands, and didn't see the Bogue automobile. He seemed to feel hurt to think that anyone was in his way, even if he was trying to cover two or three miles at the same time. He evidently thought he was in Minneapolis where policemen have the right of way, and the rest of the crowd takes to the tail timbers when they go turning up the street. Anyway, George says somebody is going to pay for the damage, and it's not going to be him.

ON July 29, 1922, the lowest prices ever quoted on U.S. Passenger Car Tires went into effect—Royal Cord into effect—Royal Cord into effect.

These new prices should give confidence to dealers and car owners that no lower basis of quality tire prices will prevail.
