

EAST OPENS PEACE PARLEY

Italy Holds Whip Hand as Conference Gets Under Way in Lausanne.

Paris—Janet Pasha, chief Turkish delegate at Lausanne, has been instructed by the Ankara assembly positively not to yield on the former terms of capitulations. Venizelos sat inscrutably under the accusations of Janet Pasha, that the Greek army, without justification, had systematically devastated the Turkish countryside and made a million innocent Turks homeless.

Lausanne—The Allies announced they will control all press messages sent from Lausanne about the Turkish peace parley.

Peace parley will be read by a bureau especially established for this purpose, the conference has resorted to the methods of secret diplomacy. While the first meeting of the conference was public, the other sessions will be held in secret.

Dr. H. Haub, vice-president of Switzerland, opened the first session of the conference.

Former minister of Italy, showed every intention of playing the leading role at the Lausanne peace conference. After forcing Premier Poincaré and Venizelos, British foreign minister, to go to Termini to consult with the British minister, Mr. D'Almeida, he in the parley will settle the fate of the near east, Italy's "black skirt" prime minister resumed his conversation with the British and French statesmen.

The delegations are lined up in two opposed camps for despite the efforts to reason divergent views, the British and French are battling to decide which national will establish supremacy in the near east.

KLAN TERROR TO LOUISIANA

Parker Asks President's Co-operation in Curbing K. K. K.

Washington—President Harding and Attorney General H. C. Sawyer assured Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana that whenever federal aid is available to suppress the activities of the Ku Klux Klan in Louisiana, the federal government will extend full cooperation. For the first time, a Louisiana fully aware of the extent of the situation, a statement by the president and Sawyer, issued after a conference with Governor Parker, declared.

Alleged domination by the Ku Klux Klan of civil affairs in certain parts of Louisiana and steps to combat this reported condition were discussed. Both the White House and the attorney general declined to make any statements in advance of the conference, but it was learned on reliable authority that the federal government believes the Ku Klux Klan has gained control of civil affairs in certain counties of the state and desires the assistance of the federal government in this regard to its commonwealth.

MISSIONARIES FREE IN WEEK

Chinese Foreign Minister Confirms They Will Be Released Soon

Peking—The American legation here is without any further news from the three American missionaries captured by Hunan bandits at different times within the past two weeks. The three captives are all connected with the Lutheran mission. The bandits also are holding a 20-year-old boy, beside a number of missionaries of other nationalities.

All the bandit prisoners have been permitted to communicate with their families and when last heard from were unharmed.

The foreign office asked the cabinet to send an expedition into Hunan province to assist with the bandits for the release of their captives.

K. Wellington Koo, foreign minister, declared he was confident the kidnapped foreigners would be freed within a week.

Bede Address Drew Crowd

J. Adam Bede of Pine City Made an Address at Granbyburg Recently, which According to Reports was Part of the Meeting from the Granbyburg paper, made a decided hit.

The lecture by ex-congressman J. Adam Bede, of C. M. E. church, Granbyburg, Minn., on "The Wake of the World" was among the best ever given in the village. Mr. Bede is a speaker of great experience on the political platform and a charming orator. His own philosophy and natural humor make his lectures entertaining, but without being instructive. Throughout the speaker's home Wednesday evening he carried the thought that the American nation must stand shoulder to shoulder in the solution of its problems, must eliminate racial, class and individual hatreds and recognize the plain rights of each other. He dwelt with emphasis on the responsibility of parents towards their children, stating that responsibility is to be greater under recent civilization than it was fifty or seventy-five years ago. Unless this parental responsibility is recognized, and the role of fairness and justice, one to another, is applied in the future, civilization will go to the dust, was the underlying thought of the lecture. A packed house listened to the speaker's message.

Is a Wonderful Picture

Remember the day you left home, and the moment of parting came, how your mother looked into your eyes—and that she never spoke the words aloud, you could feel the picture cry in her heart saying: "My boy, my boy, don't go!"

Remember how you resolved to come back and see her? Remember how you determined to smother your love to fame and fortune so that your home coming would bring her great happiness?

How many fathers have held "That boy" in long unexpressed embrace at the moment of parting? You'll love the "wonder" patient little mother. You'll shed a few tears and a thick lump will stick in your throat when you see what response to Gary and his mother the picture beautiful—"Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" as is shown on Thursday and Friday evenings. We ask you to bring it to the family theatre. We guarantee you to please you or your money back.

Bill Bantleon Gets Moose

Pine City's "big-game" hunter Bill Bantleon, came into his own this year, and returned home with an annual hunting trip with an excellent specimen of the Moose for which was the ambition of all other hunters.

The moose weighs about 1200 pounds, and has a spread of 50 inches between the horns. Bill's trophy is in the museum with the walls decorated with pictures depicting some of his famous hunts, and the head of his latest capture.

This is the only moose that has been brought home by Pine City hunters, that we know of, and the only one reported killed in the Cramer region this season.

Bill Bantleon and "Dad" Scudler spent the past two weeks hunting near Cramer and returned home last Tuesday evening. Mr. Scudler was not so fortunate as Bill, and did not get his usual venison. Bill shot his moose about five miles from camp and he was five days packing the meat in.

David R. Davis Dies

David R. Davis passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. L. Wiseman, last Saturday. He took to his bed about two or three weeks ago, and his health gradually failed since then. Although troubled with cancer the past few years, he had been quite active and despite failing health, his death was not expected.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. John Lowe from the Wiseman home last Monday afternoon. The pall bearers were R. P. Allen, Carl Holmberg, N. Perkins, H. N. Turner, J. A. Peterson and J. D. Boyle. The body was taken to St. Paul Tuesday by Elmer Carrier of the Pine Undertaking Co., who made the trip with the hearse, and laid to rest beside his wife in a St. Paul cemetery. Dr. and Mrs. Wiseman accompanied the remains to their last resting place.

The deceased was born in New York July 14, 1865. He made his home in St. Paul for a number of years, where he was a Shortly member and eventually, he came to Pine City and has made his home with his daughter the past 13 years. He was a member of the local Methodist church, and the Women's lodge. Mrs. Wiseman is the only child.

Pythian Knights ASKS RELIEF FOR FARMERS

President Urges Federal Aid For Merchant Marine.

Washington—President Harding, addressing a joint session of congress, urged the enactment of legislation which would give more aid to the American farmer.

His plea in behalf of agricultural relief was made in his message calling upon congress for passage of the administration merchant marine bill which will provide government aid for American ships.

"Already this congress and the administration branch of the government have given willing ear to the agricultural plea for postwar relief, and much has been done which has proven helpful. Admittedly it is not enough. Our credit systems, our tariff systems, and our control must be promptly and safely broadened to relieve our agricultural distress."

"The president declared it was necessary to pass the ship bill in order to relieve the government of present staggering indebtedness, and to establish a program of assured shipping to serve the nation in war and give a measure of economic independence in time of peace."

JOHN BARLEYCORN NEXT

"When is Liquor Intoxicating?" to Be Question of Commission.

Washington—John Barleycorn, fresh from his victories in the election, stepped boldly forward to the front rank of legislative measures designed to restrict the sale of liquor when it reconvened.

Senator S. P. Spencer, Missouri, announced that within the next week a scientific commission to investigate and decide the much debated question, "When is liquor intoxicating?"

The commission would have the duty of determining whether 2 1/2 per cent beer is intoxicating and what percentage of alcohol does produce intoxicating liquor. The recommendations of the commission would be used as a basis for liberalizing the enforcement act if it is found that light wine and beer are not intoxicating.

Gust Luckow and George Rohl returned from a hunting trip last Tuesday night with their share of venison. Gust had taken a party up a week or more ago. On the return trip his truck slid over a rise of ground on the state road near Guston and turned over. The two men were unable to get out of the cab of the truck but fortunately were uninjured. The damage to the car was a broken pane of glass in the cab. With the assistance of Mr. Bankson and Mr. Seefeld, who were traveling behind him, and a few passing autoists, the truck was righted and hauled back onto the roadway, and the boys proceeded on their way home.

Why the Standard Oil Company's Business Is Successful

(Indiana)

CONSUMERS buy petroleum products from the Company which serves them best. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has succeeded notably because it has given notable service.

The desire to render maximum service to the community has actuated this Company in every one of its undertakings over a long period of years. Proof that the service is being adequately rendered lies in the Company's sales sheets.

Lines of efficiency radiate from the Board of Directors through every department of the organization to the ultimate consumer.

First on the efficiency chart comes quality of product. To maintain this quality there has been organized modern laboratories where every product is chemically tested for the service it is designed to render. High quality once achieved is made a standard from which deviation is never permitted.

Sales and distribution also are organized to produce maximum results at minimum expense. This assures the consumer a dependable supply, and it guarantees that when he buys a Standard Oil Company (Indiana) product he is paying only a fair and equitable price for which he receives full value.

Every factor entering into the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) business, from the purchase of crude, its transportation to the Company's refineries, its manufacture into a large number of useful products, its distribution through an intricate network of main and sub-storage depots, tank wagons, and service stations, is developed with a single eye to serving the public.

Experience has proved that the most profitable business accrues to that organization which serves the public best.
