

$100,000 PEACE PLAN PRIZE AWARDED

Advocates Entering World Court and Cooperation with League Without Full Membership at Present—Suggests League Membership Be Opened to All Nations and Provides for Development of International Law.

The American Peace Award brought forth 22,165 plans and many thousands of letters. Since many of the plans were the composite work of organizations, universities, etc., a single plan often represented the views of hundreds or thousands of individuals.

These plans come from every part of the American life. Some are obviously the product of history and some are the product of the future.

But among them all are these dominant currents, that it is not to be set to be prevented, there must be a face about the part of the nations in their attitude toward it, that some progressive agreement in the manufacture and purchase of the munitions of war must be limited or stopped, that while no political machine alone will insure cooperation among the nations, there must be some machinery of cooperation if the will to cooperate is to be made effective.

It is the unanimous hope of the Jury that the first fruit of the mutual confidence of war must be limited or stopped, that while no political machine alone will insure cooperation among the nations, there must be some machinery of cooperation if the will to cooperate is to be made effective.

The Jury of Award realizes that there is no one approach to world peace, and that it is necessary to recognize not merely political but also psychological and economic factors.

Statement of Jury of Award. The Jury of Award realizes that there is no one approach to world peace, and that it is necessary to recognize not merely political but also psychological and economic factors.

I. ENTER THE PERMANENT COURT. That the United States adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice for the reasons and under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

II. COOPERATE WITH THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS, WITHOUT FULL MEMBERSHIP AT PRESENT. That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States Government should extend its present cooperation with the League and promote participation in the work of its Assembly and Council under the following conditions and reservations:

1. The United States accept the League of Nations as an instrument of mutual confidence, but it will assume no obligation to interfere with political questions of policy or internal administration of any foreign state.

2. In utilizing its efforts with those of other States for the preservation of peace and the promotion of the common welfare, the United States insist upon the safeguarding of the Monroe Doctrine and the principle of American independence of the Old World and do not consent to submit its long established policy concerning questions regarded by it as purely American to the recommendation or decision of other Powers.

3. That the only kind of compulsion which nations can freely engage in apply to each other in the name of Peace is that which arises from conference, from mutual agreement, from full publicity, and from the power of public opinion.

4. The United States would assume no obligations under Article X of its present form, or under Article XVI of its present form in the event, or in its amended form as now proposed, unless in particular case Congress has authorized such action.

5. The United States propose that Articles X and XVI be either dropped altogether or so amended and changed as to eliminate any suggestion of a general agreement to use coercion for obtaining conformity to the League of Nations.

6. No Obligations Under Versailles Treaty. The United States will accept no responsibilities under the treaty of Versailles unless in any particular case Congress has authorized such action.

7. League Open to All Nations. The United States Government proposes that Article of the Covenant be amended and applied to all necessary nations, so that admission to the League shall be assured to any self-governing state that wishes to join and that receives the favorable vote of two-thirds of the Assembly.

8. Development of International Law. As a condition of its participation in the work and councils of the League, the United States asks that the Assembly and Council be empowered to initiate collaboration for the revision and development of international law, employing for this purpose the aid of a commission of jurists. This Commission would be directed to formulate a new set of rules of the law of nations, to reconcile divergent opinions, to coordinate existing international practice, and to suggest to the League the social rights and duties of States. The recommendations of the Commission would be presented from time to time, in proper form for consideration, to the Assembly as to recommending it or not a law making body.

9. Name Not to Be Revealed Until After Referendum. A letter that the vote may be taken only upon the merits of the plan. Policy Committee, with the assistance of Mr. Bok, has decided to disclose the substance of the plan after the referendum. It is understood to the members of the Jury of Award that the plan, in fact, except one delegate, JOHN W. DAVIS, LEARNED HAND.

Do you approve the winning plan in substance? (Put an X in the proper box) Yes [] No []

Ottocar Sobotka New Postmaster

A Washington dispatch to the Minneapolis Tribune announces that Ottocar Sobotka has been nominated for postmaster at Pine City. His name with others appointed will be sent to the senate for confirmation in the very near future. It is probable that he will take over his duties the first of the month although no official information has been received as far as we know. Mr. Sobotka could not be reached as he is attending Federal court in Duluth this week.

Mr. Sobotka came to Pine City about 16 years ago when he opened a law office here and has practiced law here since that time. He is a graduate of the state university. During his long residence here he has built up an extensive practice and acquaintanceship and his many friends will join with the Piker in congratulations on his appointment.

J. M. Collins, retiring postmaster, has held the office for a little over eight years—two terms—and during his tenure in office has rendered excellent service to the public that is undecided as to his future plans.

"Champ" Fisherman of Week

Ted Bussmeier has a fish on display in front of his store which he and Ole Brekke speared in Cross Lake this week. It is a Muskellunge weighing close to 21 pounds and it is reported the largest fish of its kind ever taken from the lake.

Ted speared the fish in one of the fish houses near the Brekke cottage. He put up an awful battle and it took the combined efforts of both Ted and Ole to take it from the water.

Open Dry Cleaning Business

Clarence and DeWitt Guttry have opened a dry cleaning and pressing establishment in the room over the laundry. They plan later on getting a location on the ground floor in some business building.

There is an excellent opening for such a business in Pine City as there is no dry cleaning establishment in this part of the state and the boys should have an excellent business.

Farmer Finds Baby Boy in Barn

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Carlson, of Fish Lake township, residing seven and one half miles west of North Branch, are the proud and happy "adopted" parents of a brand new baby boy.

Ordinarily that wouldn't create much of a sensation, but here's the big "swallow." The baby declined to "adopt" them, or rather, his mother did. And he was in such a hurry to get acquainted that he didn't bother with breaking the news gently, or giving his new dad and me time to make any preparations for his coming. He just "planted" himself in the Carlson family, and his parents are so pleased with him that they have decided to keep him.

Here's how it happened. Early on the morning of December 17, Mr. Carlson got out of bed and hustled to the barn to do his morning chores. As he heard the barn he fancied he heard a peculiar sound that was different from the usual morning howling of his cows. He looked around, and right in front of the manger discovered a gurgling six-pound baby boy!

He was not more than eight hours "of age," according to the statement (Continued on Last Page)

OCEAN RESORT DESTROYED

Two to Four Million Damage Caused by Blaze in Amusement Park, Ocean Park, Calif.—Pine, said to have originated in a small fish market on the ocean front walk here virtually wiped out the entire Ocean Park amusement zone and caused damage variously estimated at from two to four million dollars. Most of the loss was sustained by the destruction of three pleasure piers. Flames threatened the whole amusement district before those in charge were able to straggling along the ocean front realized what had happened.

ASSASSIN TRIES TO KILL KEMAL

Assassin Flees After Attack—Kemal Recently Reported Suffering from Heart Disease.

Athen—Madame Mustapha Kemal, wife of the president of the Turkish Republic, was wounded by a hand grenade thrown at her husband by an unknown man, according to a dispatch from Smyrna.

Mustapha Kemal Parha, who on Oct. 29, last, became the first president of the new republic of Turkey is the man to whom Turkey owes her present position in the near east. It was because of his skill as a general that the British were obliged to abandon the Gallipoli campaign. After the war he organized the now famous nationalist army, whose activities led to the proclamation of a "holy war" against him and the dispatch of the Greek army into Turkey. After the defeat of the Greek army, Kemal established the government of Ankara. Kemal is elected to the presidency of the republic following after Turkey's remarkable diplomatic successes at the League of Nations conference. He has recently been reported as suffering from heart disease.

POINCARÉ GIVEN MAJORITY

Premier Returned to Senate With No Change in Party Control.

Paris—No party can boast of a victory in the senatorial elections, the Republican successes at the League of Nations conference, the election of M. Poincaré for the Meuse gave evidence of the high personal prestige which the premier enjoys among his countrymen.

The widely heralded "push to the left" failed to materialize. The government emerged from the elections unweakened but not strengthened. The radical Socialist gains numbered three, but the radical losses numbered two. The net results of the election gives the government 56 seats instead of 55, and the opposition 50, the latter gaining one seat. The communist party failed to elect a single senator.

Washington—President Coolidge took further steps to end the Obregon government of Mexico, signing a proclamation which imposed an immediate embargo on any shipments of arms to Mexico from any country except the United States.

The specific approval of the government of Mexico of $100,000 or two years' imprisonment, or both, may be imposed upon convicted violators of the embargo.

Two Mothers Are Drowned in Desperate Attempt to Save Their Children.

The dead, Mrs. Pearl Glade and her two small children; Mrs. Holla Glade and baby; Rudolph Wolfe, brother of Mrs. Holla Glade.

As one time all six persons were straggling in the treacherous open water. As fast as they could cling to the ice they were under their own weight. When the mothers were lost seen they still were holding the children.

The two families were going to a party across the lake and decided to make a short cut across the ice. When the ice gave way under their weight, Mrs. Wolfe was following Carl and Rudolph Wolfe were following, trailing tracks left by the wheels of the car.

Bull Dog Drummond

The story takes place in England, where one of the wisest wags, named and dealt with a dowdier, and excitement who after the thrill of a day's work, he finds himself lying around in a dimly light and going to his parties very boring and uninteresting. He puts an ad in the paper asking for employment which would give him plenty of excitement and even crime if it is of an adventurous and humorous nature. The answer which he receives to be all places in the most notable whirl of activity and excitement with more excitement than he encountered in his life. He finds the place is well and wins the love of a beautiful girl.

Westlund Monument Co.'s Grateful Acknowledgement

The monument shown above was erected by us for the State of Minnesota, at Brook Park, in honor of the victims of the Hinkley Fire. It stands 31 feet high and weighs 19 tons. All admire this monument, and think it is a large, fine monument for the price paid.

To Our Friends and Patrons:—
 As we have now closed up the past years business, we desire to express our thanks and appreciation for the liberal share of your business in our line that you have intrusted us with during the many past years.

This year we are rounding out now is our thirtieth year in the monument business at this place. The volume of our business has steadily increased all these years until now we have the largest and the best equipped retail manufacturing plant in the State. We are in position to give you the best of service at an exceptional low cost.

We have always operated our plant here every working day, winter as well as summer, and at present we have made preparations on a larger scale than ever before for a busy winter.

The past month we have received five carloads of the finest selected monumental granite that is on the market, both in Vermont and this state. In the next 30 days we will receive four more car loads. One of these carloads is of the finest imported Swedish Granite. On account of importing this in full carloads, places us in position to make the price unusually low for this superior Granite. Your memorial will look better by having a part of it in this imported granite. All of this granite will be manufactured into beautiful memorials of the best and latest designs and sold at a special low price and erected next spring.

It would be to your advantage to call on our local agent, Mr. Pifer, now, early in the winter, to look over our large line of up-to-date designs, and select your monuments. We will save you money, and besides, the work will be ready in the spring when you want it.

Compared with what our competitors are selling for and the work we furnish, we can prove to anyone interested that everything considered, our prices will average one-fifth lower in price than what they are able to sell for in this territory.

Call or write us and ask us to prove this which we are ready to do at our expense.

The Circle meets on the first Tuesday of every month and a social hour and luncheon are enjoyed after the business meeting. Anyone who is eligible to membership should join the Circle and should consider it an honor to belong.

Ed Larson had a thrilling experience while crossing the St. Croix river in his automobile last Tuesday evening after dark. He was on his way home from Grantburg and was crossing the river on the ice at the site of the Soderback ferry.

The car was travelling in ruts made by other cars and when about half way across his car suddenly dropped through the ice going down about three feet. Ed thought he was going all the way to the bottom. He opened the door of his car, which is an Oakland coupe, but the door would only open about six inches as it bumped against the ice. The only thing he could do was throw the car into low and "pull" for the shore. It was a fortunate thing for him there was a second layer of ice to hold the car up as it would have been impossible for him to escape if the car had been submerged. Water got into the motor and he had quite a time to get to Pine City.

Miss Clara Pissal returned to her teaching near Cambridge last Sunday.

George Dorr, local representative of the Neosal Farmers Mutual Fire Ins. Co. is attending a meeting of the state organization in St. Paul this week.

George Blanche went to Duluth last Tuesday morning where he was called as a juror on the Federal petit jury. He was excused by the judge and returned home on the night train.

Old man winter carried his point last Saturday morning and the following day the sun came out and the thermometer hopped up to about 20 above zero. About 7 a.m. last Saturday the thermometer registered 18 below and at ten o'clock in the morning it still stood at 10 below. Fred Wiley has roamed the streets of Pine City this winter minus a hat or cap and with no overcoat. We understand that Mr. Winter got a little peeved at this gross indifference to his cold weather.

We don't know which will win out but we envy Fred with his utter disregard of cold weather, and we bundle ourselves up and continue to go shivering and sneezing down the street. Other stars we have written of R. P. Allen, Phil Slesky and J. A. Peterson with their "hikes" in the coldest weather, for five to ten miles each day, through the snow and storm, but they were always bundled up so that no cold ever reached them. We thought they were good but Fred has gotten skinnier to a frazzle. Fred may not hike so much, but he sure ventures out in the coldest weather with little more clothing than a smile and a vest. We often wonder how he would stand the climate if he lived in the Fiji Islands or some other tropical climate down around the equator.

Delicious Fabrics in Coats and Capes

Fashion has been an engaging subject ever since the beginning of history, and will continue to be until woman ceases to play her traditional role of beauty. Pleading the arrival of the new day, observes a fashion writer in the New York Times, fashion remains of sufficient importance to enlist the talents and the enterprise of a vast and busy army of artists, artisans and mechanics. It is entertaining to watch the evolution of styles and the extremes to which the designers go. In one season the gown is of conspicuous simplicity, and when the mode proves to be popular, it lasts, with variations, that sweeps away from the arm just below the elbow. This charming garment is fastened at one side with a superb ornament of aquamarine and diamonds, with strands of crystal and blue beads forming a fringe ten inches long. A lovely shade of mauve velvet is modeled into an evening wrap having a deep plaited yoke from the bottom of which hangs a fringe of fur. The collar is high, flaring at the back and with a slight roll in the front, and is trimmed with three rows of narrow ermine. This fur also outlines the lower edge of the yoke of plait. The lining is of brocade satin in the pale blue, violet and silver, and the wrap, which is wide and full, is slipper length. Among the new models in evening wraps that come from Paris houses of authority, some are important for their artistic quality and because they establish modes that are entirely new. Fourreau Max create a cape as full, long and enveloping as a nun's. The original is of ivory Salome velvet, gathered slightly at the neck, and from which it falls in full circular form to the floor. A collar formed like a hound's hood, reversed, stands high about the neck. It is faced and trimmed with a deep head of black fox, which extends down each side of the cape, opening in front and around the bottom. The lining is rose-colored. Sleeves With Wide Flare. A prominent New York couturiere has translated this idea into a jet blue velvet with bands of chinchilla, and lined the wrap with orchid satin—a charmingly artistic combination. A long voluminous dolman of black velvet brocade from this same Paris designer has sleeves that flare to the width of almost a yard and a broad collar of black fox. The lining throughout is of ermine. Chanel has produced some very happy things in overgarments for evening, one of his models being named by its importer a "perfect creation." This is of brocade, a weave of metal and silk containing gold, silver, flame and orange in manner indescribably lovely. The lining is of curly velvet and the collar and the deep cuffs are of natural lynx. Another of Chanel's ideas is worked out in black velvet, a deep cape slashed at the sides and made slipper length, a voluminous cow-shaped collar, lining and hand all about the edges emphasizing the popularity of black-and-white combinations. Decolleté trends in the metal brocades, which he employs in some superb wraps. One that is long and clinging is Chinese in feeling, green, scarlet and gold, with a lining of scarlet velvet, and broad bands of black fox forming the collar and hem trimming. Drecolet's most emphatic novelty is made in three-quarter length, dolman in shape, lined and trimmed with silky black fox. Cheruit, too, is fond of the brilliant metallic brocades, and has explained a charming conservative model of rose and silver in large floral design, with a lining of white velvet and a collar of black fox that is both deep and wide. Negliges in Dainty Colors. In response to the present-day demand for clothes of delicate and luxurious character, a prominent importer offers some negliges of satin and silk. For midwinter evening wear and for daytime formal occasions fur wraps are exceedingly popular, so they are very choice—sable or ermine or chinchilla, with a decided preference for chinchilla, the price of which has soared to dizzy heights. But for the most elaborate gowns one must have a covering made of one of the new materials, in light or bright coloration, and in these the designers have created some models of great beauty. Delman Kish in Evidence. An exclusive New York house has presented some melting creations emanating from the ateliers of Paris, in which artists have been inspired by the many altering colors found in the materials. Some of the combinations are a joy to see and to wear. In a fur collar such as was quite the thing but a little while ago, the utility wrap of the season, the sort that serves for morning or outing. For a gown of dazzling metal brocade or shimmering silk, with girdles and even shoes jewel-studded, and accessories for toilet of an elegance, the wrap must be of brocade of equal richness, with lining and trimming to harmonize. Wives who struggle to keep up appearances usually have husbands who struggle to keep down expenses. To consider how one can get most from the world is to regard life as a game. At twenty-five, before a young man has been able to make very much money, he wants to save the world. A woman's mission on earth is to convince some man that he ought to get married.

Luette Is Star Bowler

Luette is a star bowler. She has won several titles and is considered one of the best bowlers in the country.

FAST ELEVEN TO BE FOUND IN BASEBALL

Easy Matter for Experts to Pick Star Aggregation.

Speaking about All-American football teams, it would be an easy matter for the experts to pick such an aggregation from the ball players who hold forth in the American league. Dick Teich, now playing the outfield for the Boston Americans, was a star and at the University of Illinois. The New York Yankees have three renowned catchers on the roster, Mike Gaezza, who plays shortstop, was a star halfback at Lafayette, Outfielder Hinkle Haines was a sensation on the gridiron with Penn State. Outfielder Hendricks is a former Vanderbilt star. Elmer Stephenson, who second base for Cleveland, was a star halfback at University of Alabama, one of the greatest players the south has ever turned out. Shortstop Gannon of Washington and Outfielder Bill Barrett of the White Sox starred in football at Holy Cross. The White Sox have in Pitcher Oster one of the greatest backs ever produced in the West. He starred at Notre Dame and won much praise from Coach Knicker. First Baseman Len Gehrig of the Yankees was a featured player at Columbia and Bob Knicker of the Cleveland Indians played at Michigan. Experts who are really looking for an All-American football team can recruit it from Ban Johnson's league.

Ruel Best Catcher

Ruel is the best catcher in the American league. He has won several titles and is considered one of the best catchers in the league.

Iowa Star Is Winner

Harold R. Phelps, University of Iowa cross country star, won the individual championship of the western conference at Columbus, O. His time was 23 minutes and 30 seconds and he will try out for the American Olympic team next spring in either the 5,000-meter run or the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

New York Furnishes Six Captains for Princeton

A study of the geographical distribution of the homes of captains of Princeton university's athletic teams brings to light the unusual fact that no less than six of the captains come from New York city, or from towns near New York. Two of these men are captains of major sport teams. J. T. Pirie, D. I., captain of this year's crew, comes from New York city, as does Harvey Emery, captain of the track team. Besides being captain of the track team, Emery is captain of the wrestling team, president of the senior class and president of the Varsity club, and is holding down a regular position as tackle on the orange and black football team. Carl Moser, captain of swimming and national intercollegiate diving champion, is also from New York city. John Klasse, basketball captain, and Kenneth Pittman, captain of lacrosse, are from Rockville Centre, L. I., and Scarsdale, N. Y., respectively. Princeton's crick polo team is captained by William Jackson of Hempstead, L. I.

Joe Dugan Is Hailed as Greatest Third Baseman

Joe Dugan, by his great work for the Yankees last season, and his showing in the world series, just about earned the right to be classed as the greatest third baseman in the game. National leaguers say that "Big" Traynor of Pittsburgh is his only rival.

Wins "Carrier" Title

Fred Wachenath of the Glencoe A. C. won the Junior national cross-country championship races of the A. A. U. at Fairmount park, near Philadelphia.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Baseball season is too long, the football season too short. Now and then, in a football game, the ball gets some pretty rough handling next to the referee. Edwin Weir has been elected to captain the 1924 University of Nebraska football team to succeed Barff Davis. Lawn tennis, horse riding, polo, football, golf, hockey, yachting, fencing and rowing are the popular sports in Spain. The millionaires must be close—how true it is to have got the best of a baseball game with New York. Polo, the golf, is another game in which youth does not rule. Some of the greatest polo scores are past ages. Leonard Parlin, quarterback, has been elected captain of the 1924 football team. Parlin's home is in Waterloo, Ia. According to records, most of the greatest baseball players in the major leagues have been developed on college grounds or town lots with no professional experience. Tennis teams from Harvard, Princeton, Yale and other American colleges are a series of matches with Oxford, Cambridge and various British tennis clubs. The average freshman student at the University of Pennsylvania weighs 145 pounds more than he did before the year. This all that is necessary to produce better football material is to have another year. Another year before the Olympic games will be held in London.
